

Governor Fisher Pays College Critical Visit

Recalling his first visit to Penn State in 1903, Governor Fisher stressed the growth of the College since that time when there were some three hundred students in attendance. He emphasized the increase in enrollment which has come with the passing years and expressed his conviction that its future held even greater educational service.

The Governor then assured his audience that the Legislature stands firmly behind the State college. "We are with you heart and soul down at Harrisburg," he said. He expressed his hope that in a measure greater than ever before the Commonwealth will in the future foster the growth of its educational institution.

Addressed after his talk the Governor said, "I have thoroughly enjoyed my visit and I know that this is going to be a great year for you here." He again affirmed the facts he stated in his talk to the student body.

In scrimmage, however, and in chasing the pigskin down the field after a kick, several of the football men are succeeding in gaining the obvious object. Hensle, Gordon and Dietrich are outstanding in regard to this pursuit.

Bez Looks Them Over

Taking a recess from his own practices, Bez has a habit of strolling over near the vealing squad and taking a hand in the proceedings.

With advice to first one man and then another he directs the line in proper defense and attack positions and the backfield how to maneuver their interference to best advantage.

Bez likes to keep an eye on the boys who will be working under him in the future.

turned, there are several varsity men from last year and half a score of sophomores providing competition.

Captain Cherry showed up well in the scrimmage, booting the ball for distance and accuracy. Marshall, Repino and Giffen displayed an encouraging bit of speed and skill on the forward line. Strimian seems in excellent condition.

Horne, Semisch are Gollies

Horne and Semisch guarded opposite goals during the scrimmage and each seems equally anxious to fill the rear defense berth in the Nittany aggregation.

Dr. Hetzel Expresses Confidence in College

ton Mitchell, who presided over the assemblage, gave a short talk and introduced the President.

Doctor Hetzel presented to the students and faculty members in attendance a comprehensive outline of the existing conditions at the College, both physical and mental. He gave a brief resume of the achievements of the past several months, the projects on hand at present and the plans and opportunities of the future.

Particularly touched upon by the President were the various items of the building program, the discontinuance of daily chapel and the abolishment of athletic scholarships, all aiming towards a greater Penn State. He stressed the fact that constructive policy has been followed throughout.

In discussing the personnel of the institution, the President emphasized the careful selection of members of the freshman class.

A vital chord was struck when the President said that he intended to convene with student representatives, obviously with the intention of studying student customs and of trying them on their merits.

Doctor Hetzel impressed upon the minds of the students present the obligation to the State and Nation. He took a stand squarely in support of College rules and standards.

Following the President's address the assemblage sang several songs and was dismissed by the recessional.

is a grand little pal

PRINCE ALBERT is the kind of a smoke you get clubby with, right off the bat. You'll be calling each other by your first names after the very first pipe-load. It is so genuinely friendly, in spirit and in fact.

P. A. treats your tongue and throat as gently as a mother handles a new-born baby. Never a bite. Never a parch. These are details, of course. The thing you'll remember longest is that wonderful taste! So cool, so sweet, so soothing.

No matter how hard you hit it up, this long-burning tobacco never hits back. You can go to it before classes, and right through to Lights Out. Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. The School of Experience has never produced a greater smoke than good old P. A.

P. A. is sold everywhere in half pound tins, humidor, and pound crystal-glass humidor with spoon-inserter top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Bands of Color mean something

The color band on the holder of a Waterman's No. 7 indicates at a glance the character of the pen point.

Red—STANDARD—Suits most writers. A splendid correspondence point. Medium flexibility. For home and general use.

Green—RIGID—Tempered to armor plate hardness. Will not shade even under heavy pressure. Unequaled for manifolding. The salesman's friend.

Purple—STIFF, FINE—Writes without pressure. Makes a thin, clear line and small figures with unusual accuracy. Popular with accountants.

Pink—FLEXIBLE, FINE—As resilient as a watch-spring. Fine, tapered point; ground fine to shade at any angle. Loved by stenographers.

Blue—BLUNT—An improved stub point. This point makes a broad line. May be held in any position. Liked by rapid writers.

Yellow—ROUNDED—A different pen point. The tip is ball shape. Makes a heavy, characteristic line without pressure. Suits left-handed writers.

When you buy your supplies, ask your dealer to show you Waterman's No. 7. Try all six pen points and select the one that perfectly suits your style of writing.
