SEVENTH ANNUAL DADS' DAY BEGINS WITH GIANT MASS GATHERING FRIDAY

Organization Will Hold Business Meeting Saturday Morning To Receive Report of President Hewitt

HETZEL MEETS ASSEMBLY

Mothers of Students Will Be Guests of Girls Saturday Afternoon—Bulletin Is Sent to Homes

With a two-day program organized, the seventh annual Dads' Day festivities will begin Friday night with a giant mass meeting in the Auditorium.

At this gathering E. E. Hewitt, president of the Association of Parents, will welcome the assembled fathers of Penn State students. Several student and faculty representatives will also speak.

Parents Bulletin Mailed

Convening at ten o'clock Saturday morning the Association, which was organized six years ago, will hold its annual business meeting. The session will open with the report of the president, Mr. Hewitt, after which President Ralph Dean Hetzel will make an address, marking his first appearance before a Fathers' Day assemblage here.

Dean Sackett Speaks

Providing a short program, several of the College musical organizations will then appear before the assemblage for a few minutes. Dean R. L. Sackett, of the School of Engineering, chairman of the faculty senate committee of the Athletic Board of Control, will talk to the dads concerning "Athletics for All." Closing with a business discussion on the group will (Continued on last page)

PENN STATE PROFESSORS GIVE EXTENSION QUIZZES

Arrange Apprentice Wage Scale For Nat'l Tube Company In Elwood City

INSTRUCTOR RETURNS FROM STUDIES ABROAD

After intense preparations of plans for an apprentice training system to meet the needs of the National Tube Company, Prof. J. O. Keller and Mr. H. G. Pyle, of the department of engineering extension, went to Elwood City last week and spent several days there in giving entrance examinations to apprentices, selecting experienced teachers to take charge of the various classes and in planning for the opening of the classes, September nineteenth.

New Wage Scale

R. G. Forbes, working with others of the management, has made a new wage scale for the apprentices, so that the salary depends on the progress and the grades of the individual. The grade of each apprentice is considered, the class work grade given by the engineering extension department, counting one-third, and the grade awarded by the foremen on the efficiency of the student counting two-thirds.

Courses have been outlined for machinist apprentices, electrical apprentices, pipe-fitters, carpenters, bricklayers, and tinsmith apprentices. These curricula are planned so that they will continue for a period of four years, although students with exceptional ability will be given the opportunity of completing the course in three or three and a half years.

DEPARTMENT OF FARM MACHINERY DEVELOPS NEW GRAIN THRESHER

During the past summer, the department of farm machinery conducted experiments with a new type of machine for harvesting grain. As a result of these experiments a machine called a "combine" was developed. This combine was used in the harvesting and threshing of sixty acres of wheat and oats.

The news of this new machine was spread throughout the state and at present quite a number are being used by the farmers throughout the state.

PLAYERS ENGAGE STOCK SHOW FOR OCTOBER EIGHTH

Hanes and Allais Company Will Stage C. R. Kennedy's "The Servant in the House"

SELECT "THE ENEMY" AS FIRST LOCAL PRODUCTION

Organization To Hold Tryouts Next Week for Cast of Pollock's Drama

"Servant in the house" staged by Hanes-Allais professional stock company, and booked by the Penn State Players for October eighth at eight-fifteen o'clock will be the initial dramatic offering of the season.

This is the first time that a professional company has come here under the auspices of the Players and marks a diversion from the usual routine of the organization.

The play was written by Charles Rann Kennedy who with his wife Edith Wynne Mattheman took the leading roles in the premier showing in Chicago (Continued on last page)

POULTRY CLUB PREPARES FOR ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Purposes To Stimulate Better Breeding of Fowls in Pennsylvania

Purposing the stimulation of the growing of higher producing birds of better breeding, the fifth annual Pennsylvania State Standard Production Poultry Show, sponsored by the Penn State Poultry Club, will be held here from October twenty-seventh to twenty-ninth inclusive.

At the same time the Pennsylvania State Poultry association and the Pennsylvania State Poultry association will hold their meetings here. The show is the only state wide exhibit that lays stress on the standard and production qualities of poultry.

At present there have been entered about a thousand birds, a great increase over last year's entries. Several of last year's exhibitors displayed their fowls at the Sesqui-Centennial and the New York State Fair, only to find that the competition had been greater at State College.

The show affords poultry breeders the opportunity of comparing birds and exchanging ideas with other poultrymen to the advantage of all concerned. L. M. Black, poultry specialist from the New Jersey experiment station and a recognized authority on birds, will judge the exhibits.

Lockwood '29, Reports On Sale of "Y" Tickets

Ticket sales for the "Y" Entertainment Course are passing all expectations, reports E. J. Lockwood '29, chairman of the committee in charge. Providing a program of eight varied and interesting attractions, spread over the winter months, this course is one of the highest quality obtainable.

Seat checks will be issued at the Hut in about a week's time upon presentation of the ticket vouchers. A diagram showing seat and price arrangement has been posted in the window of the Athletic Store.

1929 Yearbook To Use Age of Chivalry Motif

Selection of the age of chivalry in its relationship to the Penn State code as the main theme of this year's La Vie, junior class publication, has been announced by Editor-in-Chief J. W. Brandt.

ROTARIANS MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

Clubmen Plan To Inspect Life And Activities of Land Grant College

Delegates To Attend Luncheon on Saturday

Favorable responses to the official invitations sent to the one hundred and fifty Rotary Clubs throughout the State last week by the Rotary Pilgrimage committee are indicative of an influx of more than one thousand members to the convention here on October seventh and eighth, according to E. K. Hibbsman, secretary of the committee.

Outlining the advantages of the gathering here Mr. Hibbsman cited the leading business and professional men of the State comprise the membership of the organization, thus adding significance to the occasion.

Interest in College
The primary purpose of the convention will be to examine the leaders of the State with Pennsylvania's land-grant college and give friends and supporters of the college a more intimate knowledge of student activity and progress," the secretary stated. "This is particularly true in the case of the fraternities who will house the visiting delegates," he added. (Continued on last page)

Axton Emphasizes Love as Essential To Christian Faith

Stressing spiritual and human love as the most essential force of Christianity, Colonel John T. Axton, chief of chaplains of the United States Army, delivered the chapel address Sunday morning in the Auditorium.

"Love the Lord thy God with all thy soul, with all thy heart, with all thy might, and with all thy strength," was the biblical theme of Colonel Axton's address. "It is most necessary that the younger generation today be taught that commandment," he declared, "for it is that generation which is assuming social leadership."

The speaker cited many actual instances where love, either of God or of fellow man, proved a triumphant foe of disaster and sorrow. He closed with the statement that not creed and not church denomination, but a deep abiding love of God makes a man a Christian.

Penn State Club Has Organization Meeting And Announces Plans

Meeting for the first time this semester the Penn State Club elected two temporary secretaries last week. W. H. Royce '28 and C. W. Garrett, '28 were elected temporary social secretary to the post of W. I. Fielder '28. A tentative program for the year was announced as follows: Freshman Smoker, October first; Freshman Dinner, October twenty-first; Holloway's Dance, October twenty-eighth; dancing classes, month of December; basketball tournament, January and February; Town Girls' social, March; baseball tournament, May; May Hop, May twenty-sixth.

All non-fraternity men are invited to attend the Club's meetings. It was announced that dates of all meetings would be announced in the COLLEGIAN and would be posted on the campus bulletin boards.

Dr. Hetzel To Speak Before Upperclassmen

There will be a combined meeting of juniors and seniors at eight o'clock tomorrow night in the Ball Pen. President Hetzel will speak.

NOLL AND BENTLEY FILL AGRICULTURE SCHOOL VACANCIES

Professor Bentley Advances To Occupy Post of Animal Husbandry Head

BOTH APPOINTEES HAVE OUTSTANDING RECORDS

Doctor C. F. Noll, Breeder of Wheat Variety, Will Be Farm Supervisor

Two major appointments to vacancies in the School of Agriculture were announced last week by President R. D. Hetzel. Prof. F. L. Bentley is the new head of the department of animal husbandry, and Dr. C. F. Noll, who developed the famous Pennsylvania 41 wheat, becomes superintendent of the College farms.

Professor Bentley was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1913. In September, 1916, he came to Penn State as instructor in animal husbandry his special subject being beef cattle. He earned his master's degree in 1918. Two years ago he became acting head of the department when Professor W. H. Tomhave went to the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association as national secretary.

Under Professor Bentley's supervision new honors have been added to the existing fame of the department. Only last week the livestock judging team coached by Professor Bentley scored an outstanding triumph over other college teams at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass. COX SCORES FIRST IN HARRIER TRIALS

Fifteen Freshmen Cross Country Candidates Also Work Out In Saturday's Run

LEE EXTENDS HILL AND DALE CAPTAIN IN RACE

Led by Captain Bill Cox, the Nitany squad of cross country men held their first official harrier trial Saturday afternoon after the football game with Lebanon Valley.

Approximately fifteen candidates for the freshman hill and dale group ran over the short course immediately preceding the varsity aspirants who ran a five-mile grind.

Getting off with a flashing start, Bill took the first turn on the track twenty yards ahead of the nearest man and gained steadily during the running of the preliminary two laps in the quarter-mile New Beaver cinder path.

Lee Dogs Bill
At the finish of the grind Bill headed his first follower by only twelve seconds. Louis Lee, pushing the leader harder than usual, took second place with thirty-two seconds advantage over number three, who was Ritchie.

Pettit, Kittle and Offenhauser followed in rapid order with Offenhauser showing a return to his former speed. Haskins trailed George by an ability and form by a sustained final scant four seconds.

"Y" Delegates Will Meet Here Next Week For Annual Convention

Representatives of the Middle Atlantic Field Council of the Y. M. C. A. will convene here next week-end for their annual meeting.

This council of the student department of the "Y" will meet in joint session with the Eaglesmere council of the Y. W. C. A. Delegates will be present from five of the Middle Atlantic States. W. E. Kiall '17, and Miss Gladys Taylor, executive secretary of the area, will be in charge of the meetings which will be held from Friday evening to Sunday afternoon.

All work for this area, including the appointment of a committee for the Eaglesmere Conference of 1928, will be handled by this group. The local representatives are H. L. Kinsal '28, vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. and Helen George '28, president of the Y. W. C. A.

BRITISH DEBATERS TO APPEAR HERE

Cambridge University Will Meet Penn State Spokesmen On November Eleventh

ORATORS TO DELIBERATE VALUE OF CO-EDUCATION

International debating will make its debut here, November eleventh when the varsity debating squad will meet the British National Students' Union team, from Cambridge University, on the subject "Co-education is a failure," with the Cambridge team taking the negative side.

Last year a debate would have been scheduled with the University of Oxford, had not the English team wished to be home for the Christmas holidays. Although Oxford is not sending a team to America this year, the Cambridge squad, which will make a tour of the western universities, is considered equally as good.

British debating style is far different from the American style, being less formal and more discursive. It usually provides plenty of opportunity for fun. In the typical English debate, the students gather in the union hall shortly after supper. The chairman announces the topic for discussion and the house is divided into two sections, negative and affirmative, which sit on opposite sides of the room. Then the discussion begins, each debater being permitted to speak (Continued on last page)

RESIDENCE ENROLLMENT TOTALS FOUR THOUSAND

Engineering School Leads With Twelve Hundred—Liberal Arts Overcrowded

A total residence enrollment for the year exceeding four thousand is the prediction of W. S. Hoffman, College Registrar. This number will exceed the record enrollment of last year by nearly one hundred, and will include all four-year, graduate, special, and resident short course students.

Five of the six schools in the College this fall have the largest enrollment in their history, the exception being the School of Liberal Arts where a cut in the number of freshmen admitted was necessary because of the lack of classroom facilities.

The School of Engineering, with nearly twelve hundred students, continues to lead all others, and the School of Chemistry and Physics has a capacity enrollment.

The recent Summer Session, with a registration of more than twenty-seven hundred students, was the largest ever held at Penn State, and the entire year 1927-28 has even indication of being a record one in research instruction and extension.

Dean Watts To Talk At Grangers Meeting

Motion pictures, talks and pep songs will provide the program for a meeting of the Penn State Grange tonight at seven o'clock in room one hundred, Horticulture Building. Dean R. L. Watts and Prof. H. G. Parkinson, both of the School of Agriculture, will be among the speakers.

Motion pictures shown by Prof. W. A. Boyles of the department of agricultural education, will portray the history of fashion. Organization and plans for the coming year will be outlined by W. C. Gumbel '27, local master, whose main topic will concern the inter-collegiate Grange contest, starting this fall, in which the Penn State chapter and the Ohio State Grange will be in rivalry.

COLLEGE SENATE ELECTS FACULTY SPORTS BOARD

Dean Sackett, of the School of Engineering, was appointed chairman of the faculty board of athletic control at the meeting of the College Senate, September fifteenth. The appointments of Prof. R. A. Dutcher, of the agricultural chemistry department, Prof. F. W. Owens, head of mathematics, and A. R. Warnock, dean of men to the board, were approved.
