THE HE-SHE DANCE

To girls who are new to Penn State, and to the old girls too, a word about our annual He-She dance would seem to be in order. This is the occasion when women students show the men that men are not an essential in the ingredients for a good time. Any girl who can lead in dancing does her boy-friends garments (this is where the boys come in handy—to lend their clothes) and escorts her room-mate or some other girl to the big dance.

Some girls who have never been to a dance of this type are inclined to be skeptical as to whether it is possible to have a good time with "just girls." Anyone who has attended will tell you enthusiastically that it is.

Of course it would not be fun to do it all the time, but a few times a year it is good for the girls to learn that they can have a good time by themselves. In a co-educational college like Penn State it is easy for the girls to learn to get along with the men. It is so easy that they devote very little time to learning to play and get along with each other.

If one stops to realize it, most of a woman's time here she leaves college will be spent in the society of women, whether she teaches, gets married, or goes into some branch of business. What an out-cast she will be, and what a time she will have making friends if her only accomplishment in this art is handing a man a "line."

The two all-girls dances and the parties which the girls have in the dormitories on occasions like Halloween and Christmas are really more beneficial than most people realize because of the way in which they teach the girls to have a good time among themselves.

Therefore any girl who refuses to go to the He-She dance and similar functions just because there are no men present is letting slip through her hands one of the biggest opportunities which college offers her to prepare to adjust herself to life as she will meet it after college.

JUNIORS ARE WINNERS OF HOCKEY TOURNAMENT

A spirited hockey season, in which no team could be said to completely out-class the others, resulted in the selection of the Junior class team as champion. The Seniors were runners-up for the championship and lost by the slight margin of one game.

The tabulated results of the season's games follow:
Juniors—Won 1, forfeited 1, lost 1, tied 1.
Seniors—Won 1, forfeited 1, lost 1, tied 2.
Sophomores—Won 1, lost 4, tied 2.
Freshmen—Won 1, lost 4, tied 2.
All girls who are interested in playing basketball should report at the Armory for practice on Monday night in preparation for the intra-mural and inter-class games that are to follow a short practice season.

Real Men Will Be Out In The Cold

A surprise? Sure thing! When the "boy friend" and his best girl comes to the He-She dance they are going to find -- but this is the surprise for tonight.

The Blue and White Orchestra will twinkle their tambourines in a little Spanish town this Friday night, for the armory, bedecked with black and yellow streamers becomes a bit of Spain. A silhouetted central dome, dim side lights, high dark walls, picturesque booths and a labyrinth of fluttering ribbons make the armory into a ballroom of the ancient Alhambra for this night of revelry.

It is whispered that feature dancing and distribution of prizes are special numbers on the program.

Dr. Dengler has been placed as loan exhibit in the hallway of the Biology building. These books are a part of a collection of rare and early editions of the works having to do with Theophrastus, and were assembled by their owner in preparing an edition of one of the botanical works of that writer. Some of the books are over 400 years old, but have been well preserved. They

You'll like P.A. and how!

OPEN a tidy red tin of Prince Albert and give your olfactory nerve a treat. Never have you met an aroma that had so much come-and-get-it. Some fragrance, Fellows. And that's just a starter. Load up and light up. . . .

Cool as final exams. Sweet as passing. Mild as cafe au lait—mild, but with that rich, full-bodied flavor that bangs your smoke-gong right on the nose on every fire-up. You'll like this long-burning Prince Albert in the bowl of a pipe. And how!

One of the first things you notice about P.A. is that it never bites your tongue or parches your throat, no matter how wide you open the smoke-throttle. It is one tobacco that never wears out its welcome. You can stoke and smoke to your heart's content, with P.A. for packing. Get some Prince Albert now and get going!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half pound tin humidors, and round crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.
