

LION DEBATERS ENGAGE OHIO WESLEYAN TEAM

Contestants Consider Monroe Doctrine in Discussion of Foreign Investments

Debating the question, "Resolved, That the United States should cease to protect, by force of arms, American investments in foreign countries," Penn State's forensic team engaged in a no-decision contest with the debaters of Ohio Wesleyan university Friday night in the Schwab auditorium.

The team from Ohio upholding the negative side of the question was composed of Paul R. Anderson, Bernard Meicer and Philip C. Ebseling. Kenneth Hood '30, Wallace Brewster '29, and Seth L. Butt '28, made up Penn State's affirmative trio.

Monroe Doctrine Discussed Much originality and forethought was evident in the arguments of both teams, and the Ohioans proved worthy foes for the Nittany debaters. The Monroe Doctrine and the economic and political value of good-will were subjects of heated discussion between the contestants.

Nittany Matmen Take Third Place in Meet

Eisenmann Wins First Bout Eisenmann, Lion 145-pound aspirant, threw Tassi of Columbia in eight minutes and fifteen seconds in the first round eliminations. The Nittany grappler used a back hammerlock to fell his man. In the semi-finals the Blue and White grappler encountered the future champion, Dodd of Yale, and succumbed to the Bulldog's superior tactics. The champion won by a time limit of one minute. The Lion 115-pounder, Dan Steele, was eliminated in the first round of the tournament by McGovern of Lehigh, after two extra periods were necessary to determine the victor.

Backard and Hollarbaugh, Nittany middleweight and heavyweight matmen, respectively, proved to be competent grapplers in their matches. The former threw Landis of Lehigh with an arm and body hold in the first round but was slightly shaded by Graham of Princeton in the semi-finals after two extra periods. Neither man had an advantage but the referee decided in Graham's favor and the Tiger wrestler was awarded the verdict. Hollarbaugh defeated Brodhead of Princeton in his first bout but was eliminated in the semi-finals. Hubler, 135-pound candidate and Cramer of the unlimited class were both conquered in their first-round matches. The former was bested by

THE great difference between an easy, free-swinging stride and a slow, plodding step is very largely a matter of heels. Hard heels let you down hard—thump, bump. But rubber heels absorb the jolts and jars. Rubber gives, and lifts, and helps. Especially Goodyear Wingfoot Heels. They are all new, live cushioning rubber. They have style and they are Goodyear-guaranteed to outwear any other heels. More people walk on Goodyear Wingfoot Heels than on any other kind. Read what R. L. Jewett says—

"In 1913 I was graduated from St. Lawrence University. At that time, like many other college seniors, I had no definite idea of the kind of work I would follow. After making two false starts which offered but little promise for the future, I was told of the S. S. Kresge Company's system of promotion. I was convinced that this work was interesting and offered a real future, so I applied and started in the stock room of the Providence store. Here, I found myself working with men of my own age, splendid associates who were all enthusiastically waiting for advancement and securing promotion rapidly. After my period of training I was put in charge of small stores and since then I have been promoted to larger stores. With the company expanding as rapidly as it is today, I believe that the opportunities it now affords are the best in its history. There is still ample opportunity for my future advancement, which of course will depend on my own effort and ability."

How would you like to Manage a Kresge Store?

KRESGE Store Managementships are positions of trust and responsibility—dignified positions that carry incomes far above the average. Wherever there is a Kresge Store the Manager of that store is looked upon as an outstanding example of a successful business man—and yet he is usually a young man, perhaps just a few years out of college. We now have a few opportunities open for college men to train for positions of this kind. The men we choose will be men of ambition and foresight—those who are willing to start in a modest way—work hard and put in long hours. To men of this caliber the Kresge Company offers a future limited only by their own ability. If you think you can qualify, write to our Personnel Department today. A graduate of your own college who has already become a successful store manager with us will arrange a meeting with you and tell you all about our training plan.
