COLLEGE TO HOLD ANNUAL MOTHERS' DAY CELEBRATION

Program Opens With Vaudeville, Music Recital Friday Night in Schwab Auditorium

STUDENTS MAKE READY FOR INFLUX OF PARENTS

Schedule May Day Exercises for Saturday Night—Players Will Give Farce

In deference to the mothers of Penn State men and women, students' parents will be the guests of the College on the occasion of the combined Penn State and National Mothers' Day celebration here this week-end. More than one thousand mothers are expected to join their sons and daughters in observing the annual program of events.

The week-end exercises will open Friday night with the presentation of a vaudeville and musical recital by the department of music and the Glee Club in the Schwab auditorium at eight-fifteen o'clock. As part of the week-end meeting, the Penn State Parents' Association will convene at ten o'clock Saturday morning in the Schwab auditorium for a business session.

President Hetzel Speaks

After Mrs. M. Elizabeth Oleving, vice-president of the Association, delivers the address of welcome, President Ralph D. Hetzel will speak to the assembled parents. Other speakers scheduled to appear before the informal gathering are Arthur R. Warlock, dean of men, Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, Ellen M. Burkholder, '28, president of the Women's Student Government association, and Charles C. Berryhill '28, president of Student Council.

Six intercollegiate athletic matches comprise the sports card for the week-end visitors along with a tea in the Women's Building at three o'clock Saturday afternoon for all mothers.

May Day Exercises

Women students of the College will crown Miss Elizabeth T. Hazel '28, Queen of the annual May Day exercises to be held on the front campus seven o'clock Saturday evening. Following the fête, the women will present a short play in the open air theater on the front campus.

DARTMOUTH, LAFAYETTE DEFEAT LION GOLFERS

Big Green and Maroon Win by 5 to 1 Scores in Initial Nittany Matches

The College golf team, playing in the initial matches of the season, went down to defeat at the hands of the Dartmouth and Lafayette links aggregations Friday and Saturday at Lions respectively. The Big Green team overcame the Lion club wielders by a 5 to 1 score. The Maroon also emerging victorious by the same count.

Earl E. Hewitt '28, by winning his match on both afternoons, was the only Nittany golfer to capture victories. He downed Dick Cheney of Dartmouth one up and then conquered Bob Engert of Lafayette by the same score in a nineteen hole match. Rockwell, Dartmouth, defeated Captain Bunting, and McLaughlin of Dartmouth defeated Fritchman both by the count of 6 and 4. In the other dual encounter, Barrett, Dartmouth downed Panaceon by a 2 and 1 score. Both best ball matches were won by Dartmouth, the first 6 and 5 and the second 2 and 1.

In the Lafayette engagement played in Easton, with the exception of the victory of Hewitt of Penn State, all the matches were won by a score of 2 and 1. Rothenberg, Maguire and Courtney from the Maroon squad defeating Bunting, Fritchman and Panaceon of the Lion contingent in respective matches; while the best ball contest were decided in the same manner.

The same group of golfers that represented the College in these contests will probably compete against the George Washington university team in the encounter here Saturday.

FRESHMEN DONATE FUNDS

Following the precedent set by the four previous classes, the freshman class voted at a meeting last week to donate the surplus of their damage fund to the Penn State Winter Sports Development.

Plebe Nine Wins Title In Interclass Contest

While their poverty-stricken classmates cheered with approval, the freshmen baseball team annexed the interclass championship Saturday afternoon, by defeating the representatives of the class of 1929, 8-2. The plebes hit the ball hard, Kipler and Krumrine connecting for homers, Dietrich smashing a triple, while Faulk and French each secured a double and a single.

The juniors earned the right to meet the first year men by conquering the Seniors on Friday, 15-5. The freshmen having vanquished the sophomores on Thursday, 8-0. In their victory over the class of 1930, the plebes displayed ability in slugging the ball. Musser and Soltzman hit for the circuit, while Faulk garnished a double and single. Batdorf of the sophomores also hit a homer.

STICKMEN EXTEND BALTIMORE TEAM

Mount Washington Twelve Downs Lions, 7-2, in Hard-Fought Lacrosse Encounter

DUNC KIEFER, CAPTAIN BELFIELD SCINTILLATE

Inability to stem the first-half rush of Mount Washington's all-powerful lacrosse team resulted in the downfall of Coach Ernie Paul's stickmen, 7-2, in a hard-fought encounter at the Baltimore Municipal stadium Saturday afternoon.

Staging a spirited comeback in the second session, the Nittany twelve scored twice while a dogged defense held the Baltimore club to three markers. The two opponents battled on even terms for ten minutes in the opening period before Doug Turnbull, former All-American attack of Johns Hopkins broke the ice with a hard shot, too close for Kiefer to cope with.

Three Successive Goals

Turnbull's score furnished the impetus for the formidable Hill combination to begin its heretofore co-ordination on the attack. While the Lion (Continued on last page)

"Religious, Business Ideals Harmonize," Avers Rev. Lovell

"Business and Christian ideals do not, as is commonly believed, conflict with each other, but actually harmonize, and the strength of the religious world of today is directly dependent upon the help of the modern industrial system," was the assertion of Rev. Moses R. Lovell of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, Washington, D. C., when he addressed the Chapel audience Sunday morning.

Reverend Lovell introduced into his sermon the analogy of Trinity Church in the Woolworth building in New York. The Woolworth building, towering above the little church by its side, seems to proclaim the victory of the giant industrial system of the modern world over religion. However, he claimed, this common belief is not actually because the two factions really work side by side towards a common end.

"Prohibition remained the wild dream of the idealist," the minister stated, "until the industrial interests brought pressure to bear upon the liquor factions. When the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers decided that it could tolerate no longer the presence of drunken workmen on the trains, it was not long before prohibition changed from a fancy into an actuality."

It was apparent that the astute professors were going to demonstrate their physical skill upon the havoc wrought to the trees in various parts of the lawn by the recent snowstorm.

KISKI WINS THIRD SUCCESSIVE STATE TRACK, FIELD TITLE

Gains Permanent Possession of White Trophy—Leads Field Of Formidable Foes

HEYDRICK, OF POTOMAC STATE, PERFORMS FEAT

Victors Score Three First, Eight Second, Two Third, Four Fourth Positions

Kiski prep, with a total of forty-seven points, won its third consecutive victory in three years at Penn State's annual interscholastic track and field meet Saturday and secured permanent possession of the John G. White trophy. Potomac State school placed second with thirty-three counts while the Altoona and State College high schools with twenty-one and twelve points respectively annexed third and fourth positions.

PLAYERS PRESENT COMEDY SATURDAY

A. R. Cunningham, Miss Mellinger To Enact Leading Roles in "The Family Upstairs"

CAST INCLUDES NUMBER OF EXPERIENCED ACTORS

As a part of the Mothers' Day program the Penn State Players will present Harry Dell's famous three-act farce comedy "The Family Upstairs" Saturday night at eight-thirty o'clock in the Schwab auditorium. Cast in the roles of the hero and heroine will be Arthur R. Cunningham '30, and Miss Anne Mellinger '31, respectively. Cunningham has played in the "Cat and the Canary" and Miss Mellinger in O'Neil's "Beyond the Horizon," the recent presentation of the Players.

The little girl character will be portrayed by Miss Anne Garber '29, who has already handled juvenile roles. Milton Young '30, who performed in "Merton of the Movies," "The Rear Car" and the "Yellow Triangle" and Edgar Sudd '29, who took part in the "Cat and the Canary" will also have a prominent share in the production.

The latest to appear in the Thespian production "Honey Little You" is Olive Osterhout '29, who played in the last showing of "The Family Upstairs" is again cast for a character part.

Seniors Take Cap and Gown Measurements

Seniors will have their last chance to be measured for caps and gowns at Montgomery's store tonight from seven until nine o'clock. Those who are not sure of graduating are requested to have measurements taken and if they fail to graduate no charge will be made.

With a ready will the crew of amputees with their crew of amputees, their activities raising a loud hubbub of clapping and buzzing.

Such activity was not of long duration, however. Perspiration began to trickle down the faces of the industrious, well intentioned purveyors of human knowledge and the force of the air blows and the power behind the saws became weaker and weaker, finally trailing off into nothing as the learned professors straightened up, nonchalantly regarding their blistered hands and rubbing strained backs.

1928 Valedictorian

Charles C. Berryhill

BERRYHILL TO GIVE 1928 VALEDICTORY

Committee Chooses President As Outstanding Member Of Senior Class

HOLDS MANY POSITIONS DURING COLLEGE CAREER

Charles C. Berryhill, in consideration of his scholastic standing and the services which he has consistently rendered to his class during his four years as a student at Penn State, has been chosen Valedictorian of the class of 1928. He will present the Valedictory address on Class Day, June eleventh.

The committee composed of Prof. John H. Frizzell, Harold B. Von Nide '28, and Philip A. McWilliams '28, selected Berryhill as the most outstanding person in the graduating group.

His Life
Berryhill was born at Hickory, Pennsylvania on April 21, 1907. He obtained his early education in the Hickory high school, and entered Penn State in the fall of 1921, enrolling in the pre-law course.

On Scholarship Day in his sophomore year, he received an Honor Society medal for attaining an average of more than 2.5 in all of his studies. He won second prize in the Sophomore extemporaneous speaking contest and was elected to the position of first-assistant boxing manager in his sophomore year. At the close of his fourth semester at the Nittany Valley institution he stood seven-

DR. PIKE WILL PRESENT FINAL PSYCHOLOGY TALK

Lecturer Discusses "Causes of Mental Diseases" Here Thursday Night

As the last of a series of lectures on the subject of abnormal psychology, Dr. Henry V. Pike, psychologist of the Danville State Hospital, will discuss "Causes of Mental Diseases" at seven o'clock Thursday night in Old Chapel.

As a sequel to this lecture, Doctor Pike will give a demonstration lecture Saturday at the Danville State Hospital. In this demonstration he plans to exhibit the various types of abnormality treated in his lectures and to summarize the ideas of his course. After the lecture he will show the group through the hospital, explaining the various methods of treatment and then through the shops where the patients are engaged in various forms of industrial work.

Arrangements have been made for people from here to attend this varied program which will start at nine-thirty o'clock in the morning. Motor car buses will leave Co-op corner, at five-thirty in the morning and return at five in the afternoon in time for the May Day exercises. Meals will be purchased on the trip. All who are interested should give their name to Miss Cameron, School of Education office in Old Main.

COMMITTEE SIGNS TWO ORCHESTRAS FOR MOVE-UP DAY

Bottoff and Buck Will Provide Continuous Music at Dance On May Nineteenth

ARRANGE DECORATIONS FOR INFORMAL AFFAIR

Consider Practicality of Hugo Out-of-Door Mass-Meeting Saturday Afternoon

Hobby Bottoff and Johnny Buck have both been signed for the Move-up Day Dance on Saturday, May nineteenth and will stage a battle for musical supremacy.

The two orchestras will alternate from opposite sides of the Armory, thus assuring the guests of continuous music from eight-thirty until twelve o'clock. All four classes are invited to attend. An advance ticket sale will be held for several days preceding the informal affair.

Arrangements are being made to offset the drabness of the Armory walls with conservative decorations. Evergreens and streamers are expected to lend the Armory a rustic appearance. Colored lights will also be used.

May Hold Mass Meeting

FRATERNITIES PLAN SONG TOURNAMENT

Will Compete for Loving Cup In Annual Radio Contest May Twenty-second

GROUPS MAY PRESENT TWO VOCAL SELECTIONS

The second annual Penn State fraternity radio singing contest will be held Tuesday night, May twenty-second, in Schwab auditorium under the auspices of the College public information department. All fraternities are eligible to enter this competition and an engraved loving cup will be presented to the winning fraternity.

The rules of the contest require that each fraternity competing shall select not more than twelve singers from among the group, in the active chapter members. All songs must be sung in four-part harmony, that is, first tenor, second tenor, baritone and bass singers, and the selections will be presented with pianoforte accompaniment.

Fraternity Songs Offered

Each contesting fraternity will offer two selections, one of which must be a fraternity song belonging specifically to the fraternity represented. The other presentation may be a song of any American college other than Penn State, or it may be another fraternity song. At the end of the program Penn State songs will be sung en masse by all the contestants.

Those in charge of the affair have selected for judges, Professor Robert E. Dengler, Carl E. Marquardt and Professor Leland S. Rhodes. The elements to be considered in judging will be tone, quality, diction, ensemble, interpretation and melody. The fraternity group receiving the largest number of points will be declared the winner.

Class Teams Will Vie For Track Supremacy

When the four classes hold their annual track competition tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock, class spirit will again be revived. All members of each class who have not scored points in a varsity track meet will be eligible to compete in this contest.

The program will include the regular fifteen I. C. A. A events which are used at most track meets. Upper-classmen will have an opportunity to win class numerals at this affair. In each event the first five men will receive points, the winner obtaining five counts. Coach Cartmell, of the varsity track team, usually is on the lookout for new material at these interclass events, and many varsity stars have been unearthed in this manner. Students can make entries by leaving their names at the Armory.

GLEE CLUB OFFERS VAUDEVILLE FRIDAY

Sixty Songsters Will Present Ten Acts in Program at Schwab Auditorium

ORCHESTRA AND VARSITY QUARTET TO ENTERTAIN

Mothers visiting Penn State this week-end will be entertained on Friday night by a program of vaudeville offered by the members of the Glee Club. Attempting this type of entertainment for the first time, the songsters will present ten acts, ranging from the light to the serious, Director Richard W. Grant announced.

The Glee Club, comprising its complete personnel of sixty men, will sing a number of special selections and Johnny Buck's orchestra will feature various popular songs in symphonic form. Accompanied by the orchestra and the varsity quartet, Miss Martha H. Gobrecht '30, and Edmund L. House '31, will play several marimba (Continued on last page)

Beaux Arts Dance Draws Architects To Annual Revelry

The secluded clan of paint and ink dabblers have again abandoned their aged implements and have climbed down from their lofty stools in Engineering F to promulgate plans for their annual jig.

Friday evening, Penn State's one and only Architect's Club will celebrate the passing of another year at its Beaux Arts Costume Ball. Verily the designers of skyscrapers and creators of Junior Prom and other dance posters will straighten out their cramped fingers and legs and make merry at the Delta Sigma Phi house.

But for one of these trusty brush wielders to appear at the dais in an civilian attire will be unpardonable. The fashion prescribed for the evening bans the customary "tux." Colorful costumes as worn by Hindu sepoy officers, cuirassiers, Greek hoplites, baroquebusiers, musqueteers, haricquins, dragons, hussars, peasants and buffoons will predominate. Spanish, German and French dress novelties will be in vogue while representatives of king's courts will also be in attendance with their jesters and clowns.

Mystic lighting effects and sumptuous decorations will provide the architect's revelry with a unique atmosphere, for the Beaux Arts adherents have a fondness for the unusual.

PAIR OF "CHISELERS" WIN FIRST PRIZE IN POVERTY DAY PARADE

Dressed in shredded shirts and trousers, animal skins, torn shoes, and a pair of goggles, two freshmen were always attendant upon freshmen at an event such as Poverty Day, and the continual flow of jokes and contentment thrown at them, the army of bold hoboes accompanied by their more flashy garbed companions decided in full strength upon Holmes field where they were marshalled into battle array at one-thirty o'clock.

From the appearance of the group as it moved down Pugh street and advanced into Allen by way of the Post Office a chance observer would have said that bums, freaks and tramps were holding a universal convention at State College. Continuing the parade past Co-op corner, the happy plebes wended their way to the New Beaver baseball diamond where they were judged and awarded prizes.

Clad in clothing entirely covered with "blue-books" on which were grades of 60 and 69 and carrying a small-gauge gun was Paul Patton. He was accompanied by Karl Kaiser, who was attired in burlap and carried a hammer and chisel. This team representing the grade "chiseler" was awarded first prize. A blindman, an ultra-modern "cake-eater" carrying a tennis racket, a cavalier astride a wooden horse, a growing wild man as well as several beautiful young girls were among the lucky plebes who were rewarded for their efforts.

BATSMEN CONQUER SYRACUSE NINE IN TWO-GAME SERIES

Combine Good Fielding with Fine Pitching To Defeat Hill Team, 6-0 and 7-6

YAN ATTA FANS ELEVEN MEN IN FIRST CONTEST

Orangemen Extend Second Tilt Two Innings As Roepke Replaces Haines

Combining safe hitting with excellent pitching, the Lion baseball nine captured both ends of a double header from the Syracuse batsmen at Archbold stadium, last Friday and Saturday. Van Atta, whitewashed the Orange, 6-0, in the first encounter but Haines and Roepke were forced to hurl eleven innings in the second game to win 7-6.

In running their string of consecutive victories to seven, the Nittany team proved too strong for its Orange foes, both defensively and at the bat. The banners of the Blue and White bunched seven hits, including two triples and a homer, in Friday's tilt, turning them all into runs. Although outstayed ten to nine in the second engagement, the Penn State combination connected safely with men on bases while the Hill sluggers failed in the pinches.

Lions Score Twice
The Belekians grabbed the lead in the second game of the first contest when Alfie Wolff singled to score on Singley's ringing triple to left Gene Lallie a moment later when Peck, Orange shortstop, booted Harrington's slow roller. The visitors increased their lead by scoring one run in each of the fifth and sixth innings and two in the seventh.

In the fifth session, Singley reached first on an error and circled the bases a few seconds later when Lefty Van Atta smashed a liner to right that counted for three bases. Dobbebar chucked up the fourth marker in the next frame when he walked, stole second and scored on an error. In the seventh Al Lesko connected with a fast one and drove it outside of the ballpark for a home run. George Delp was on base at the time.

Lefty Fans Eleven

GRANGERS WILL ENACT PLAY MAY EIGHTEENTH

Select Jack Larric's Three-Act Comedy, "The Easy Mark" As Presentation

Plans for the presentation of "The Easy Mark," a three act play by Jack Larric to be produced by the Penn State Grange, May eighteenth in the Schwab auditorium are progressing and leading parts have been assigned to the actors.

Centering about the guilelessness of a small town boy with city ideas the plot contains both humor and pathos. The part of Sam Crane, glibly country boy, is performed by Forrest Steele '30. Sam buys worthless oil lands from a faker contrary to the wishes of his fiancée, which is enacted by Miss Grace Green '28.

As the plot progresses, Sam's friend and engineer, portrayed by LaVene Saphire '30, advises him that the land is worthless. He is ordered however to continue drilling with the result that a gusher is produced and all appear to be wealthy. Sam sells the land back to the faker for a fabulous sum and the well turns out to be merely a gusher of salt.

Winners of I. F. Track Meet To Receive Cups

Two loving cups will be awarded to the high scoring fraternities in the Inter-fraternity track and field meet, to be held May sixteenth and seventeenth.

Fraternity men are eligible to enter any of the fifteen regulation I. C. A. events. One cup will be given to the high scoring fraternity in the track and field events and the other to the winner of the mile relay. The relay will be run on May seventeenth.
