

Students Enter Names As Candidates for Election

Legislative Body Will Publish List Of One Hundred-Forty Nominees Twice in COLLEGIAN

As a preliminary step in the election of members of Student Council, class officers and the staff for next year, nominations for these positions came to a close Saturday night at six o'clock.

One hundred and forty undergraduates submitted their names as candidates as compared with one hundred and thirty-nine that entered their names for balloting last year.

A complete list of these nominees will be published in each issue of the Collegian until elections are held next Wednesday and Thursday.

To Publish Pictorial Student Council has decided to introduce an innovation here in the form of a pictorial supplement, to be printed simultaneously with next Tuesday's Collegian, the day before elections.

Elections hours will extend from nine to twelve-thirty in the morning and from one to four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday but on from nine o'clock until noon.

The committee appointed by the Council to take charge of affairs on the day of polling are Walter J. Gorman '28, chairman, Arthur L. Hays '28, Robert M. McPherson '30, Carl M. Davis '28, Max W. Lightner '28, Victor O. Schinnerer '28, Louis H. Bell '28, Kenneth R. Kaiser '30, Leonard C. Stoudner '29 and Paul A. Mitten '31.

With the presentation of medals and a silver loving cup to the division winners, the Block and Bridle Club closed their annual Little International Livestock Show Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Theodore M. Cairns of Legonier received first prize for his mare, PennState Besse, in the horse division. Among the cattle Beaver Wyoming '30, of Eighty Four, was awarded first prize.

NITTANY TRACKMEN OVERWHELM BISON

Cartmell's Charges Take First Place in Fourteen Events For 120-15 Conquest

Penn State's track and field representatives had little trouble in piling up 120 points against 15 for their opponents when they routed the Bucknell university tracksters Saturday afternoon on New Beaver field in the opening meet of the season for both teams.

A cold rain which transformed the outdoor path into a veritable river caused a decided let-down in speed for the runners, and decreased the efficiency of the field performers.

With fourteen first and twelve second places the Lion contingent established a margin which the Blue and Gold squad was unable to overcome.

Ed Eggers captured the 120-yard high hurdle event by leaping the obstacle and breaking the tape in an even seventeen seconds.

Bill Kaubach approached his former stride by covering the quarter-mile in 2:45.5.

Dr. Tweedy Urges Strengthening of Personal Religion

"Having a Religion of One's Own," was the topic considered by Dr. Henry H. Tweedy when he addressed chapel-goers Sunday morning in Schwab auditorium.

Dr. Tweedy declared that too many men and women, when experiencing disillusionment in respect to youthful thoughts and ideas concerning religion, give up Christianity as a bad job and do nothing more about the matter.

Dr. Hetzel Announces Mother's Day Plans

Mother's Day at Penn State will take place May twelfth and thirteenth, according to an announcement yesterday by President Ralph D. Hetzel. It is customary to have this annual student observance on the week-end of National Mother's Day, which this year falls on May thirteenth.

Professor John O. Keller, secretary of the Association of Parents of Penn State, is cooperating with student committees in arranging entertainment for the thousand or more mothers that are expected. Dr. Fraser Metzger, former Penn State chaplain, now dean of men at Rutgers University, has arranged to address chapel on Sunday, National Mother's Day.

THESPIANS DISPLAY TALENT SATURDAY

Club Presents "Honestly Yours" in Schwab Auditorium After Successful Road Trip

Numerous words of praise have followed the musical club on its itinerary of nine prominent cities of Pennsylvania. Dancing, especially the footwork of George Shuster and "Soe" Kennedy, has received favorable comment from the music critics of Philadelphia. The music authorities of the Quaker City have classed Kennedy and Shuster among the clearest collegiate dancers of the year, and have praised also the well drilled chorus.

Three Best "Nights" "My Island of Truth," a dreamy waltz commemorating Jackson Whaley in a humorous monologue and later sung by the Vibraphone quartet, has become one of the greatest hits of the show. The song "Women Are So Peculiar," took the Pittsburgh audience by storm and necessitated a complete repetition of the act before the play could continue.

After coming from behind three times to deadlock the powerful Syracuse stickmen, 4-4, in Thursday's encounter, Penn State's lacrosse team crumbled under the smashing attack of a fast Cornell twelve by a 3-2 count on rain-soaked New Beaver field Saturday afternoon.

Flashing a potent offense and staunch defense, Coach Paul's lacrosse team to even terms in the opening period, Carlson scored first for the Lions, followed by Livingston's tying mark.

At the opening of the second half Syracuse's drive for the net resulted in successive goals by Longley and Hughes. By virtue of a brilliant spurt, Captain Belfield and Torok evened the score with classy shots past the Orange goalie.

With the twelves deadlocked at the end of the regulation game, an extra period was ordered. Syracuse jumped right into the lead with a pretty heavy by Boyd Painter. As the overtime session was about to close, Ken Shaffer counted with a side toss that earned Penn State a stalemate with the highly-touted New Yorkers.

Encouraged by Johnny's marker, the Lions staged a spirited rally which resulted in a goal by Elset on a smart heave from Bob Cromie. (Continued on third page)

SENATE CHANGES EXTRA-CURRICULAR ELIGIBILITY RULE

Substitutes One Semester For Eight-Weeks Period in Activity Law

COLLEGE WILL PUNISH VIOLATORS OF DECREE Legislators Announce Statutes Go Into Effect at Opening Of School Next Fall

By substituting a semester instead of an eight-weeks period as the basis for determining eligibility, the College Senate changed materially the rules governing student participation in extra-curricular activities, when that body convened for its April meeting Thursday night.

According to the newly adopted clauses, a student who, at the beginning of a semester, has failures of unremoved conditions incurred during his last preceding semester in this College in excess of six credit hours shall be ineligible to compete in intercollegiate athletic games or in other athletic contests as the representative of the College. Students deficient in this manner will also be barred from taking part in public performances in dramatics, music or debating, holding a staff position on a student publication, holding a major office or committee chairmanship in (Continued on last page)

RACQUETEERS DEADLOCK SYRACUSE TWELVE, 4-4

LION NINE ROUTS GETTYSBURG, 12-3

Tallies Fourteen Hits in Slow Contest--Ken Haines Fans Eleven Opponents

Penn State's slugging diamond performers, aided by the masterful hurling of Ken Haines, romped away with an easy twelve to three decision over the Gettysburg batsmen, last Friday afternoon, in a one-sided contest played on New Beaver field. The game with Ursinus, scheduled for Saturday afternoon, was called off due to a downpour of rain and sleet.

Displaying vast improvement at the bat, Coach Bezdek's proteges had little trouble in polishing off their Gettysburg opponents. In the fifth inning alone the Lions scored enough runs to insure victory in any regular encounter. Despite several miscues in the field the Nittanyans proved far superior to their Battlefield foes.

Ken Haines, six-foot moundsman, pitched an impressive three-hit game to win his third victory of the year. Eleven times Coach Ira Plant's boys stepped to the plate only to return to the bench after having taken three whiffs at the lanky hurler's fast ball. The trio of muckers called by the Blue and Gold came as the result of Lion errors in the field.

The Gettysburg twirler, Feiten, yielded six bases on balls which aided greatly in his downfall. He settled down in the last three innings however, and set the Bezdekians back without a hit. Rugged fielding by his mates placed the Battlefield pitcher in bad holes in the early sessions.

Lions Start Early The Lions picked away at Ferner's offerings at the start and scored once in the first inning. Kent singled to center on the first ball pitched but was doubled up at first when center-fielder Jones speared Dobbelaar's short fly over second. Lungren received a free ticket to first and immediately stole second, his first of three stolen (Continued on last page)

Students Discuss Moral Standards At 'Y' Conference

For the purpose of discussing religion in its relation to youth and modern problems, the spring "Y" conference with thirty students present, under the leadership of Dr. Henry W. Tweedy of the Yale School of Divinity and Wilmer J. Kitchen, secretary of the College Y. M. C. A., convened at the Andy Lytle cabin from Friday evening until Sunday at noon.

Dr. Tweedy conducted personally the week-day meetings while the Sunday party was under the direction of students from five Eastern seminaries. Dr. Tweedy held the meetings in an open forum manner, allowing the students to select the topics they wished to consider and discuss them informally.

The principal topic of discussion during the gathering Friday night was the relation of Christianity to industry while on Saturday moral standards, the choosing of a life work and how to find truth and prayer occupied the bulk of the discussion.

On Sunday morning the meeting was held under the direction of Giamham A. Baldwin and Kenneth Pope of the Yale School of Divinity. Eugene Barnard of Western seminary at Pittsburgh, Raymond Hightower, Crozer seminary at Chester; John H. Maddoford, Union seminary at New York and Frank C. Baneroff of Episcopal seminary at Alexandria, Virginia.

Scholarship Day will be observed Thursday morning at ten-thirty o'clock in Schwab auditorium with President Hetzel presiding and John H. Penniman, provost of the University of Pennsylvania, as the principal speaker of the occasion. Classrooms will be suspended the last two hours of the morning to allow all students to attend.

Doctor Penniman, who was the speaker at the same exercises last year, is one of the foremost educators of the country and is well known to Penn State students. He has chosen the topic, "Culture and Obligation," as the subject for his address. The talk promises to be particularly appropriate for such an occasion.

Make John W. White Awardee As usual, the John W. White fellowship is the most important award that will be made. This honor is presented to the student, who in the opinion of the students and faculty is the outstanding man in the graduating class. It is given with the understanding that the sum will be used for graduate work along some line of study.

The John W. White medal, having an intrinsic value of fifty dollars, is usually presented to the student combining the attributes of scholarship, leadership, helpfulness, to the college and popularity on the campus to the highest degree.

Honorary Society Elections The other honorary awards include the Louise Carnegie scholarships, the awarding of the Honor Societies Council medal to fifty members of the Junior and Sophomore classes and the election of two hundred and fifty new members to the various honorary fraternities and honor societies. Cups offered by the Interfraternity and Intramural councils will be awarded to the fraternities which have maintained the highest scholarship in their respective groups.

The committee has arranged for Y. M. C. A. secretary, Wilmer J. Kitchen, to deliver the invocation at the ceremonies.

I. F. C. ARRANGES TRACK, FIELD MEET FOR MAY Lists Eleven Events on Program Of Competition--To Present Winners With Cups

Plans have been arranged by the Interfraternity Council for a track and field meet to be held May sixteenth at four o'clock as well as a special mile relay race to be run as a quarter event May seventeenth.

Two cups have been purchased by the Council, one to go to the winner of the track meet and the other to the quarter-mile victor. The events of the meet are one hundred yard dash, two hundred and twenty yard dash, one hundred and twenty yard high hurdles, two hundred and twenty yard low hurdles, javelin and discus event, shot put, hammer throw, pole vault, high jump and broad-jump.
