

WOMEN

That old saying "There's nothing new under the sun," seems doubly true when you try to welcome people to anything.

You always tell them how delighted you are that they are able to be with you. You always tell them that you hope they will like the place. You always tell them to make themselves at home, and so on. Everyone knows the time-worn formulas.

But like "Merry Christmas" there seems to be no other way of saying so well just what you want to say.

So in the old way we welcome you now girls, and tell you the old old story. Make yourselves at home. We are glad to see you.

Don't be afraid of the Sophomores. They're really not as ferocious as they are painted, and as long as you keep within the bounds of the few rules it is their duty to enforce, they won't bother you. But if you break the rules, beware!

Don't be afraid of the Juniors. They are your Big Sisters, and their job is to help you, and to do all they can to get you adjusted to the life here. They are willing and waiting to go more than half way in the matter, but unless you do your part, they will fail.

Don't be afraid of the Seniors. They may have been painted to you as dignified and awe-inspiring, but they are really very human, and willing to be friends with you and to help you all they can.

And so, we welcome you to our midst—to our good times, which are many to our activities, which are varied enough to include everyone, to all the other phases of our life here, whether you live on campus or in town.

We hope you'll grow to like the place which is to be your winter home for four years as much as do the rest of us who are coming back for our second, third, or fourth years.

Girls' Debating Team Enters Second Season

Professor J. H. Fizzell, coach of the girls' debating squad, states that although there have been no definite arrangements made yet, he sees the prospects for a good team this year after the fine start that was made last year.

Around the nucleus of seven or eight girls who debated last year, Professor Fizzell looks forward to building an even better team. It is hoped that debates can be arranged with the girls of Syracuse, Pitt, Hood, and possibly Bucknell, Waynesburg, and Cedar Crest, although the last two are doubtful.

to buy—not to exceed three thousand dollars—athletic equipment and to employ additional instructors in order that opportunity might be offered a larger number of students to take part in sports training under proper tutelage. These actions, both considered progressive, have been the subject of wide favorable editorial comment in leading newspapers of the East.

Alert Reporter Entangles Self In Co-ed Chatter

The time, any hour of the day or evening, any day now.

The place: Mac Hall, or Women's Building, or any place that girls meet—perhaps even Co-op Corner.

The characters: Two girls, arriving or just arrived, meeting each other for the first time. Snatches of their conversation are audible.

Now go on with the story.

"Why hello, my dear! (Smack) When did you get back? I came yesterday. Did you have a good time? I had a gorgeous one. Where were you? I was up in New England. Met a darling man. Best looking I've seen in ages. And dance—it was divine."

"See my tan? I got that swimming. They had the nicest life guard where I was. I was tempted to try drowning just so he could save me."

"How much did you gain? I put on ten pounds, and now I'll have to reduce. All my clothes are too tight."

"Speaking of clothes, you should see the bargains I got in the city. A five dollar hat for four ninety-eight. And dresses—I got two for next to nothing."

"Where are you living this year? Second center, Mac Hall? I'm on third center. I'll come down and see you as soon as I get unpacked."

"Oh say! I must tell you about the thrilling time I had. You see it was this way—"

But the actors have moved out of being, and the thrilling tale is lost. Never mind. There will be more just like it sooner or later, for this is but two of the five hundred girls meeting and all the meetings are just like this one.

Open New Dormitory For Freshman Co-eds

The beginning of this college year is marked by the opening of a new girls' dormitory in the building which was formerly the location of the Penn State hotel.

The house will accommodate twenty girls and it will be reserved almost exclusively for freshmen. This year it will be occupied by seventeen freshmen, two juniors, acting as supervisors, and a chaperone from the faculty.

out, many have arrived in State College. Several of the candidates were stars in their respective firmaments although whether they will shine in this atmosphere is yet to be seen.

Harry Gelsler acquired note in Pittsburgh circles with his open-field running and passing for the Crafton high school team of which he was captain. He was a three-sport man.

Another three-letter man who will enter with the Class of 1931 is Jake Vchar from Imperial high near Pittsburgh. He was the fullback and captain of his team last year. Both men weigh over a hundred and seventy-five pounds. Fuhrman, who was named center of the New Jersey all-state second team, will appear in uniform Friday. Hellner, Steleton basketball and football man; Bill Hensel, a back from Rutherford, New Jersey; and George Collins from Deane Academy, Massachusetts, are also numbered among the candidates.

Overholts and Kern Make Study of Fungi

After studying the fine collection in the herbarium at Albany, New York, and the New York botanical gardens, R. O. Overholtz, of the botany department, returned to State College.

Mr. Overholtz is especially interested in the classification of fungi and is preparing several papers concerning this subject.

Dr. F. D. Kern, also of the botany department, has been studying the collection of the South American fungi in the herbarium at Washington, D. C.

A feather-weight touch is all this pen requires— Stop Pressing!

And own a Pen that stays in Perfect Trim, or we Make Good Free*

The new model Parker Duofold introduces pressureless writing—and stays in perfect order. We agree your first cost shall be your last.

No hand can distort its point—yet it yields to any style of writing.

We spent 35 years on 47 major improvements. Made sixteen million Pens. Own 32 patents on Pens and 12 on Pencils and Desk Sets.

We discovered how to combine capillary attraction with gravity feed. Thus a feather-weight touch starts ink-flow; the light balanced weight of the Pen is almost enough to keep it writing.

Barrels are now of Parker Permalite—Non-Breakable—28% lighter than rubber formerly used. They come in jewel-like colors—Jade, Lacquer-red, flashing Black, Mandarin Yellow and Lapis Lazuli Blue—all black-tipped.

People are thronging the pen counters to sample this pressureless writing. Only one caution: look for the imprint, "Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD."
