Deferred examinations in History 3 and History 19 will be held Monday at seven o'clock in 25 Liberal Arts.

Prof. Fred G. Hechler of the engineering experiment station will deliver a lecture at an open meeting of Sigma Phi Sigma at eight o'clock Tuesday night in room 28, Physics Building. His subject will be "Methods of measuring heat transmission."

For the use of students doing advance work in the study of metals and alloys, the department of metallurgy has fitted up a new microscope room for the installation of a late model Bausch and Lomb metallurgical microscope. A small, dark room completely equipped for photographic work is directly attached to the microscope room.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS WILL MEET FOR PARLEY

To Assemble for Discussion of International Relations Next Week-end

To hold an Institute on International Relations, the local church student organizations and the college Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will convene at the Methodist church next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. From the interest manifested by those in charge, the meeting promises to be an annual event.

Fashioned after the round table discussions of the Williamson Institute of Politics, which recently evoked much favorable comment, the program will consist of a series of addresses and forums. The purpose of the parley, according to the Reverend Edwin Witman, student pastor of the Methodist church, is to review the international relations of various foreign nations in the light of Christian ideals.

Dr. Oswald F. Boucke of the economic department will deliver the opening address on "The Economic Causes of Friction in International Relations." Particular interest is directed to the talk since it is Doctor Boucke's first public address since 1917. Addresses will also be delivered during the course of events by Dr. Cortez Ewing, Dr. Francis J. Tchan, Mr. Walter W. Van Kirk and Dr. Jacob Tuzger.

Mr. Van Kirk, who is one of the secretaries of the Commission on International Justice and Goodwill, of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America, will deliver a second address at the closing of the meeting on Sunday evening at seven o'clock.

Lecturer Lauds First President As Scientist

(Continued from first page) pointed out by the college historian last night. Most of his energy in the brief five years of his administration was devoted to convincing the state legislature and the public that only one institution should receive the benefit of the federal land grant act signed in 1862 by Abraham Lincoln. His fight was successful, and terminated only a few weeks before his unexpected death.

Penn State Mittmen Will Oppose Quakers

(Continued from first page) Captain Levy will represent Pennsylvania in this bout. Kolakoski will meet Brodsky while Chuck Robb, wearing the Blue and White uniform for the second time this season, will probably oppose Winowski, a lanky southpaw. Captain Albie Wolf should have no trouble in disposing of Elliot in the middleweight fractions although Struble will meet a tough opponent in Ollens, the Red and Blue light heavyweight. The Lion boxer, while sparring with Robb, suffered a bad cut over the eye Tuesday which necessitated two stitches. Matry McAndrews will battle Brodow or Clark of Pennsylvania in the heavyweight tussle.

Plebe Tossers Engage Bucknell Cub Quintet

(Continued from first page) replica of last year's court engagement. Ammerman and Ross will hold down the forward berth and with their accurate shooting should prove troublesome to the Lion guards. Walters, the lanky tycoon of the Orange and Blue plebe contingent, will take the center post at the start. Lobel and Jeffries as the two sturdy protective men complete the hopes of the Bisop scullings in defeating the Nittany freshmen.

Coch Conover scrimmaged his charges with Coach Dutch Hermann's varsity dribblers Wednesday night and although the plebes were outscored they put up a strenuous fight against their adversaries. Light workouts last night and tonight constitute the preparation of the Penn State cub passers for the Bucknell entanglement tomorrow night.

Varsity Court Team Will Meet Bucknell

(Continued from first page) George Deij will occupy the forward positions, Lou Rully the center post, and Captain Whitey Von Nueda and Cy Lungren will guard the Blue and White basket. Jacobson will replace Delp in the starting line-up should the injured ankle of the varsity forward keep him from the court. If Baron, who is also troubled by a slight injury, is not available as a reserve guard, Coach Hermann will call Mahle, forward, and Webber, guard, to the substitute bench.

Committee Will Study Publications Problems

(Continued from first page) of the problems that confront the respective publications in their internal and external relations. Prof. Arthur J. Wood, chairman of the senate committee on publications, presided at the gathering. Among those in attendance were publication faculty advisors as well as the editors-in-chief and business managers. Dr. Ralph Dorn Hetzel and Dean Arthur R. Wainock were guests. Dr. Hetzel cited journalistic experiences of his undergraduate days and urged greater sympathy and understanding among the faculty and students.

Six Colleges To Vie For Dramatic Honors

(Continued from first page) arc, Bucknell, "Sham," Gettysburg, "Welcome Stranger," Drexel, "The Roliherv," Juniata, "The Man in the Powder Hat," Franklin and Marshall, "In the Zone," and Penn State, "The Valiant." Players prepare for next show "Beyond the Horizon," produced by Eugene O'Neil, is the title of the next show that will be staged by the Penn State Players, Saturday, March twenty-fourth in the Auditorium. The play is a tragedy depicting England farm life.

The cast that has been chosen following a period of elimination is: Robert Mayo, Donald M. Buchanan '27, Andrew Mayo, Oliver S. Anderson '28, James Mayo, Harry F. Schwartz '29, Miss Mayo, Anne E. Mellinger '31, Miss Atkins, Retta E. Bostwick '29, Captain Scott, Jesse M. MacKnight '31, Ben, William L. Hammett '30 and Ruth Atkins, Olive Osterhout '30.

Lion Wrestlers Face Midshipmen Tomorrow

In the opening bout of the setts, Don Steele, lithe Nittany bantamweight, will grapple with Captain Ashford. The contest should prove close and interesting, for in addition to the agility and skill of the Lion wrestler, must be considered the experience and knowledge of Captain Ashford. Captain Wally Leggett will contend for Penn State in the specialweight bout against either Lincoln or Wilbourne of the Middy aggregation. After either Chenoweth or Wilson have encountered the Blue and Gold 135-pounder, Eisenman will face Banister for welterweight honors.

In the middleweight contest, Packard will enter for Penn State against either Morton or Epps of the Navy contingent. With his background of experience, knowledge of the game and his skill, the Nittany grappler should, without too much difficulty, take over the Midshipman.

Hollobaugh who was successful in obtaining a fall over Ruggles, Towan, last Saturday, will find himself matched against Meeker or Hughs for the light-heavy setts in the heavy-weight bout. Tyny Cranmer will meet Wilson, husky Navy unlimited grappler in what promises to be a closely fought and interesting contest.

Bill Cox Is Lion Track Hope in IC-4A Compete

(Continued from first page) hoc. His attempt last year to win both events was thwarted after he had won the mile indoor crown but he suffered a stitch while in the two-mile race and was forced to retire. Chances of the Blue and White trackmen in winning their first indoor intercollegiate team championship depends not only upon Cox's ability to win the mile but also to account for several points in the two-mile race. Bill, who has won one championship in every I. C. 4-A meet in which he has competed, has brought the Lion undermen their only two cross-country team victories. Last year he won the intercollegiate cross-country event in record breaking time, and also annexed the mile indoor and outdoor championships while this fall he again successfully defended his hill and dale crown.

Among the other members of the team who will be entered in the meet tomorrow Coach Cartmell has some potential point scorers. Al Bates, one of State's biggest hope for points, will defend his broad jump title and may also enter the short sprints and high hurdles. Captain Dick Bartholomew, veteran sprinter who scored seven points at the outdoor intercollegiate last May together with Ed Eggers, hurdler, will try for honors in the meet.

Offenhausner who has been making good time recently in the mile run will enter that event although he has never scored in an intercollegiate indoor match. Asido from Cox, Louis Leu is Coach Cartmell's best hope for the two-mile race. With Merrill swinging the thirty-five pound weight several points should be annexed to the Lion score.

Gore of Princeton, McMillan of Union and Sansone of Colby, all point winners in the one-mile event last March, will be entered against Cox tomorrow in the same race. In the two-mile run Cox has an even stiffer opposition in Benson of Cornell, 1927 winner, Hagen of Columbia, Metropolitan A. A. U. two-mile title-holder, Reed and Flackman of Harvard, Totten of Union and Merombeck of Penn.

Coach Cartmell will enter his freshman medley relay team composed of Detweiler, Fullerton, Rolkers and Hiding in the meet. This quartet has excellent chances of winning, according to their mentor, but the results will not count for the team score.
