WELCOME ROTARIANS!

There will be a genial welcome ready for every visiting Rotarian from the students and townspeople alike as several hundred members of Rotary Clubs from all parts of Pennsylvania begin to arrive in State College today for a week-end which has been expressly set aside for them.

The entire community welcomes you, Rotarians. We sincerely hope that your short visit with us will prove to be the most enjoyable that you have spent anywhere. We hope that you will come here with critical eyes, quick to catch anything that fails to meet your approval.

In recent years rarely has a visitor to Penn State left without becoming a loyal booster of the institution. Penn State sells itself when the customer actually sees the product for himself.

So, knowing that you will cherish afterwards the numbered hours spent in the Nittany Valley we are all set to do everything that will enhance the enjoyment of your visit. The keys of Penn State, the town, the fraternities, everything, are at your disposal this week-end.

IF

A petition is being prepared to be presented to the Council of Administration on Monday asking for the granting of a holiday next Saturday when the Penn State football team is scheduled to meet the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin Field.

Whether it is or is not granted is beside the present point. The question of what an administration should do on the Saturdays of away-from-home games has been a problem confronting authorities of every college throughout the country.

If the present petition, that was authorized by Student Council, is accepted on Monday when the Council of Administration convenes then the subsequent action of the students will be watched.

It is a known fact that it is the Friday classes that give any college authorities worry on occasion of an away-from-home football game.

It is not college spirit, but short-sightedness, that sends the advanced guard of rooters away several days ahead of schedule.

But now we are placing the so-called cart before the horse. The petition has not yet been presented to the Council of Administration.

THE BUCKNELL MENACE

An indication of what may be expected from the Penn State football team in the coming games will be given tomorrow on New Beaver field when the Blue and White opposes an old rival in the form of a powerful Bucknell eleven.

Years ago, rivalry between the two neighboring institutions used to be at fever heat. Because of the rapid increase in the size of its student body, Penn State gradually became too powerful for Bucknell.

Within the past few years, Bucknell has knocked at the door of recognition in the major football teams in the East.

Numerous football fans have remarked about the apparent weakness of this year's Bucknell team, basing their opinion on last Saturday's result when some small, unknown school held the Lewisburgians to a scoreless deadlock.

This same Bucknell team, with added confidence because of their unexpected showing last Saturday, will test the Penn State team to the limit. They have been nursing since the initial practice for Penn State. The game means everything for the visiting team. It will be an interesting struggle.

FORD FOR SALE CHEAP—BOARD $7.00

It was strongly advocated at the Student Council meeting Tuesday night that the present bulletin boards that are located at various points of vantage about the campus be removed, their substitute to be in the form of glass-enclosed bulletin boards placed at a central point in Old Main, Liberal Arts, the Ag Building, the Engineering buildings and, perhaps, Co-op.

The proposed substitutes would be locked and each one placed in charge of a responsible person who would be the final authority to decide just what notices would be eligible for a place on the bulletin boards.

In addition to doing away with what has been an eye-sore for several years, and thus improving still more the beauty of the campus, it would eliminate the appearance of signs advertising boarding houses, Ford's for sale or other obnoxious notices of similar character.

The present bulletin boards, if one could call them that, are admittedly out-of-date, unattractive and a detriment to the natural beauty of the campus.

The Bullosopher's Chair

Smithers.—Say, Bullosopher, have you lost your eyesight? Didn't you notice the apostrophe in the "Welcome Dads" sign that was stretched across the Allen street driveway at the campus entrance?

Smithers.—Why didn't you mention it, then? "I certainly did."

Smithers.—You made the mistake that time, then, because a providential rain came along and washed the much-discussed apostrophe where it rightfully belonged.

Side Lines

Since records are in vogue, the Penn State gridgers will probably set a new and peculiar one, having engaged in two successive weeks two different teams sporting the colors of Orange and Blue.

A farmer living in the Buffalo Valley and who is a staunch supporter of the Bucknell team, in his sleep saw the Lewisburgians celebrating their victory over Penn State.

Reds Griffith, newly acquired addition to the coaching staff has an inspiring bit of advice for the plebe quiddies. "Hit 'em any way, any place," he barked, "and let Les Houck take care of the rest."

Bez now understands why he felt his rick were crippled after the Masticeta game last year. Reds was each.

Annual Hort Week To Be Held In November

To establish better relations between the College and commercial horticulture industry, a Horticulture Week will be held here November twenty-eighth to thirtieth.

No speakers have been engaged since a round table discussion will be held throughout with members of the College staff lending in the discussion.

On Saturday the annual horticulture department banquet will be prepared and served by the faculty and students, using food stuffs produced

H. D. CURTIS TO DELIVER ASTRONOMICAL LECTURE

Mr. Heber D. Curtis will lecture on "The Extent of our Universe" on October seventeenth in the Bull Pen.

Mr. Curtis is from the Allegheny Astronomical observatory and is being brought here under the auspices of the local branch of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

State Rotarians Visit College Over Week-end

(Continued from first page) Tomorrow morning at eight-thirty o'clock the visitors will be escorted in an extensive inspection tour of the campus and buildings.

A state-wide Rotary luncheon will be held in the Armory at twelve-thirty o'clock and at two-thirty o'clock the Rotarians will witness the annual Penn State-Bucknell football struggle from the center west stands on New Beaver field.

Bisons Test Defense Of Lions Tomorrow

Bucknell enthusiasts are looking forward to a successful season since Coach Snively has taken charge of the Orange and Blue charges and instituted a new, effective style of football play.
