COMMITTEE TO CONDUCT CUSTOMS INVESTIGATION

The appointment of a committee to discuss customs, the approving of a tentative schedule for the four all-College dances, and the passing of a resolution to petition the Council of Administration for a holiday on Saturday October fifteenth were the principle business affairs transacted by the Student Council when it convened Tuesday evening.

President R. D. Hetzel spoke to the group about the work of a student government group. He also invited the Council to a smoker to be held at his home in the near future.

The committee to discuss customs consists of J. C. Belfield '28, chairman, Wheeler Lord Jr. '28, G. H. Bruce '28, Harold Dangerfield '28, W. J. Gorman '28, W. A. Stone '30, and W. S. Liggett '28.

REV. KISTLER ADDRESSES CHAPEL FOR SIXTH TIME

Prominent Pastor Selects For Topic Conflict Between
Science, Religion

The Reverend Raymon M. Kistler pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Warren, Pennsylvania, will address a Penn State audience for the sixth time at Chapel service in the Auditorium on Sunday morning.

For the past five years Reverend Kistler has occupied the pulpit of the Warren church. The membership of the church now numbers more than 1400 people, with annual contributions amounting to one hundred thousand dollars.

Speaker's Sixth Address
In his letter of acceptance to the invitation of the College to speak here Reverend Kistler said, "I am rather proud of the fact that this will be my sixth message to the students."

Previous to the acceptance of his present position, Reverend Kistler presided over two churches in Pittsburgh. He is a graduate of Westminster college and the Pittsburgh Theological seminary. He traveled abroad for one year.

Collegian Candidates To Report October 19

All freshmen who wish to try out for the editorial staff of the COLLEGIAN will report to room 25 Liberal Arts Wednesday night, October nineteenth.

DICKINSON OPENS PLEBE GRID YEAR HERE TOMORROW

Hermann Picks Fast, Aggressive

WILLIAMSPORT TEAM

Collins, Geisler, Diedrich and
Reynolds Compose Lion
Cub Backfield

Trained by battles with the varsity, the Penn State freshmen are primed for their premier fracas of the year tomorrow with Dickinson seminary at one o'clock on New Beaver practice field.

Using a fast, aggressive line and a faster backfield, the plebe coaches look for a capable and efficient demonstration of football from the Lion cubs.

With Edwards and Read playing the ends for the 1931 team, Beig and Shawley at the tackle posts, Tommy Gordon and Zorilla in the guard positions and Santanello passing the ball, Coach Dutch Hermann has arrived at his most effective line combination of the year.

Spike Collins will take the fullback duties with Harry Geisler and Diedrich filling the (Continued on last page)

FRIZZELL EXPLAINS DEBATING PROGRAM

Varied Schedule Promises Year
Outstanding In History
Of Deliberation

SIXTY-ONE CANDIDATES
SEEK POSTS ON TEAM

Debating opened formally with the meeting on Wednesday, in Old Chapel when Coach J. H. Frizzell discussed the plans for the coming season and called on several members of last year's squad to speak to the large number of new candidates present.

Coach Frizzell outlined the policy maintained by the debating organization, that of keeping the squad as large as possible and giving as large a number as possible a chance to participate in the debates of the year.

Varied Schedule Arranged
A varied schedule has been arranged which promises to make this year outstanding in the history of debating. (Continued on last page)

Dr. A. J. Klein Makes Preliminary Inspection Survey of Penn State

Working in conjunction with President R. D. Hetzel, Dr. A. J. Klein, chief of the Education Division of the United States Department of the Interior, is making an inspection of Penn State as part of his nation-wide survey of land-grant institutions.

This work is but preliminary to the survey proper which will begin in about three months. All of the various offices and departments have been or will be visited and a general inspection will be made in order to discover what must be done later.

Stock Group Presents Kennedy
Show Before Rotarians
Tomorrow Night

With a cast composed of notable professional players, Ernest Hanes and Charles Allais will present "The Servant in the House," a dramatic success by Charles Rann Kennedy, tomorrow night in the Auditorium.

The play was originally written in five acts, but at the suggestion of Mr. Kennedy it will be presented here in three acts. It is an entertaining comedy which has received commendable mention from prominent critics, and is under the direction of the author.

The story is of the present day, and the setting is an English country vicarage on a spring morning. (Continued on second page)

Frothy Welcomes Rotary Members

Froth, the jester in Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure," has a modern counterpart in the Men of Medley of Penn State who have contrived a mighty idea and set it in print with the title "Rotary Number."

Behind Walt Eschenbach's cover the Foolish Gentlemen have managed to cram much material, part good and part typical. Woodcuts by an unknown artist supply the magazine with a professional touch more than (Continued on third page)

Visionary Farmer Predicts First Bison Win Since 1896

What may or may not have been a prediction concerning the outcome of the Bucknell-Penn State game at State College, was had last night by a farmer living up in Buffalo Valley, according to Doctor Edward Pangburn, a Bucknell alumnus who visited the University to relate the incident.

Doctor Pangburn came across this venerable farmer unexpectedly and in the course of the conversation, the old-timer remarked, without any reference being made to the impending clash, "You know, the University football team is playing State this Saturday over to the State College and ever since the last time that the Bucknell boys heeled them fellus over there in 1896 I've been hoping hard every fall for them to do it again, but although they've come mighty close they've never been able to turn the trick."

"Well, sir, it was only last night that I had the queerest dream about that game next Saturday and I believe that my forty years of hoping is going to be satisfied on this coming Saturday."

"Yes sir, just as plain as day I suddenly saw right in the middle of my dream a huge bonus down in Lewisburg and it looked exactly like the one the boys had in 1896, cause I can remember that night just as plain as anything. Now, you may think I'm cracked but you just mark my words and see if the Bucknell boys don't come out on top over at State this Saturday."

There will be those who will, of course, scoff at this prediction, if it is such, but there are as many more who feel that there may be something to it after all, and are awaiting Saturday. —Tommy McLeod, Bucknell

Touted Bisons to Test Defensive Prowess of Bolstered Nittany Line

Visitors Confident of Win in Spite of Injury to Captain—Curry Will Replace Delp at End

New Bison Coach

Carl G. Snaveley

One of the strongest football teams ever to represent Bucknell will test the true power of Coach Bezdek's gridiron eleven when the rival combinations battle on New Beaver field tomorrow afternoon at two-thirty o'clock.

For more than thirty-years the Bucknellians have nursed an ambition to lower the Blue and White colors but each season has marked their defeat at the hands of the Lions. This year, however, the Bisons have power to add to their purpose and believe that the combination of the two may be the means toward that end.

Captain Diehl Idle
This optimism prevails at the Lewisburg institution in spite of the fact that Wally Diehl, Bucknell halfback and captain and manager of the backfield, will remain out of the game because of an ankle broken some days ago. Last year the swarthy ball carrier proved to be not only a serious menace to the Lion attack but was also the most aggressive player in the Penn State-Bucknell game.

He had been progressing even more rapidly under the tutelage of Coach Snaveley when he sustained injury to his ankle. When, however, aggressive tackle for the visitors, should also cause the Nittany backs plenty of trouble.

Monday's all-day downpour of rain failed to deter Coach Bezdek who has devoted most of the practices this week to bolstering his team's defense. A new style of play was attempted by which the Lion offense and defense men may cope successfully with the peculiar but effective "squat" defense instituted under the present regime of Coach Snaveley, well-known former member of Bellefonte Academy.

Set images against the freshmen at which Joe Kiall, Miller, Ciang, Slamp and Delp, all on the injured list, looked on, have proved beneficial to Bezdek in pointing out the weaknesses of his team. Sam Curry will replace Delp at end and Kiall may be inserted in case of dire need.

Both Penn State and Bucknell have made auspicious starts in the open- (Continued on second page)

RHODES STUDENTS MAY PETITION NOW

Scholarship for Oxford Study
Will Be Available for
Penn State Man

STUDENTS MAY PURSUE
WORK ALONG ANY LINE

A Rhodes scholarship to Oxford university, carrying with it a stipend of approximately two thousand dollars, is available to a Penn State student this year.

One scholarship is being provided to each of thirty-two states. Tenable for three years, carrying with it a stipend of nearly two thousand dollars, and with no restriction placed upon the choice of studies, the Rhodes scholarships have proved extremely popular everywhere.

Appointment of Rhodes scholars is made on the basis of their record in school and college. The student must be a male, unmarried citizen of the United States between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five and have completed his sophomore year in college.

Literary and scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of mind, character, public spirit and leadership, as well as physical vigor, as shown by interest in outdoor sports are the points considered in making the selection.

Applications for the scholarship must be in the hands of the Dean of Men before October fifteenth. The recipient will enter Oxford in October, 1928.

PLEBES CHOOSE ARTHUR FAUST AS CHEERLEADER

Wood Explains Dry Ice and Displays It To A. S. M. E. Group

Dry Ice, its manufacture, properties and uses were explained by Professor A. J. Wood at a meeting of the A. S. M. E. last night.

"This material," declared Professor Wood, "is composed entirely of cubes of solid carbon dioxide. Liquid carbon dioxide is expanded at a lowered pressure to form a snow. Under a pressure of five or six hundred pounds the snow is compressed into solid cubes which are the finished product."

The properties of Dry Ice point to it as a revolutionizing agent in the field of refrigeration. It is non-poisonous and will keep for a long time under a fairly high temperature.

One pound of ordinary ice requires 114 heat units in melting while the same amount of Dry Ice needs 273 heat units for vaporization. It is from ten to fifteen times as effective in cooling substances as is ordinary ice.

After twenty-two hours in a room at a temperature of seventy-five degrees, Fahrenheit, a five gallon can of ice cream with five pounds of Dry Ice on top of it was still firm.

Because the reason for its great effectiveness is unknown Professor Wood is now working on the problem in the interest of the Dry Ice Corporation of America which has patented the manufacturing process.

Honorary Fraternity Will Hold Reception

For the purpose of acquainting freshman students of the School of Education with the ideals of its society, Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary education fraternity, will hold a reception at the Sigma Tau Phi house tomorrow evening from six-thirty-five to eight o'clock.

Short talks will be given by Dean Chambers, Dr. C. D. Champlin, II, H. Shapiro '28, vice-president of the organization and out-of-town members.

WPSC RETURNS TO AIR WITH PROGRAM MONDAY

Broadcast Football Games, Mass
Meetings and Sunday
Chapel Talks

Resumption of the broadcasting of regular programs each Monday and Wednesday night from the College radio station will take place next week, station officials announced yesterday.

Since the close of the summer season in early August, only the Monday night agricultural programs have been broadcast while operators re-built the transmitting set. The new wave of three hundred meters and five hundred watts power is to be used in the regular programs each Monday and Wednesday night at eight o'clock.

All home football games are now being broadcast, with Larry Conover, of the coaching staff, at the microphone. It is expected that a remote control station in the Schwab Auditorium will be ready for the broadcasting of the football mass meeting tonight. These athletic meetings will supply something entirely different for broadcast listeners, for so far as is known nothing like them has ever been broadcast before. Others are scheduled for the evenings of October 28 and November 11.

Sunday chapel services presenting nationally known speakers will be broadcast from WPSC each Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. Other features from the auditorium will include band, orchestra, glee club and mandolin club concerts, plays and entertainments during the winter season.

SXE Issues Call For Assistant Operators

All students wishing to apply as assistant operator at the College radio station SXE should send a letter of application to G. L. Crossley, Room 203 Engineering D, by tomorrow noon. Include your qualifications such as class of operators' license and experience.
