Excavators Prepare For New Gymnasium

ing of the new engineering building, so that the athletic building could be in use next fall. Both buildings are being built by the same contractor, H. G. Ferguson, of Columbus, Ohio. Preparations for the building of the recreational center have been going on since late summer. This required the clearing of the land of a thick growth of trees. Now a large steam shovel and crew of men are rapidly excavating for the basement. All materials for the building have been ordered and will arrive as they are needed.

Infirmary Delayed

The new infirmary which was supposed to have been started on January first was also held up in effort to hasten the work on the new gymnasium. The hospital, however, will be started about March so that it may stand completed at the opening of College next fall.

Previous plans called for the new infirmary to start on January first, the engineering building about the middle of January and the new gymnasium on the first of February. Upon a consultation with the contractor and architects it was found more advisable to concentrate on one building and finish it. The new rec center hall was chosen as the first.

At the present time Controller R. H. Smith, Dean of the School of Chemistry and Physics, Gerald L. Wendt and a landscape architect are working on plans for the proposed new building arrangement which will result if the bond issue is passed in the coming election. This planning is being done so that the new addition to the Pond Laboratory and the new Botany building can be built. As soon as these plans are completed contracts for the new Pond Laboratory addition will be let.

of variety competition tomorrow afternoon in the light heavyweight battle. The former freshman boxer is a good puncher with either hand and has shown constant improvement in his recent bouts. Struble has sparred with Wolff and MacAndrews who provide him with plenty of competition. Wolff's clever footwork keeps Struble on the jump and has increased his own speed while MacAndrews' hard punches have bothered him. Finally MacAndrews will take the heavyweight assignment tomorrow while Captain Wolff will box middleweight.

Grapplers Meet Test In Quaker City Combat

ceptions, the same grapplers who dispatched Alfred, 20-3, will see service in tomorrow's bouts. Since the encounter with the New York team two weeks ago, Coach Charlie Speidel has been working his charges regularly in preparation for the Quaker City grapplers in hopes of uncovering additional promising material.

Don Steele, miniature bantamweight, will in all probability find himself facing Crisman, Red and Blue 115-pounder and may be expected to extend himself in order to take the bout.

Rival Captains Meet
It is quite certain that the 125-pound bout between the rival captains will be the sensation of the day, and although Wally Laggett had little trouble in vanquishing Alfred's captain, he will find himself encountering a formidable opponent in the person of Bogdan. The next bout will be the lightweight tilt, in which Ted Wilson will capably take the mat for the Lions against Rabinowitz of Pennsylvania.

Eisenmann still retains the reins in the 135-pound class and although he has constantly pushed by Erb for the welterweight berth, he will make the Philadelphia trip. It is likely that Cronlund will grapple for the Red and Blue in this event.

Packard Retains Position
Well established in the middleweight class, Packard, veteran of other strenuous engagements, will don the jersey for the Lions against Pier. The next bout shows promise of being close and fiercely contested, so Holly Holobough will encounter Gabriel who already has one fall to his credit this season. The tilt gives promise of proving a true contest of wrestling strength and tactics.

Rog Mahoney has shown considerable improvement since the Alfred university meet and under the tutelage of the Nittany mentor, has grasped of further knowledge of the mat science. It is almost a sure wager that he will travel to Philadelphia and be matched with Urban for the heavyweight win.

contesting for the center position with the possibility that the former, who has played center position in the games already completed, will start as lineman for the Tartans.

Unless Nease, the acting captain of the Shenley Park boys takes a decided slump in his playing Coach Allison expects to place him on the opening line-up.

Carnegie's plebe aggregation has played three games without tasting victory. Last week they were defeated by the Pitt freshman quintet.

season's five, at the other. Hitchcock, however, was injured in the fray with Washington and Jefferson and was recently discharged from the hospital. He may not be available for tomorrow's contest.

Coach Irwin has not finished experimenting with his dribblers in order to find an effective combination and refuses to announce a definite line-up for the Blue and White game. The possibility that some of the players may be rendered ineligible by failure in the mid-year examinations has been added to the difficulties of the Tartan coach. The Plaid floor-men may be expected to play a far better brand of basketball against the Lions than they have in the preceding games this season.

Loopholes Work Lightly
Because of final examinations this week, Coach Hermann has put his passers through only two light practices in preparation for tomorrow's fray. The improvement shown by the Nittany quintet in the Temple game encourages the Lion court men to start the same combination against the Tartans. Dick Reinhold and George Delp will occupy the forward posts, Lou Reilly will be at center, and Captain Whitey Von Nieda and Cy Langren at guards.

Brilliant Offense
In the Owl contest the Blue and White eagles continued to display the effective play discovered in the Gettysburg tilt. The cutting and passing under the basket showed vast improvement. The Temple courtmen were an excellent passing combination, but were unable to break through the Nittany defense to score. The alert Lion guards and pivot man kept the Owl passers from following up shots under the hoop.

Von Nieda Flashes
Captain Von Nieda proved his complete recovery from illness by sinking seven field goals from the field and frequently downing Temple scoring hopes by his guarding. Securing second place in the scoring honors with eleven points, Reinhold proved that he deserves a varsity berth by his clever floor work and shooting. Reilly's guarding and offensive play under the basket and Langren's defense and cutting were notable. Steve Hymas, playing guard instead of forward, showed noticeable improvement. The Temple star, Captain Litwack, failed to net any field goals, but played well on the defense.

Lions Gain Early Lead
Immediately following the opening of the game, the Blue and White quin-

let took the lead and maintained its generous margin throughout the game. Three goals made an early shot after the tip-off and three long shots sunk from the side in rapid succession by Von Nieda accounted for twelve of the Nittany five's twenty-seven points scored in the first half, as opposed to the Owl passers' twelve counters.

The second period was even bleaker for the Temple dribblers who succeeded in sinking only two field goals. By fast passing plays and rapid cutting under the basket, Coach Hermann's courtmen continued to add to their score until the final shot found them leading the Owls 57 to 27. The Nittany floor men held the Quaker City quintet to five goals while the 490 each sinking seventeen on free throws. The line-up follows:

Some call it mellowness . . .

SOME say that Camel is the mellowest cigarette ever made. Some that it's mild and smooth. It's really all good things in one, and that is why it is supreme upon the pinnacle of modern favor. Camel's popularity today is the largest that any cigarette ever had.

And, it costs something to make this kind of a smoke. It costs the choicest tobaccos that money can buy, and a blending that spares neither time nor expense. Each Camel cigarette is as full of value as the world of tobacco can give.

You can be sure of smoking pleasure, serene and full, in these quality cigarettes. Smoke all of them you want; they simply never tire the taste.
