

WOMEN

"CO-OPERATION"

The greatest step forward that has yet been made in securing co-operation between the town and campus girls of Penn State was the passing of the amendment to the W. S. G. A. constitution providing for a Town Girls' senator.

The town girls will vote for their first senator at their annual election on June first, second and third. Before then they should consider most carefully to whom they want to give this new honor and responsibility.

According to the constitution of their organization, the senator must be elected from the junior class, so that she will be a Senator during her term of office. Aside from the constitutional requirements, the girls should choose one who has the interest of the town girls at heart, who is willing to give her time and energy to furthering their interests, who has a knowledge of their needs and an understanding of the situation, and has proved this.

This newly acquired privilege of representation in the Senate gives a real opportunity for the town and campus girls to begin co-operating with each other. In the past this has been lacking. It has been as much the fault of one as the other. Here is the town girls chance to prove their willingness to go half way, as the campus girls did in supporting the amendment, to promote a spirit of good feeling among all women students at Penn State by coming out one one hundred per cent strong to vote.

Council Sets Freshman Move-up for Saturday

Student Board meeting on Sunday afternoon was unanimous on the following resolutions:

Whereas the present situation in regard to class regulations has proved itself worthy of great consideration because of its need and unchangeable nature.

Whereas the penalties for the same are inflicted on the freshman class rather than on the sophomores equally as much.

Whereas the students meet the co-operation of the juniors in the meetings and deliberations of the Student Council.

Whereas the Junior members of Student Council were asked to withhold any petitions they might wish to present to Student Council in the beginning of the present college year.

Student Board recommends that Student Council pass the following resolutions in regard to class regulations:

It is resolved that this year the sophomore, as a penalty for not turning out for the two o'clock on Move-up Day be required to wear hats for the remainder of the year, but that they be given the privileges, as juniors or seniors, to wear without hats. This is to provide the two upper classes with a non-ant rule.

It is resolved that on Move-up Day the sophomores, should they win the two-o'clock war, be permitted to go without hats for the remainder of the year and observe all Junior regulations, and that the freshman class be permitted to choose its own class colors shortly after election of officers.

The regulations compelling juniors to wear hats has been under consideration by Student Board for some time, and Student Board feels that this is the proper moment at which to make and enforce these regulations. However, since this matter has not been brought up by other members of the Student Council, Student Board feels the need to initiate this legislation.

Also Whereas the penalty inflicted on the freshman class because of the recent and not traditional violation, parade and sleep was quite heavy, the Student Board recommends the following resolutions:

It is resolved that at noon of Saturday, May twenty-first, without ceremony of any sort, freshmen be permitted to don sophomore dress costumes.

To the latter resolution Student Council added the following provision: The freshman class resolves that it will do all in its power for the rest of its college career at Penn State, to prohibit a recurrence of such an affair as that of last Friday night.

New Fad Takes Co-eds By Storm

With the extension of the lion jacket custom to the senior girls, the co-eds bid fair to become the most ardent autograph collectors on the Penn State campus. At the approximate rate of ten a minute this scene is enacted as senior approaches a victim, fountain pen extended omnisciently, and says, "Will you sign my lion coat, please?" Then she turns her back and the chosen one patiently inscribes her "John Hancock" on some portion of the expanse of white duck which surrounds the blue lion.

Never before have the girls been able to indulge in the fascinating pastime of collecting autographs in just this form, for until this year they have shown their seniority by carrying canes, and who could collect autographs on a wooden cane unless she provided a jack-knife, and this would take both time and skill as a wood-carver on the part of the signers.

Years from now these autographs will be appreciated more than they are now, for they will be poignant reminders of the last days spent at Penn State.

his specialty in the time of 50 4-5 seconds, while Denton, his teammate was two yards behind.

In the mile, Rupert and Christopher will run for the New Yorkers against Bill Cox, Captain Stewart and Heffrich while Loucks, stellar Syracuse distance man, will enter the two-mile run against Fouracre, Reis and Haskins.

Proudlock, captain of the invading Orangemen, is expected to furnish Offenhausser and Smith with plenty of stiff opposition in the half-mile for the Syracuse leader has been consistently clocked in 1:58.

In the weight events, Syracuse is not exceptionally strong in any particular branch but the only thing that the Lions are sure of is the hammer throw in which Marian Ide will represent Penn State.

The first event is scheduled to start at two o'clock.

MARION FRAIN '27 WILL BE QUEEN OF MAY DAY

Annual Festivities Will Be On Front Campus For First Time This Year

For the first time in the history of Penn State College, May Day festivities will be held on Front campus, or the evening of May twenty-eighth. The procession will start at the front entrance to Old Main. After the crowning of the queen, the May Pole dance will be given before the throne of her majesty. Following the recessional, ending at the open air theatre, a program will be given in honor of the queen.

After the reading of the program, a small group from the glee club will sing several old English songs. A one-act play called "Maid of the Moon" will be enacted. Solo and group dancing will conclude the program.

The affair is under the direction of Miss E. O. Whitman '28. Her assistants are Misses M. L. Girvan and D. E. Callaway '29, while Miss Marie Haide is dancing instructor.

Miss Marion Frain '27 has been elected May Queen, with Miss A. P. Meyers '30, as her attendant. The queen's party will include: Misses J. H. Schantz and L. F. Baker '27, S. L. Gray and E. T. Hazel '28; C. P. Huddall and K. M. Berakus '29; A. E. Gillouli and M. R. Madigan '30.

Six Plebes Get Late Move-up Celebration

Thomas Zevy denied his intimate chum over the fact that he showed such a liking for the captain and his mate that he was admitted to the honored hall-dozers. Of all the Scianton delegates, Clarence Thomas alone showed such a dislike to athletic events, although he went to mass meetings because they seemed to suit his fancy that he desired to make a fellow member of the campus in such a manner that he would need the attention of a physician.

But the move goes to Maurice Devouons. He who had tried so hard to get the freshmen out of their extra custom's was contented to spend an extra special evening with plebe adjustment.

Julia Claussen, Metropolitan Opera Star, who protects her voice, writes:

"When I decided to smoke cigarettes, I looked about to see which brand was in favor with the most men. The answer was easy to find. I noticed that practically all the men at the opera were smoking Lucky Strikes. I learned from them that this cigarette, delightful in flavor, left their voices in splendid shape for their singing. So I tried Lucky Strikes and knew that the men were correct in their judgment. I am enthusiastic about their flavor and the fact that they do not affect my voice."
Julia Claussen

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.
