"Although a great Christian leader stated several hundred years ago that Christiants consists very largely in thankful dependence upon an eternal God, I believe that Christianity is something more warnor-like than can be summed up in such a phase as 'thankful dependence.' So said the Reverend D. George Vincent, pustor of the Shadyside United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, at the chapel services in the Auditorium Sunday.

In discussing conscience the speaker defined further, however, that a pisson who has committed a cume or sin will it some later time in life had never committed that evil thing if such a person notices a nameless feeling of dismay coming over him it rain indication of the spirit of Christ bidding him to return and light to win, affirmed the speaker.

SLIPPERY FIELD HINDERS ATTACK OF BOTH TEAMS

afayette Displays Speed an Breaks up Pass-Work Of Lion Eleven

Old Beaver field, slippery and slimy from recent falls of rain and snow, lent a distinct touch of uncertainty to the soccet game Saturday in which Penn State defeated Lafuşette by the bate maigin of a single goal.

Scoring opportunities presented themselves time and time again to each team but with one exception, proved of no avail. It was in the second quarter of the fray that Dick Marshall, from a choice of players clustered about the Lafayette goal, netted the Lion's first and only point Lafayette throughout the ercounter displayed a brand of soccet that was particularly effectual in breaking up the passes of the Nittany team. When the possession of the ball hung in the balance, the Marson men showed speed and often beat the Lions in getting control of it. However, their attacks were doomed to failure at the hands of Cherry, Allan and Hoin on the Nittany defense.

Norwegian Assists In Oil Experiments

A valuable addition has been made to the staff of the Engineering Experiment station in the person of Batrie Thulin, mechanical engineer. Mi Thulin is a graduate of the Technichal University of Norway and has an unusual record of technical and practical engineering experiences.

Mi Thulin has been appointed as instruction in Engineering Research and will assist with the fuel oil spray investigation which it is expected will further considerably the development of the high speed Diesel engine.

As a research engineer for the Norwegning government, Mi Thulin conducted investigation on oil engines. Preceding this he acted as motoriman and assistant engineer on Diesel engine lines and clossed the Pacific five times in his voyage. He served in the Norwegnan Navy as a Reserve Leutenant and mitiary aviator and spent some time in Austraha and Chima as a representative of the Junkers Anplane company.

He recently came to this country seeking a greater opportunity for the dicvelopment of his specialty and up until the present has been connected with the Ingersoll-Rand company in the Diesel Engine department.

Penn State made another forward stride in its come-back campaign for iccognition as the Eastern football champion by toppling the previously unbeaten George Washington gradeders in 13-0 defeat in a slow-moving game that was roughly but histlessly played on the soggy Nev Beaver Field Saturday afternoon Roepka and Hamas scored the touchdowns.

The Colonials showed considerable offensive and defensive power by checking the advance of the substitute men that Coach Bezdek preferred to start and by cracking the reserve line themselves with some gradgaining effect. With two evenly-matched combinations, the first half invested little spectacularity as first one team and then the other advanced slowly, each unable to come within striking distance of the other's goal line. Lon halfoact and Clapper, visiting keker, with the former earning the clige.

Hardd Dangerfield, midget director of the "piny backfield" was the only thrilling entertuner of the reserve quartet. Time and again, he broke through the Colonial line, following his mitrefence closely for gains of five, ten and fifteen yards. Sam Curry and Skip Stahley, second string ends, also proved their ability as waig men by sharing infrequent passes from. Whitmore and Miller to provide the only other startling bits of play Panna and Eddie Craig, who also carried the ball to advantage proved the muintalys of defense, both smashing numerous George Washington plays before they had advanced beyond the line of sciimmage. The nearest approach of the Lion Schübs to the opposing goal line came rear the close of the vecond period when Penn State began a steady march from the north 33-yard line and by Ine smashes with Craig and Whitmore carrying the ball and passes from Pinuria, who replaced Danzerfield, to Curry and Stahley, proceeded to within 23 yards of the enimy soring stripe. Here the eversion ended as the whistle sounded the conclusion of the first half.
