DEBATERS DISCUSS CO-EDUCATION WITH BRITISH UNION TRIO

Orators Uphold Negative Side of Question at Eight-thirty
O'clock Tonight

VISITORS ARRIVE TODAY
AFTER BUCKNELL MATCH

Brewster, Gares, Burt Compose
Penn State Team With Hood Alternate

Upholding the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That co-education is a failure," the Collegio forensic team will oppose the National British Union debaters in the Auditorium tonight, after the Thespian show, at eight-thirty o'clock.

The foreign team will arrive this afternoon after having debated the Bucknell team last night. The match this evening will be the fifth this week for the Britishers, having met earlier in the week Mullendburg, Swarthmore and Princeton.

William Brewster '29, A. J. Gares '29, and S. L. Burt '28, comprise the personnel of Penn State's team Kenneth Hood '30, will be alternate.

The visitors' trio consists of rising men in the English debating sphere. They are Frank O. Darvall, University of Reading, Berkshire, England, Andrew Haddon, Edinburgh university, Scotland, and John Ramage of the London School of Economics and Political Science.

MATMEN ARRANGE SEVEN ENCOUNTERS

Speidel Must Build Team From New Material With Only
One Veteran Back

WILL OPEN SEASON WITH
ALFRED UNIVERSITY HERE

Dual meets with seven colleges in addition to the intercollegiate make up Penn State's wrestling schedule for the coming season, announced Manager R. C. Quigley '28, yesterday.

Coach Speidel faces the task of building almost an entirely new team this season. Captain Liggett, 125 pounder, is the only veteran back, though both Hollobaugh and Packard have had experience in dual meets. Captain Kaiser, "Pop" Garrison and the Long brothers graduated last June.

The complete wrestling schedule includes Alfred university at State College, January 21; Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, February 4; Lafayette at State College, February 11; Syracuse at State College, February 18; Iowa State at State College, February 25; Navy at Annapolis, March 3; Cornell at State College, March 10 and the intercollegiate at Princeton, March 16 and 17.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE OFFICIALLY OPENS

Request Twenty-Five Cents of Individuals, Five Dollars
From Fraternities

In conjunction with the national movement of the local Red Cross drive for membership under the direction of P. R. Smaltz '28, is now under way and will continue until the middle of next week.

To bring the price of membership within the reach of everyone and insure one hundred per cent contribution, non-fraternity men will be requested to give twenty-five cents each and each fraternity will be asked to donate five dollars. The campaign among the women students is being carried on through the W. S. G. A. and the campus clubs.

The work of the Red Cross in the late Mississippi valley flood disaster and in the present Vermont tragedy has been a severe drain on the funds of the organization and the present drive is intended to bring finances back to their former status. The campaign has the full approval and commendation of President Hetzel.

"Mother Is Sick, Must Have Adenoids Out," Wire Sorry House Party Girls

"MOTHER IS ILL STOP ADE-NOIDS BOTHERING ME STOP SIN-CERELY SORRY CANNOT COME STOP LETTER FOLLOWS STOP LOVE," read the Western Union dispatches from Sally, Irene and Mary on the eve of what was to have been their first House Party.

"I stop my love for that baby right now," exclaimed Tom in chorus with Dick and Harry, who had just plucked similar messages from the little yellow envelopes. The messenger thundered "Collect!"

Nor is this typical and disheartening message confined to the yearlings. Even the rank and file of the brothers must feel its sting, although the reasons advanced range from tonsillitis to inadvertent seasickness. On the other hand, not all the S. O. S. (Search Of Sisters) telegrams are incoming, for the last minute fares number among their dispatches the brothers who "changed their minds" upon the early arrival of H. P. Q.'s bedecked in borrowed seals and racoons for a "wild week-end."

Western Union enters the category especially reserved for Big Business on days preceding the social functions, the local operator declared, with this influx of "wires-of-regret."

"Anyway my motto is practiced," ventures the carrier boy "Don't write 'Telegraph'!" "That's what they do."

Tomorrow Night

SELL 450 TICKETS FOR
SONGSTERS' PERFORMANCE

Singing popular numbers and plantation tunes, the Revellers, internationally known entertainers, will bring the highest class of vocal harmony to House Party guests and hosts tomorrow night in the Auditorium at seven o'clock.

"Blue River" and "Little Gypsy Sweetheart," the Revellers' latest Victor record releases are two of the songsters' numbers scheduled for tomorrow night, while "Dinah," "Lucky Day," and "Charleston" are three others which will be sung.

Following the sale of the major portion of the seats for the entertainment came requests by the ticket holders for their favorite numbers. Among those listed are "My Blue Heaven," "Marvellous," and a wealth of others.

Four-hundred and fifty tickets for the song-fest were reserved by individuals before the sale of seats began. It is expected by the chairman of the entertainment committee and the "Y" officials in charge that the entire Auditorium will be sold out before five morning.

STUDENT TEACHERS WILL RETURN FROM PRACTICE

Twenty-two Senior Educators
Finish Apprenticeships
In High Schools

Twenty-two seniors from the School of Education who have been practicing teaching in the four high schools of Johnstown since the beginning of the semester under the direct supervision of Professor B. W. Daily, will return to State College today.

As an experiment, the School of Education is trying this plan of practical work so that prospective teachers will have the opportunity of working in large, modern high schools where they will gain experience in all phases of school activities. They are not required to carry any extra courses while practicing but devote all of their time to the work. Intensive nine weeks courses have been arranged here with alternate practice teaching.

REYNOLDS TO REPLACE
FRENCH IN BACKFIELD

In their last game of the season, the Penn State plebe football men will battle the Pitt yearlings tomorrow on Forbes Field in the preliminary to the Pitt-Nebaska varsity mix-up.

Preparing for the fray, Coach Hermann has made several shifts and changes in his first team line-up that will tend to equalize the fifteen unit deficit between the 170 pound Lions and the 185 pound Panthers. Dummy scrimmage, drill in signals, plays and formations and intensive practice in tossing and receiving forward passes have occupied the Nittany grid squad in training for tomorrow's setto.

A partial record of the young Panthers' game shows wins over Kiski and Bellefonte with Carnegie Tech their only conqueror.

Both Captain Collins and Earl Edwards will start the game. Spike's injured hip seems entirely healed and the hurt inflicted on Edwards in the Syracuse game when he put two in tatters and the ball-carrier out of

C. D. Dahle Issues New Ice Cream Publication

"A Manual for Ice Cream Makers" is the title of the book written by C. D. Dahle, associate professor of dairy manufacturing, which was recently published by the Lovell Publishing company of Atlanta, Georgia.

Professor Dahle obtained his material for this publication largely from the experiments which he has conducted here during the past few years. About one-third of the book is devoted to formulas for making ice cream, each one of which has been tested. Examination of the work shows that it is written in simple language and is devoid of theory and technicalities.

Religious Votes May Be Placed Until Wednesday

In order to give those students who have not yet expressed their views on the religious situation an opportunity to do so, a ballot box with additional questionnaires beside it will remain in Old Main until Wednesday night. The Committee urges all undergraduates to submit their opinions in order that the final solution may be representative.

LIONS FOLLOWING SHOW

A man will be hanged before the House Party audience of the Penn State Thespian vaudeville show tonight at seven o'clock as the opening act in the entertainment. Lariat jumping and twirling varied with magic will also feature the act of Robert Thrasher '31, and William Neff '28.

The Shuster-Kennedy combine, coached by the George White and Ned Wayburn studios, will provide the major diversion of the evening with their dance act. Solo soft-shoe and tap dances at the Varsity Drag give the talented duo ample opportunity to display fast footwork and skillful execution.

Tumpets will be used by the brass quartet in providing harmony and melody arrangements. Led by Morris Shougo '29, W. J. Culp '30, W. C. Taylor '30, and H. E. Fry '31, will employ varied harmonies to produce their effect.

Miss Ada Romig '29, assisted by Miss Charlotte Hoy '28, at the piano and H. E. Crawford '28, playing violin obligato, embody a principal act while the soft-shoe, buck and tap-step dance.

Luccock To Speak At Sunday Chapel

The Rev. H. E. Luccock, another contributing editor of the Christian Advocate and educational secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, who spoke here September fourth, will deliver the chapel sermon Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

In his last address here Dr. Luccock stressed the fact that the ultimate purpose of a college education is to broaden the mind. He deplored the modern tendency of specialization. The Reverend Luccock received his A. B. from Northwestern university in 1906. Continuing his studies he earned his B. D. degree at Union Theological seminary and his A. M. degree at Columbia university. From 1910 to 1912 he served as pastor at Windsor, Connecticut, after which he spent two years as an instructor at the Hartford Theological Seminary.

A team of tested Nittany harriers will engage the Pitt representatives tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock over the longer golf course route when the undefeated Lions contest the Panther seven Syracuse, conquered by Penn State, easily won over the Blue and Gold.

Bill Cox, captain and premier runner of the Penn State starters will take the post with Offenhauser, Oesterling, Louis Lee, Bass, Rutchie and Kittle lined up beside him as the official seven to compose the team. Several other cross-country men will also run but will wear numbers or count in the scorer's list. Among these will be Pettit, Helfrich, Moore and Katochik.

The freshman team with Detweiler, Roepke, Artz, Nickel and King as their first five will oppose a yearling Panther crew over the short course. Both Detweiler and Roepke have been

WPSC Will Broadcast Vaudeville and Debate

Two special programs including the annual House Party showing of the Penn State Thespians at seven-thirty o'clock and a debate between the National British Union and Penn State at eight-thirty o'clock on the proposition "Resolved: That Co-education is a failure" will be broadcast from Station WPSC tonight.

As the first debate ever to be broadcast from the College station the forensic contest will hold more than usual interest because of the active style of argument used by the British team.

PLAYERS' REVIVE GRECIAN TRAGEDY

"Oedipus the King," Classic of Sophocles, Is Chosen as January Number

CAST INCLUDES SEVERAL
VETERAN PERFORMERS

Because of the success of "Medea" last year, the Penn State Players are including another Greek drama, "Oedipus the King," a play of Sophocles, in this year's repertoire as their January offering.

The cast will consist of B. F. Ricker '28, C. C. Uigebart '30, G. W. Knight '30, Anton Harsh '31, C. H. Munster '28, J. M. MacKnight '31, W. B. Ilko '28, F. F. Morris '31, and R. E. Muller '31. The leading part, Oedipus, King of Thebes, will be played by Ricker, who took a leading role in last year's presentation of "Medea."

Selections have also been made for a women's chorus to take part in the play. Those already chosen are Misses B. E. May '31, M. L. Hind '31, J. M. Burns '30, A. L. Carter '30, M. D. Reed '28, C. W. Davies '30, Annette Hammen '29, F. T. Davidson '31, S. K. Motter '30, G. M. Woodrow '31, D. Wakefield '31, E. R. Rhoderick '31, D. M. Booser '31, Miriam Mendelsohn '31, M. R. Lusk '28. Others are still to be added to this list.

GROWERS WILL MEET IN HORT WEEK CONFERENCE

Faculty Offers Its Services to Delegates—Students To Prepare Banquet

Fruit, vegetable and flower growers of the State will hold their annual Horticulture Week and conference here from November twentieth to thirtieth, inclusive. The party is being sponsored by the horticulture department.

A new feature this year will be the program in ornamental horticulture and floriculture. Separate programs have been arranged for those interested in vegetable gardening and fruit growing.

Members of the faculty will place themselves freely at the disposal of the growers to give each one a special treat. The team will arrive in a party of thirty-five players, three managers, and two trainers besides Coach Meehan, assistant Schaeffer and two other men from the staff.

A booklet, "What is New in Horticulture," giving a summary of the important research and commercial results of the year, will be given to each visitor.

An informal banquet, served cafeteria style in 100 Hort, will be prepared by the horticulture students for Tuesday evening November twenty-ninth at five-thirty o'clock. At this time music, dancing and stunts will be provided for the entertainment of the visiting growers.

E. H. ROHRBECK RETURNS FROM NATIONAL PARLEY

After attending a national conference of the officers of Farm House, national agriculture fraternity, at the University of Wisconsin last week, E. H. Rohrbach of the agriculture extension department returned to State College on Sunday. Mr. Rohrbach is national vice-president of the Farm House fraternity, the chapter of which are located in the Middle West.

Metropolitan Fans Agog Over Game Tomorrow

COACH MEEHAN PREDICTS
HARDEST CLASH OF YEAR

Five Hundred Gothamites Will Follow Team, Confident of Seventh Win

By Sidney E. Kaplan
(Sports Editor, N. Y. U. Daily News)

Metropolitan fans eagerly await the opening whistle of the New York university-Penn State college tussle tomorrow in the hope of witnessing the Violet come back to the top of the football ladder in the East. College's tie detracted from the glory that coveted the Violet by virtue of its first five victories, but the convincing score over Carnegie Tech last Saturday sent the Meehans up a few rungs. Penn State's remarkable record against Penn, Syracuse, Lafayette, and George Washington have placed the Bezdek warriors high in New York City opinion and Violet followers look to a very interesting battle this week-end with neither team favorite at the start.

The New York Violet Violets showed their championship form against the Turtles on Coach Meehan has a comparative easy task to prepare his men for the clash with the Nittany Lions. Only one scrimmage was scheduled before the departure east tonight. Captain Connor, Barabee, and Bunyan were on hand at the beginning of the week and the first team will be intact for the clash this week-end.

Coach Meehan looks forward to the greatest opposition of the season thus far at State College. Spirits ran low in contemplation of this battle when Bucknell defeated Penn State, but Violet fans eagerly followed Coach Bezdek's players' achievements that followed. The metropolitan district believes the Violet has a lot more than it has had the opportunity to show as yet and hope that the efforts of Captain Roepke and his men will bring out those qualities.

The Violet will prepare a great deal with the development of an effective defense in view for Captain Roepke's versatility on the gridiron. N. Y. U. has great respect for Penn State on the basis of the reports brought back of the powerful Nittany outfit. The New Yorkers will therefore waste little effort in getting ready for the onslaught away from home. This is the first game the Violet will play in strange field and Meehan has encouraged a problem to make the men feel at home on any gridiron.

New York fans are backing their representatives with 3-2 odds on one touchdown. The confidence gained largely on the basis of the Carnegie triumph will cause a group of five hundred students in a caravan of buses and cars to follow the team. A great number of alumni will be at State College for the game via a special train. The team will arrive in a party of thirty-five players, three managers, and two trainers besides Coach Meehan, assistant Schaeffer and two other men from the staff.

College Pathologist Plans Research Work

Prof. E. L. Nixon, extension plant pathologist of the College for the past ten years will transfer from the extension field to research work. From daily contact with orchardists, vegetable growers and potato farmers, Professor Nixon will enter the local laboratories to search the mysteries of plant diseases.

Professor Nixon has long been interested in research work. Before coming to Penn State he was a member of the Ohio Experiment Station staff. Two years ago he was granted a year's leave of absence to study the cause and action of fire blight, a serious orchard disease. Since then he has tirelessly carried his message of spraying and disease-free seed to every section of the state. Effectiveness of spraying has increased steadily and has resulted in a saving of thousands of dollars to farmers throughout the state.
