Plays Stellar Game

After vanquishing the Ursinus courtmen by the narrow margin of 46-39 in a closely contested but ragged game Saturday night, the Nittany quintet will travel northward to oppose the strong Colgate passers on Thursday. Two days later, the Lion basketballers will attempt to take vengeance for the early season reverse at the hands of the Orangemen.

Leaving State College tomorrow afternoon, Coach Hermann will take a squad of ten men on the last trip of the season. The Lion engagement will make Syracuse their headquarters, traveling to Hamilton, New York, Thursday for the tilt with the Maroon. The Nittany court monitor will use the same first team that played against Ursinus with Steve Hamas and George Delp holding down the forward posts, Lou Reilly jumping center, and Captain Whitey Von Nieda and Cy Lungren protecting the Blue and White basket.

A reserve quintet, composed of Dick Reinhold, Jacobson and Skip Stahely, forwards, Jack Brownstein, center, and Eddie Baron, guard, will accompany the regulars on the northern jaunt. Joe Wilson, guard, has been declared ineligible because of low scholastic standing.

Colgate Record Good
The tilt with Colgate Thursday night marks the opening of basketball relations between Penn State and the New York institution. Forensic Team Argues Foreign Investments of Private Capital Question

LION TRIO MAKES TOUR
OF WESTERN COLLEGES

That the United States Government should cease to protect American private investments in foreign countries was the question discussed by Penn State and George Washington university in a no-decision affair Saturday night in the Auditorium. With Penn State arguing the affirmative side and the visitors upholding the negative many new ideas on the subject were uncovered. The Nittany orators, having a revised team, consisted of Kenneth Hood '30, Harry A. Berge '30 and Wallace Brewster '29, while the students from the capital city were Karl Frisbie, D. S. Hatch and Gwyn Sanders.

Discuss Policies
That the present system of production was in line with the Monroe Doctrine was the bone of contention of both teams while the advisability of using armed forces in foreign countries was a subject of much discussion. Both teams occasionally used humor in their arguments, this leading to the interest of the audience.

Although originally planned as a decision debate the meet was changed to a mere discussion of the present conditions, thus allowing both teams to argue the question with no fear of the opinion of the listeners.

A negative team will go to Ohio today where they will meet teams from four western colleges. Another group of two men will debate at Harrisburg, against a Dickinson duo Friday evening.

Dial Portfolio Art Exhibit Represents Modernistic Trend

Purposing to introduce Modernistic Art here, Pi Gamma Alpha, recently organized honorary Fine Arts fraternity, is sponsoring a three-week exhibition of the Dial portfolio of "Living Art." The exhibit was opened for public inspection yesterday in the Art Museum, Old Main.

Twenty facsimile reproductions after paintings, drawings and engravings and ten photographs after sculptures by contemporary artists comprise the Modern Art exhibit of the Dial Publishing company of New York City. To give a more complete presentation of certain personalities a number of small magazine reproductions have been hung with the artists' facsimiles.

Outstanding paintings of Pablo Picasso, Henri Matisse and Pierre Bonnard, leaders of the French Modernistic school, are included in the exhibit while the best works of John Martin and Charles Demuth, American water color painters, are represented in the Dial folio. Work of Aristide Maillol, noted French sculptor, is also included in the exhibit.

PROF. J. SHIBLI OFFERS LIBERAL SCHOLARSHIP

Professor Jabir Shibli of the department of mathematics has given a scholarship fund of one thousand dollars to the American University of Beirut, Syria. Professor Shibli has contributed this amount in memory of Doctor Carlswal who as a missionary in his Lohanan village encouraged him to seek an education in the University.

While carrying a full teaching schedule here he has earned the money in his spare time by giving a series of lectures in the towns throughout the county. Like many of the graduates of the six American universities in the Near East he has established the fund in a sense of loyalty to his alma mater, William Morgan Kingsley, chairman of the executive committee of the Near East College Association, announced recently.

PLAYERS CONDUCT FINAL REHEARSALS FOR COMING SHOW

Unusual Settings Will Produce
Tenseness for "The Cat
And the Canary"

PLAY HAD RECORD RUN
IN BROADWAY THEATRE

Miss Mabel Reed and Jackson
Wheatley To Appear As Main Characters

Concentrating their efforts on "The Cat and the Canary," the Penn State Players are rehearsing daily for their presentation of the mystery-melodrama on Saturday night in the Auditorium.

The Players' stage crew is taking special pains to create an atmosphere of mystery. Trick panels and spooky devices will add to the tenseness of the play. A fireplace having many similar panels is a necessary part of the world stage effects.

Originally played at the National theatre, New York City, for four hundred nights during the years of 1922 and 1923, the production called for the services of three leading ladies. The fact that John Willard's play required the services of three leading women in somewhat rapid succession caused much comment on Broadway. An investigation proved that the nightly substitution of the leading lady to the spooky atmosphere of the play resulted in a nervous strain.

St. Francis "Preps," with a series of six successive victories to their credit met defeat at the hands of the Lion club quintet by the score 30-22, Saturday night in the Armory.

Mazzes started activities at the outset with a long shot from the side and followed shortly after with a free throw. Belski made a successful lay from beneath the basket.

Krumrine and Mazess each found the hoop once and with the tally 7-2 the Lorrelans called for time. Krutime completed another short throw, but Belski shot three fouls and Billedeau's toss cleared the rim, reducing the Blue and White lead to three points as the period ended.

In the second quarter the Nittany plebes ran up ten points to their opponents' two which were made by successful lay from beneath the basket.

Other activities of the department are also enjoying a banner year. Evening classes are being conducted in twenty-five subjects, which is ten more than last year. The West Penn Power company has recently enrolled two hundred and fifty of its employees in the department.

Apprentice training programs are being conducted in cooperation with several large corporations.

What's on the students' minds" was the subject of the talk given by Mr. Arthur Rugh noted Y. M. C. A. leader of New York City, in Chapel Sunday.

"The students are clamoring for a new and clearer outlook on religion and for a closer relationship with Jesus, but as long as this matter of religion is passed off so lightly, they can be brought to no better understanding."

Mr. Rugh stated that statistics derived from the student body of Washington and Lee University have revealed the small amount of money each person contributed to religious purposes during the past year. An average of two and one-half dollars per capita was given to the church while over a hundred and fifty dollars was spent on clothes and about one third of that amount on luxuries such as candy, tobacco and soft drinks.

"My one great hope is that the students who hear my lectures will not be influenced merely by the amount but that when they are numbered among the voting populace they will do their best to aid these needy countries," he concluded.

COMMITTEE PROMISES
DECORATING NOVELTIES

Consideration of a dance orchestra to supply music for the annual Senior Ball in the Armory Friday night, March ninth, has centered on Dewey Bergman's Webster Hall Band of Pittsburgh and Phil Napoleon's musical symphonies of New York City.

Negotiations with the two orchestras are expected to result in a decision before the end of the week. The decorating contract has been awarded to the Silverstein company of Wilkes-Barre but no agreement on the details of the decoration has been reached yet.

Decorating Innovations
To add to the splendor of the upcoming formal dance, the Silverstein decorators have promised a number of innovations in transforming the Armory into a dancing palace.

Ceiling plans different in color and arrangement from previous jobs and enhanced by colored lights are one of the promised changes. There is also a possibility that flood lights may be stationed at different corners of the Armory.

NITTANY MATMEN SECURE DECISIVE WIN OVER ORANGE

Syracuse, 17-6, in Fourth
Straight Contest

ACE SCORES LONE FALL,
LIGGETT COPS DECISION

Hollobaugh, Cranmer, Packard
Awarded Decisions—Novak,
Okun, Hill Victors

For the fourth time in as many meets, Coach Charlie Spideel's matmen proved their worth Saturday when they maintained the winning streak that has characterized them thus far this season and defeated Syracuse, 17-6, on the New York team's mats. One fall, in favor of Ace, took the meet out of the Hillmen's hands in the fourth bout and put Penn State firmly on its way toward piling up the seventeen point score.

It was no insignificant team that the Lions found themselves opposing. Led by Captain Charles Okun, bantamweight intercollegiate champion, the Syracuseans boasted other veterans, Tucker and Novak. Nevertheless, the Nittany grapplers, secured all but the 115 and 135-pound bouts, in which Steele and Wilson were taken over by Captain Okun and Novak, respectively.

The Nittany bantamweight, Don Steele faced the Orange captain for what was one of the most decisive time advantage decisions of the meet. Clearly the intercollegiate lull holder was too much for the Penn State lad, both in experience and dexterity on the mat. Okun won the bout with a time advantage of five minutes, fifteen seconds.

Liggett Defeats Tucker
In the next tilt, Captain Wally Liggett encountered Tucker, Orange color guard. The Syracuse 125-pounder showed little aggressiveness and Wally succeeded in winning by a time superiority of two minutes, fifty-four seconds. Committee of Three Will Canvass Ag Hill For Grange Donations

Within the next week a committee of three men will be appointed to canvass the Ag professors for contributions to the new Grange dormitory.

Girls in the Home Economic department of the Grange are planning to make a quilt of two thousand names, ten cents being charged for each name. The Centre county Grange as well as the national one, have sent money for a place on this quilt.

Approximately $90,000 of the $100,000 necessary to begin building the dormitory has been received, and of the $10,000 remaining, $173 has been contributed by the girls and $1500 by State Grangers. By April the committees hope to be able to bring the contributions up to the required total and break ground for the building at that time.
