THE CORNER

Notices

Because two weeks will be required to fill the order, the final sale of Lion Suits will be held tonight from seven until nine o'clock at Stark Brothers' store.

Absolutely final sale of Commencement programs and invitations will be held at Co-op tonight from seven until nine o'clock. No orders will be taken after tonight's sale.

Coach Jeffry has announced the following dates for the interclass soccer contests: this afternoon, juniors versus freshmen, Thursday, seniors versus sophomores, next Tuesday, seniors versus juniors, next Thursday freshmen versus sophomores.

A meeting of the Electrical Engineering Society will be held tomorrow night at seven-forty-five o'clock in Room 200 Engineering D. A report will be given on the Baltimore Convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the society will elect officers for next year.

Mt. Washington Team Conquers Lion Twelve

(Continued from first page) fought valiantly on the defense, the whirlwind offense of the victors, led by Fenny Baker, former Maryland luminary, registered a trio of counters in the closing minutes of the half. Johnny Knapp and Malcolm Keech Mount Washington strategists, kept the speed of the Blue and Gray machine up to scratch in the second half but the Lion forces rallied and recaptured their first tally when McEwen pushed the ball through a mass of players scrumming in front of the net.

The initial Nittany score was preceded by Fenny Baker's third counter, a beautiful scoop shot. Baker repeated the feat a few minutes later on a pass from Jack Turnbull, brother of Doug and also a former Hopkins ace. Baltimore's final tally was an individual gem on the part of Jack Turnbull, who dodged past the defense to register a close-up leave.

Belfield Scores Sandwiched between these two scores, Captain Johnny Belfield tried to an open position and thrust the ball right through the netting. Johnny's clever stickwork and elusive tactics stood out in the Penn State defeat and his work attracted the attention of the Baltimore sports writers. Dunc Kiefer performed notably as goalie, handling the wicked heaves of the Hillmen with adroit skill. At the outset of the fray, the Baltimore twelve centered its attack on Dunc and he played in the ease, stopping many accurate goal tosses by dexterous use of his racket. Fellows and Gromie formed the bulk of the defense, holding the inexperienced attackers together in crucial stages of the encounter. The Lions will meet a strong Swathmore twelve on New Beaver field Saturday afternoon.

Student Officers of R. O. T. C. Unit Corps Will Train at Camps

Sixty-four cadet officers of the R. O. T. C. at Penn State will attend summer camps this year from June fifteenth to July twenty-sixth. Thirty students taking the advanced infantry course will go to Camp Leonard Wood, Md., while thirty-two advanced engineer cadets will be at Fort Humphries, Va. One student officer will gain experience at the U. S. O. T. C. signal camp, Camp Vail, N. J., and still another will see service at the Plattsburg Barracks.

Student officers from Georgetown, Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland, Western Maryland, Drexel, Gettysburg, Lafayette, Lehigh, Pennsylvania Military College, Penn State, Penn., and Virginia Military Institute will attend the official R. O. T. C. infantry camp for the third corps area, Camp Leonard Wood, Md. At the engineers' camp for the third corps area, Fort Humphries, Va., will be cadet officers from John Hopkins, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, Virginia Agriculture and Mining School, Virginia Military Institute and the University of West Virginia.

AG STUDENT OFFICERS PLAN SENIOR BANQUET

Arrangements are under way for the annual Ag Senior Banquet to be held at the University Club Wednesday night, May sixteenth. This year's get-together is conducted by the Ag Student Council and is to be one of the many held before graduation. Among the speakers will be President Ralph D. Hetzel, Dean Ralph L. Watts and Mr. F. A. McClure, from the Canton Christian college, who is visiting Penn State for a few weeks. Mr. McClure will also speak at an Ag Mass Meeting which will be held soon.

Baseball Nine Defeats Syracuse in Two Games

seven hits and striking out eleven batters. Time and again the Hillmen crowded the bases only to be stranded by Lefty's effective pitching. Lambert, Orange centerfielder, tripled to open the seventh but Syracuse's opportunity to break into the score column was short-lived, as he was caught at the plate on the next play.

Johnny Roepke came to Penn State's rescue in the second game when Syracuse dove Ken Haines from the mound with none out in the ninth, scoring four runs and sending the game into extra innings. Johnny stemmed the tide and held the Hillmen sluggers in check for the rest of the battle. The former grad luminary retired three men on strikes during the innings he pitched.

Take Lead In First

The Centre County combination scored three runs in the opening inning to capture the lead; but Mimer, Syracuse pitcher, steadied and poor support was largely responsible for his downfall. Langen and Al Lesko talked twice in the ninth by means of hits and errors by the Hill infield. The third Lion run, however, was tallied in the third when Harris Kent, hard-hitting shortstop, slashed a line drive to center that netted him four bases.

Meanwhile Syracuse was pecking away at Haines' offerings and managed to score once in each of the second and fifth frames. Coming into the last half of the ninth with the count six to two, the Orange sluggers opened up on the Nittany right-hander with a barrage of base blows that tied the score at six all. Coach Bezddek rushed Roepke into the box and further damage was prevented. Up until this session Haines had fanned ten Syracuseans.

Lesko Scores Winning Run

Neither team was able to score in the tenth inning although an Orange batter reached first base on a hit. Roepke pulled himself together, however, and checked a budding rally, retiring the next two batters on slow grounders to the infield.

Al Lesko scored what proved to be the winning run in the first half of the eleventh inning when he smashed a hot single to center, which went through Lambert's legs. The side was retired without further scoring, however. Roepke moved down the Orange batters in their half of the session and the Lions walked off the field with their seventh straight victory.

TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS W. AND L. COURTMEN, 4-3

Butler, Metzner Capture Singles Contests—Lions Win Both Doubles Matches

In the second court engagement of the season, the Penn State tennis team won a close victory from the Washington and Lee racqueters Thursday afternoon on the College courts. The Lions walked away with both double matches but the visitors had the advantage in the singles contests.

The outstanding player of the afternoon was Butler, Penn State's first singles man, who had little difficulty disposing of Thomas from the losers' aggregation. Paired with Captain Bair, Butler again stared when the Nittany duo ran through the Washington and Lee first doubles team by the score of 6-0, 6-1. The other doubles encounter was won for Penn State by Hunkel and Metzner from Thomas and Goch with a 6-3, 6-1 score.

Washington and Lee emerged triumphant in three of the singles matches with Miller winning from Hinkel, 7-5, 6-4, Thomas from Bari, 6-0, 6-2 and Turk from Wilson by the score of 6-1, 4-6, 6-3. Metzner and Butler won from Goch and Jacobs by the count of 6-0, 4-6, 6-3, and 7-5, 6-2, respectively.

This was the first defeat encountered by the southern tennis aggregation while on their extensive tour. Previously they had defeated Catholic University, George Washington University and John-Hopkins University in successive matches. The College team will meet the Carnegie Tech squad Saturday on the courts here. The same men that played in the previous matches will probably represent Penn State in this engagement.

Group Names Berryhill Commencement Orator

Chosen La Vie Editor The same year Berryhill was elected editor-in-chief of the 1928 La Vie and in his junior year issued an annual that took its place among the best collegiate year books in the United States. A copy of the La Vie was sent to Minnesota for national competition.

He became a member of the Sphinx, honorary upperclass booster society, and of Pi Lambda Sigma, honorary pre-legal fraternity, in his junior year.

He was elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, and his next move was to aspire to the presidency of the senior class. Election returns proclaimed him chief executive of the 1928 group. Soon after the election he became president of Student Council and of the Student Board. He was elevated to a post on the Board of Athletic Control and was appointed to the Bond Issue committee.

Louise Carnegie Scholarship Berryhill was granted the Louise Carnegie scholarship and applied, for Rhodes scholarship. He became a member of the Interfraternity Council, at the same time being president of his social fraternity, Delta Sigma Phi. Besides having the honor of Valedictorian placed upon him, the young man from Hickory was chosen as first honor, or spoon man, for the Class Day exercises in June. After leaving Penn State Berryhill intends to take graduate work at the University of Chicago or at Yale. He will specialize in the field of theology.

Switches Back to Favorite Tobacco

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 26, 1926 Messrs Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va. Dear Sirs: Just a confession and an appreciation. A number of years ago I was a user of your Edgeworth smoking tobacco. But like some others, perhaps, I was led by alluring advertisements to change. A few days ago I went into a drug store to get some tobacco, and on the case was the familiar can of Edgeworth. I bought it and since then I have enjoyed old-time comfort. So my confession is that I made a mistake in changing to other brands, and my appreciation is such that Edgeworth will be my Smoke Pal while life lasts, which may not be long, for I have passed my "three score years and ten."
