WHAT'S THE USE?

What's the use of a discussion group? It is true that the Freshmen have had rules explained to them many times before—too many times, some of them say. It is true that more competent people than the upperclass girls leading the group have tried to make them think about what they expect to get out of college and other such topics. Because such subjects bear repetition, might be answered. This may be true but the real significance lies in the fact in these discussions the new girls must take the initiative. Instead of being told the possibilities of a college course they are asked to decide what they themselves want from the next four years, now that they have been at Penn State long enough to know something about it. Aside from the fact that learning to be one of a group is a necessary part of the freshman's education, the discussion group is valuable as the freshman girl's first chance to take the lead. How much of an opportunity it is depends on what each girl wants to make it.

Penn State Club May Build Community Home

 bers of the group appears to be equally divided. One reason for the apparent disfavor, according to Ware I. Fiedler, '29, president of the club, is that the project has not been explained fully to the group.
 Chub President Backs Project
 "I feel that the materialization of such a plan will be a great step forward," stated President Fiedler emphatically. "It will give the non-fraternity man a clearer view of the social life of the College, and will also enable him to become better acquainted with Penn State Club members as well as other non-fraternity men. I think the social life of the College is very important and that this opportunity to promote it among those who do not belong to fraternities should not be disregarded. I hope that as many non-fraternity men as possible from all four classes will attend the meeting Monday night so that a decision may be reached as soon as possible."
 The plans, as compiled by the Student Council, set aside the first and second floor of the dwelling for use of the group. The real estate dealer will take complete charge of the preparation and maintenance of the club house.
 House To Be Refurnished
 The local agent has agreed to furnish light, heat and water for the recreation center, which will be open all during the College year, in return for the rent. He will also purchase new club room furniture for both floors.
 Method of Finance
 Each person, before being admitted to the rights and privileges of the club house, will be required to pay a small sum of money in advance. This sum will include dues for the entire year and will vary proportionately to the number of men admitted to the organization.

Pipe Convert Ends Agonizing Tobacco Hunt

New York, N. Y., June 30, 1926
 Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va., Gentlemen:
 I started smoking on cigarettes, but after meeting a young lady for whom I promptly switched to one.
 Then my agony began. I tried one brand of tobacco after another, always working on the theory that the more you paid for tobacco, the better it would be.
 I tried imported special mixtures I paid as much as fifty cents an ounce. All to no avail.
 Then came the day I tried Edgeworth. It was at a ball game. I had run short of the certain brand I was smoking, and a casual acquaintance offered me a pipeful from his pouch. I imagine my delight when after the first few puffs I did not feel the old familiar bite. I puffed on, inhaling the delightful aroma, and oh, boy! It was sweet right down to the bottom.
 Nothing has separated me from my pipe, or my pipe from Edgeworth, since then.
 Yours very truly,
 (signed) David Freedman, Jr.

W.S.G.A. Holds First Mass Meeting of Year

A special W. S. G. A. mass meeting was held in the Auditorium last Monday night for the two-fold purpose of introducing to the Freshmen and new students the Student Government officers, and of reminding all the girls of the rules and regulations which they are expected to observe.
 Miss Ray, Miss Hault and Miss Frank, the Assistant Dean gave short talks, and Helen Faust '30, vice-president of the W. S. G. A., briefly summarized Student Government rules.
 The Town Girl's Senator, Elizabeth Markle '29, was installed by Helen Boyle '29, Student Government president, and the other members of the senate were introduced to the student body. Mildred Wentz '31 and Evelyn Starn '29 led the cheers and songs of the evening.

 As an innovation and possible future tradition, paddles will be sold this year by the Stunt Night Committee for a nominal cost and must be purchased by young men participants, according to the sophomore class president. Those who fail to procure the coveted paddle will be duly punished, it is stated by the committee. Freshmen may purchase their wooden slabs in Old Main during Monday and Tuesday.

less with his side-stepping, dodging and whirling tactics. When he strikes the line at his terrific pace, running with head down and knees high he can usually be counted upon for several yards.

Laschus, Clarion high school led in another hard bucking backfield man. His powerful line thrusts weakened the Varsity substitute defense considerably, while he proved equally effective in running interference. Crust and Biogdon ate gradually developing into effective half back material and already point to varsity berths. Loh, Thomas and Shane have been alternating at quarterback, although the first two men have received the greater number of calls to that post during the last few scrimmaging sessions. Pfeifer, promising fullback from New Kensington high, was prevented from taking an active part in the workouts this week because of an injury to his nose during the scrimmage on Saturday.

Good Linemen
 The freshman line has also shown great signs of improvement. Every man has been taught to carry out his part of each play in the most effective manner. Red Darragh has imitated in the guards, tackles and centers the proper method of charging, tackling, blocking, running interference, while Al Lesko is instructing his proteges, the ends, in catching passes, running and eluding interference as well as getting down the field under punts.

Bauman of Atlantic City and Engel of Williamsport appear to be the greatest competitors for the center position. Both are accurate passers, good tacklers and effective on the offense. It is a question as to which one will receive the varsity berth. Competition for the guard posts lies among Gillard, Hible, Descandas, Thix, and Yabloski, who have also stepped into the limelight during the scrimmages with the varsity sub team. Stoops, Matthews and Winstead are staging a merry scrap for the wing posts.
 Two weeks from tomorrow the yearling gridmen will have their initial taste of intercollegiate competition as members of a Penn State team when they meet the formidable

Cartmell Points for Cross Country Crown

 Rochester, N. Y., the home town of Bill Cox, was delayed for several days in returning to College, he finally joined the ranks of the Nittany hill and dale team. Nichol, another freshman runner, did not return this year.
 In all, four members of the 1927 varsity in addition to Cox are practicing daily under the tutelage of Coach Cartmell. Outstanding is George Offenhauser who crossed the finishing line in seventh place in the last two intercollegiate meets. Another of Nate's fast regulars is Louis Lee who placed sixth in the Van Courtlandt contest last year. Pettit and Bass complete the senior membership of the squad. Ratcliff is the only junior who will see action with the harriers.
 Other Plebe Harriers
 In addition to Detwiler and Reikers, other distance men of last year's freshman array will bolster the Lion team. Chuck Messinger, Ralph Robinson and Williams will compete for positions to represent the Blue and White.
 Two dual meets, one with Syracuse here on October twenty-seventh, another with Pitt at Pittsburgh November tenth, and the ICA contest at Van Courtlandt Park, New York City, November twenty-sixth comprise the list of collegiate events awaiting the Penn State hill and dale men this year.

Freshmen Report
 Aspirants for this season's freshman team have been reporting steadily throughout the week and a number already have passed over the College course. Although he has not as yet had much chance to evaluate the ability of the newcomers, the coach feels certain that promising material will crop out from among the plebes.

The plebes will have their first taste of college competition when they accompany the varsity to Pittsburgh for a meet with the Pitt yearlings November tenth. They will also participate in the ICA meet at New York November twenty-sixth.
 November first has been set aside for the annual freshman-sophomore meet while an inter-class meet is scheduled for November twentieth. There will be a fifteen-event freshman track meet next Friday afternoon at four-fifteen o'clock.

 In all probability Doctor Comfort will explain the work which "Daddy" Cross '07, for twenty years Penn State's representative at the university, has accomplished as director of that school of agriculture.
 This service will be the one held every year since 1911 at which the students pledge their loyalty to the work in China.
