LION GOLFERS OVERCOME GEORGE WASHINGTON, 4-2

Gain Initial Victory of Season From Southern Invaders In Match Saturday

Displaying a marked improvement over the form shown in last week's encounters, the Penn State golf team defeated a much-heralded George Washington quartet, winning four and giving their opponents two of the matches played Saturday afternoon on the College links.

John Shorey, of the visiting linksmen, was probably the outstanding golfer of the afternoon. He showed exceptional form in defeating Earl Hewitt, who had been undefeated this season by a score of 3 and 2. Shorey and Fritchman of the Lion quartet tied for the low medal score by shooting the course in seventy-seven strokes. Fritchman won easily from Alexander of the Hatchet team by the safe margin of 4 and 3.

Captain Jim Bunting of the Nittany four, won the first match of the afternoon by a score of 2 and 1 from Chaile Cole, former Missouri Valley champion. Panaccio, of Penn State, conquered Julian Heron, of the southern aggregation, in the other dual contest by the count of 3 and 2.

The two teams split even in the best ball matches. Shorey and Cole of the visitors overcame the Penn State combination of Bunting and Hewitt one up, while Panaccio and Fritchman continued their winning streak by taking over Alexander and Heron, of the George Washington team, by the large margin of 4 and 3.

The College golfers will journey to Lock Haven Saturday to encounter the Clinton County Country Club links team. The same team that played in the three previous contests this season will probably make the trip.

HONORARY JOURNALISTS HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION

Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, elected officers for the ensuing year at a meeting Thursday night. William S. Turner '29, business manager of the Collegian, was selected to occupy the presidential chair while J. Howard Reiff '29, advertising manager of the Collegian, was chosen vice-president.

Paul C. McConaughy '29, circulation manager of the Collegian, was elected treasurer of the honorary society, while Harry P. Mileham '29, managing editor of the Collegian, was made secretary of the organization.

REGARDING RECENT CLASS ELECTIONS

After a thorough investigation and a recount of the ballots cast in the recent class elections, the Election Committee and the Check-up Committee take this opportunity to announce that any display of unfair tactics was practically negligible. All rumors; charging ballot stuffing, were not founded on fact and therefore absolutely false.

The two committees realize that, although there is a high degree of honesty in the elections, there are openings for those who desire to practice unfair tactics. This opportunity, however, is not sufficient to prevent the popular candidates from being elected to the positions of high campus responsibility that they are qualified to hold.

It is regarded as extremely unfortunate that there are students at Penn State who have not learned the valuable art of losing in a graceful and sportsmanlike manner. The Election Committee and the Check-up Committee hasten to extend sympathy to the winning candidates for any embarrassment that the untrue rumors may have caused them.—The Committee on Elections.

Reverend Metzger Advises Honesty in Life's Occupations

"Seek and ye shall find. Ask and it shall be given unto you," was the advice of Dr. Fraser Metzger, former Penn State chaplain, to those attending the Mothers' Day services Sunday morning in Schwab auditorium.

Using this Scriptural selection as the theme of his sermon, Dr. Metzger declared that unlimited possibilities await the man or woman who has the courage to venture in quest of something, no matter what it may be. "Those brave souls that seek constantly for truth and true religion will surely realize a consummation of their hopes, according to the Rutgers Dean.

"And above all, to thine own self be true, and thou canst not then be false to any man," the advice of Polonius to Laertes, chosen from Shakespeare's "Hamlet," was offered to the chapel-goers by Doctor Metzger as an infallible course to pursue in life.

Numerous Industries Approve New Methods Of Foreman Training

Loaded nearly to capacity with the amount of work being done, the foreman training course offered by the engineering extension department is rapidly growing in popularity, according to reports given out by the officials.

Since the course was inaugurated in 1922 the number of companies enrolled in the course has reached the total of one hundred five. The growing demand for this method of training was illustrated last year when forty companies inaugurated the course in their plants.

Many different types of industry have adopted the courses offered. Concerns interested in the production of metals, glass, rubber, clay products, cement and numerous other individual types of manufacture are numbered among these.

Old Main Bell will be on sale this week at the town bookstores, Robert M. Atkinson, editor-in-chief of the College literary magazine announces. The magazine offers a wide variety of literary material to the readers. Mr. Harold E. Dickson of the art department presents an article of explanation of the modern art tendencies as characterized by the recent exhibition held in Old Main by Pi Gamma Alpha, honorary art fraternity.

The centenary anniversary of the birth of Dr. Evan Pugh, Penn State's first president, is commemorated by "The Literary Works of Dr. Evan Pugh," written by Dr. Edwin W. Runkle.

Freshmen customs find a place in the discussion in this issue of the magazine with interest being centered on their possible revision. "White Heat," a play by Captain Davis Jones of the military department, a translation by Philip Shelley '29, from several well-known German authors, and some short stories, poems, and essays complete the subject matter of this year's final issue of the Old Main Bell.

CARNEGIE TECH ROUTS NITTANY RACQUETEERS

Metzner Scores Lone Victory In Singles Match As Tartans Win, 5-1

Lacking power to resist the swift blows of accurate shots of the Carnegie Tech courtmen, the Penn State tennis team went down to defeat at the hands of the invading Tartans on the College courts Saturday afternoon, winning only one of the five matches that were played.

Schmidt, of Carnegie Tech, who displayed a hitting-power which demoralized the Lion racquetuers, was the mainstay of the visiting team. He defeated Captain Barr of the College team 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 in the first singles encounter, and, paired with Glaser, found little trouble disposing of Butler and Barr of Penn State, 6-4, 6-3 in the first doubles match.

Metzner, who was the only Penn State player to score a win, was the most consistent and dependable man in the Lions' court aggregation. The bespectacled racquet wielder came through with a victory over Carpenter from the Tartan team by a count of 3-6, 6-4, 9-7. Butler, although playing a steady game and winning the first set, succumbed to the terrific onslaught of shots delivered by Hooper of the Engineers, by the count of 2-6, 6-0, 6-1. The other doubles match was won by Kambach and Carpenter of Tech from Metzner and Hinkel 6-3, 7-5 in a close encounter.

PENN STATE FRESHMEN SWAMP PITT CUBS, 96-39

Fullerton Leads Point-Scoring Activities with Three First Places

Coach Cartmell's well-trained varsity and freshman track and field performers, surpassing all expectations, defeated the University of Pittsburgh's varsity and yearling cindermen by decisive scores of 80-55 and 96-39, respectively, Saturday afternoon on New Beaver Field. Until Saturday Pitt had remained undefeated in any varsity contest this year, with the exception of the Leland Stanford football game.

Gibby Welch, Panther weight man and All-America halfback, Ken Wibecan, Smoky City sprinter, and Al Bates, Penn State intercollegiate broad-jump champion were the outstanding scorers of the meet. Welch accounted for three firsts and one second place, while Wibecan placed first in three events. Bates added thirteen points in the half, one and two mile contests by gaining the first three places in each event. Offenhausser, (Continued on second page)

COUNCIL TO VOTE ON ELECTION RULE

Committee Devises System for Prevention of Dishonesty In Class Balloting

PLANS ENFORCEMENT OF REGULATIONS IN FUTURE

As has been the custom in previous years the chairman of this year's election committee has drawn up a new code which will enforce more strictly the existing rules. Student Council will consider the proposed system tonight.

According to Walter J. Gosman '28, chairman of the committee, if changes advocated by the policy on adopted elections will be made practically foolproof. Under the new ruling, lists of all eligible voters will be obtained from the Registrar's office as the present method of using the Student Directory has been found unsatisfactory.

The second division of the proposed code states that all protests must be given immediately to the election committee in order to avoid any misunderstanding. The last clause declares that the present ruling regarding protesting in the vicinity of a ball box shall be more strictly enforced.

Horticulturists Seek "Her Majesty" As Fair Companion in Mock Betrothal

Buxom flower girls, husky Maypole dancers, stentorian heralds and even a court jester will frolic in mock-medieval manner at the annual spring get-together of students and faculty members of the horticulture department to be held Thursday evening in the department gardens.

Over the assemblage, a May Queen, elected by student vote from members of the horticulture department faculty, will reign with complete court regalia. The coronation and introduction of "Her Majesty" by Dr. Stevenson W. Fletcher, head of the department, will mark the opening of the buxome fate. Then the queen and court attendants, enthroned on a movable dais drawn by the Four Horsemen, Blue-Book, Quiz, Practicum and Semina,

Winners of these events will be given prizes provided by the military department.

LACROSSEMEN BOW TO GARNET TWELVE

Swarthmore Team Runs Rampant In First Half To Register Surprising 8-5 Win

COACH PAUL'S DEFENSE TOPPLES UNDER ATTACK

Penn State's lacrosse team cracked wide open in the first half of Saturday's combat with Swarthmore on New Beaver field and the Garnet twelve registered eight counters before Coach Paul's defense checked the mad rampage of the invaders. The damage had been done, however, and a Lion rally in the second session fell three goals short of victory, 8-5.

Before three minutes of the opening period elapsed, the visitors had tallied a trio of counters through the concentrated efforts of Captain Ellis Bishop, Thompson and Bush. Then the Nittany defense tightened, holding the heavy-scoring Garnet machine in check for ten minutes. Bishop and Thompson broke loose again and netted two shots from the crease while the goal was unprotected. Haviland followed a moment later with another close-up leave.

Torok Registers

Penn State's initial score was made by Torok sixteen minutes after the opening of the disastrous game. Ted's tally was a long shot from the side of the field. Other Lion scoring attempts were frustrated by McVaugh's devious use of the lacquet in front of the net. The Garnet goalie blocked every offensive drive of the Nittany stickmen that reached scoring position.

The two twelves battled on even terms until a few minutes before the close of the half when Captain Bishop and Thompson added two more tallies to the total, the first period ending with the visiting stickwielders in the van, eight goals to one.

Lion Comeback

Rallying magnificently in the second session, a determined Lion defense held the invading lacrosseurs at bay while Coach Paul's scoring machine began to function. Flushing a snappy passing offense, the Nittany twelve started on a scoring spree that resulted in a trio of counters by Ted Torok and a lone tally by Carlson. (Continued on last page)

SOPHOMORE STICKMEN OVERCOME PLEBES, 9-4

Talking nine points to their opponents' four, the sophomore lacrosseurs overcame the freshman stickwielders in a fast battle Friday afternoon to win the first game of a three-game series between the underclasses. The next game will be played on Old Beaver field Friday.

Starting for the second-year men were Weber and Green while Stephany and Lewis were the luminaries for the plebes. This premier contest was close throughout, the yealings scoring twice before they were headed off by the sophomores.

FRATERNAL GROUP PLANS NEW CODE

Intra-Mural Council To Vote on Open Rushing System at Meeting Thursday

METHOD PERMITS EARLY PLEDGING OF FRESHMEN

Following the action of the Penn State Interfraternity Council in establishing a new rushing code instituting a closed rushing period to go into effect next fall, the Intra-Mural Council, Penn State's governing body for the local fraternities, is planning to establish open rushing as far as the local fraternities are concerned. Members of the legislative organization will vote on this issue Thursday night.

Advocate Early Rushing

This proposed code of the Intra-Mural Council differs in many respects from the rushing rulings for next fall which were adopted by the Interfraternity Council. The local fraternities would start rushing on the opening day of Freshman Week while the national fraternities advocate in their requirements the beginning of rushing on the Saturday following the beginning of Freshman Week. Other rulings in the proposed code are that no fraternity shall call upon a freshman when he is a guest of another fraternity and that no freshman who has broken a pledge may have any relations whatsoever with another fraternity within a period of two months.

The Intra-Mural Council came to the decision to advocate an open rushing. (Continued on third page)

Tribunal Punishes Fifteen Violators Of Plebe Customs

Fifteen wayward Freshmen, imbued with a sense of recklessness occasioned by the approach of Move-up Day, were rudely awakened by summons to appear before the Student Tribunal meeting last Wednesday night.

Various penalties were meted out to the offenders. Four of the class of 1931 were found guilty of being unable to resist the charms of the co-eds and, as a result, harruits will be administered to them. Another, who believed the protection afforded by a simple drink too scanty and donned a cap for an afternoon, will wear a hat of feminine appearance. Others will carry signs describing their offenses.

Five of the awe-inspired plebes were dismissed, while penalties were thrust upon the remaining ten. The final meeting of the judiciary body will be held this week.

Fraternity Ball Clubs Continue Games Today

Completing the first round of the Interfraternity baseball tournament Thursday afternoon, Acacia defeated Tau Sigma Phi nine to four, Chi Upsilon bowed to Theta Xi by a seven to five count, Theta Upsilon Omega shut out Pi Kappa Alpha five to none and Lambda Chi Alpha won from Kappa Delta Rho seven to six.

This evening's schedule calls for games between Phi Kappa Psi and Omega Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Chi Rho. Chi Phi will play Alpha Chi Sigma and Delta Pi will meet the Theta Chi team. At the same time Friends Union will oppose Sigma Phi Sigma and Sigma Nu will meet Alpha Gamma Rho. Tau Kappa Epsilon will encounter Pi Kappa Phi while Acacia will engage the Theta Upsilon Omega batsmen Wednesday.

Anxious to maintain its excellent record by increasing its consecutive victories to eleven, the Penn State baseball squad, headed by Coach Hugo Bezdek, will depart today on its second eastern jaunt of the year, meeting the Pennsylvania, Princeton and Holy Cross nine on their respective fields tomorrow, Thursday and Saturday. The Lions defeated Albright, 10-5, last Saturday on New Beaver field.

Encouraged by their victory Saturday, the Nittany batsmen are confident of overcoming the Penn sluggers and of wreaking vengeance for the defeat administered in an extra-inning encounter last year. The Red and Blue, although defeated by Duke, Yale and Princeton, boasts a formidable combination that will extend the visitors to the limit.

Strong Line-Up

The Quakers, led by their star hurler, Sanford, form a dangerous opponent. Coach Dr. Caris has developed a fine defensive infield composed of Reinhalter at first, Wilner at the key-stone sack, Cole at short and A. Walker at the hot corner. Ethel Cornell of Matthews will assume the backstop position.

The Pennsylvania coach will pit Foster Sanford against the Penn State batsmen, holding Hook Walker and Johnny Shober in reserve. Deutche, Trudeau and McDonald will receive first call for the outfield positions while Thomas, Callahan, Tashjan and Slaughter will perform utility roles.

Engage Princeton Thursday

Following the Penn tilt, the Lion squad will move over to Princeton, New Jersey, where it will encounter the representatives of Princeton university. Ever feared as a baseball opponent, the Tigers have an unusually powerful nine this season. Victories have been registered over Pennsylvania, Duke, Rutgers and (Continued on last page)

GRANGE DRAMATISTS OFFER COMEDY FRIDAY

Advance Ticket Sale for "The Easy Mark" Opens Today At Whitey Musser's

Plans for the Penn State Grange's production "The Easy Mark," a three-act comedy by Jack Lurie to be shown in the Schwab auditorium Friday night have been completed, and the advance ticket sale will open today at Whitey Musser's.

The plot of the play deals with the simplicity of a small town boy who, having big city ideas, buys worthless oil land from a pair of knaves. In the series of events which follow a gusher is struck on the land and everyone is happy but the knaves. The latter buy the land back at an enormous price only to discover that the gusher was one of salt.

Comedy Roles

Furnishing the humor of the play, Miss Lois Remley '28, and LaCeyne Saphore '30, are cast as two country lovers. Miss Remley characterizes an unsophisticated country girl deeply in love with a country swain, Saphore, who is the essence of bashfulness.

The outstanding character acting will be presented by Miss Janet Burns '30, in the role of a troubled mother faced with the problem of raising her children properly. Kenneth Hood and Martin Shmiedelcker '30, are the villains of the play, and it is they who foist the worthless oil stock on the country lad. Miss Grace Greer '31, and Forrest Steele '30, will act the leading roles.
