ALUMNUS EXTENDS BOND ISSUE DRIVE TO PHILADELPHIA

Robert B. Voskamp '25, To Open Campaign Headquarters at 247 Juniper Street

QUAKER CITY PRESENTS FAVORABLE SENTIMENT

Official of Student Committee Asks Undergraduate Aid For Amendment

Philadelphia alumni and friends of the College residing in the Quaker City will be given a chance to obtain first-hand information concerning the Bond Issue, and to volunteer their services as workers for Amendment No. 2, when Robert B. Voskamp establishes an office at 247 South Juniper street, Philadelphia, as a representative of Edward K. Hibshman, director of the Bond Issue campaign. The office will open October 18.

Mr. Voskamp was graduated from Penn State in the class of 1925. While a student he wrote "Wooden Shoes" and "The Magazine Cover Girl," musical shows produced by the Theban Club. He has been working in the Public Information office, writing news releases pertaining to the Bond Issue since September 1.

Important Section Campaign officials believe that Philadelphia is a most important link in the chain of favorable sentiment that is forming rapidly over the State. Provision, therefore, has been made for a sub-office at 247 South Juniper street, with Mr. Voskamp in charge.

It is hoped that all Philadelphia residents, interested in the future of Penn State, will co-operate with Mr. Hibshman's representative in order to arouse Philadelphia voters to a realization of the lack of educational facilities offered to youth of the State by the College. Voskamp declared yesterday that he hopes Philadelphiaans will feel free to get in touch with his office, since in no other way can new campaign workers be enlisted.

Request Student Aid Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, and campaign headquarters manager, urged yesterday that Penn State students who live in Philadelphia should not fail to mention the establishment of the home-town campaign office when writing to their parents and friends.

"Every student must make a serious effort to acquaint the Fathers' Day visitors with Penn State," the dean continued. "But a mere acquaintance is not enough. An understanding of the extent of Penn State's educational limitations is essential to the enlistment of every College guest as a Bond Issue worker."

A big boost for the campaign came Wednesday when the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women passed a resolution urging women voters to support Amendment No. 2.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Voskamp will have the close co-operation of Edward N. Sullivan, former secretary of the Alumni Association, and C. C. Hildebrand, president of Penn State Alumni Club of Philadelphia. Mr. Sullivan is planning to open a private business there within the next few weeks. The Penn State Alumni Club of Philadelphia, will co-operate in the Philadelphia drive.

Band To Broadcast Radio station, WIP of Philadelphia, will devote from 6:30 until 7 o'clock next Friday night to a Penn State program as a pre-feature of the Penn game. At this time President Ralph D. Hetzel may broadcast a talk on the Bond Issue.

Under the leadership of Archibald M. Holmes '30, the student Bond Issue committee met early this week, and organized for the final lap of the drive. In the near future this group will inform students as to the best plan whereby undergraduate effort may be the most efficient.

Youth and Old Age Match Wits in Gridiron Struggle

Bucknell Mentor Leads Veteran Bezdek in Mental Battle

The beacon lights of the Eastern football world are trained on the Lion lair today as the principals in tomorrow's bitter gridiron feud await the interminable clash of youth and old age.

Renewal of football relations last fall between Penn State and her neighboring rival, Bucknell, resulted in a Bison triumph for the first time in twenty-eight years. The victory also resulted in recognition of Carl Snavely, erstwhile Bellefonte Academy coach, as the coming football strategist of the East.

The gray-haired Nittany mentor had received a fatal blow. His charges had fallen before the gridiron strategy of this youthful Master Mind.

Football strategists hailed the victory as another triumph of new blood. Bucknell feted her youthful hero; the Lion yoke. The Penn State monarchy was at an end.

Carl Snavely is one up on the veteran Hugo Bezdek. Tomorrow afternoon the wily strategists will match wits once again in what is regarded as the football classic of the East.

Before taking command at the Lewisburg institution last fall, Snavely produced three strong eleven's at Bellefonte Academy. The 1926 machine won the preparatory school championship.

Accepting the recommendation of the College administrators' council, the undergraduate legislators also approved a plan whereby classes will be suspended Saturday, October 20, for the Pennsylvania game, instead of Alumni Homecoming Day.

Arthur R. Cunningham Fills "Poor Nut" Role As the second event on the program for the annual Dads' Day celebration, the Penn State Players will present "The Poor Nut" in Schwab auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

"U" Club Savants Dodge Dishes As Waiter Stumbles Miscalculation of the difference between the length of a tray and the distance separating two chairs brought embarrassment to the waiter, who relaxed nervously to a number of relaxing professors in the dining room of the University club Tuesday night.

It was slightly before dinner was served that a hurrying waiter with his tray before him made a perfect contact between the opposite ends of his tray and two occupied chairs. The rising dust obscured the pantomime of one professor chomping on his chop, while the other reviled himself with a sip of nourishing Creamery milk.

Untried Yearlings Face Bison Combination At 1 O'clock

HERMANN SHIFTS BACKS FOR OPENING ENCOUNTER

Eleven scappy and hitherto untried Lion-cubs are on edge for their initial gridiron battle with the formidable Bucknell freshman warriors at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on New Beaver field.

An hour of scrimmage with Coach Bezdek's first team Tuesday afternoon wound up the intensive drills for the plebes before the Bison tilt.

Engel will start the game at center with Hibbel and Descindas in the guard positions. Hamilton and Gilbard will occupy the tackle berths while Turner and Walker will pair off at ends.

Crust will take Pfeifer's place at fullback with Billy Lohr calling signals. Biehm and Laschis, Dutch's triple-threat men, will take up their halfback duties.

Manlius Defeats Bisons As the opening game of the season for the Bucknell plebes Coach Mussler's gridmen received a 13 to 0 setback at the hands of Manlius Military academy Saturday on a foreign field.

In the Bucknell line-up Cummings probably will take his post at center with Lenhart and Tyudonack at guard, Duricy and Maister at tackle and Hoak and Stonebaker on the wings.

Bucknell presents a formidable freshman backfield in the personages of Fiy, Hinkle, Kastava and Spadofsky. Hinkle and Kastava, halfbacks, will take charge of the Bison punting activities.

GRIDMEN SEEK REVENGE Hope To Gain Decision Over Last Year's Conquerors

VISITING TEAM LOSES QUINN THROUGH INJURY

Coop French Replaces Miller as Lion Quarterback—Delp Out of Line-up

Kindled with the ardent desire to wreak vengeance for the humiliating defeat suffered last year at the hands of their oldest rival, Bucknell, eleven snarling, fighting Lions readied and trained in the football wisdom of Coach Hugo Bezdek, will attempt to appease their wrath tomorrow afternoon when they combat the formidable Bison eleven on New Beaver held in one of the traditional and bitterest battles in the East.

Equally confident as to the outcome of this colorful fray, Coach Snavely will insert his powerful gridiron warriors, veterans for the most part, who assisted in Penn State's downfall last year. The potent strategist from Lewisburg, highly experienced in gridiron tactics, has instilled into his charges a spirit of determination that augurs stubborn resistance for the visiting Lions.

The loss of Mose Quinn, flashy quarterback who scored the winning touchdown in last season's memorable encounter, will be keenly felt by the Bison invaders. Mose fractured his ankle in three different places during the Geneva contest and will be forced to view the game from the sidelines.

Captain Eddie Halko, veteran of three sports and considered one of the greatest athletes in Bucknell's history, will be stationed at his old post at left half back. His running mate will be Jones, flashy open field runner and baseball captain-elect.

Confirmed believer in the squat system, Coach Snavely has developed his forward wall into a powerful defensive machine. James and Nobel, veteran, for two years, occupy the terminal posts while Wosner and Pilling, stellar linemen last season, perform as tackles. Mutzel and "Pottsville" Jones cover the guard berths and Mitchell, a center, completes the line.

REVELERS PRESENT CONCERT PROGRAM

Noted Male Quartet Will Offer Opening Number of Y.M.C.A. Entertainment Course

VICTOR ARTISTS APPEAR HERE FOR SECOND-TIME

The Revelers, popular recording artists and radio entertainers, will present a concert in Schwab auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night as the opening number of the annual Y. M. C. A. entertainment course.

The members of the organization are Lewis James, first tenor; James Melton, second tenor; Elliot Shaw, baritone and Wilfred Glenn, bass. Their accompanist is Frank Black, eminent American composer.

"Liebestraum" will open the program, while "At Dawning" and "Prelude, C-sharp Minor" will follow. Songs of the South, including "Dimah" and "Ol' Man River," are also on the list.

Mr. Black, assisted by the quartet, will play a group of piano solos, featuring "Rhapsody in Blue" by George Gershwin. The entertainment will close with a number of popular selections, such as "I Know that You Know," "Nola," and "I'm in Love Again."

The group does not use the traditional quartet manner of singing in "close harmony," but instead sings orchestraly. The arrangements are created by the accompanist exclusively for the use of the Revelers.

Board of Control Defers Judgment On Alleged Code Violations Until Next Meeting

To consider recommendations concerning proposed changes in the national fraternity rushing code, a committee appointed by Fred H. Yeocum '29, Interfraternity Council head, Wednesday night, will receive all suggestions and formulate amendments to the present system.

Scholarship cards may be secured from Arthur J. Gill '30, at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

ALTOONA BOOTERS CLASH WITH LIONS

Strong Industrial League Team Will Play Nittany Eleven Here Tomorrow

SOCGERMEN LOSE TWO REGULARS BY INJURIES

Engo to avenge the double defeat of last season, the Altoona Works soccer team composed of stars in the vicinity of Altoona will meet the Lion booters at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the first tilt of a two game series.

The Nittany combination will perform without the services of two regulars, Rejno and Allen. The former is disabled with a torn ankle ligament, while Allen has a wrenched knee. The remainder of the squad, however, is in good condition, and has displayed promising ability in the scrimmages.

Altoona Strong Altoona this year will be represented by one of the strongest teams in its history. The team is one organized especially for this game. All of the men have seen service in major soccer contests. Coach Jeffrey expects his squad to pick up many pointers from this game.

The Penn State booters have undergone a careful four-week's grooming, peled in preparation, for the schedule which includes both league and international games. While no definite plays can be used in the game, Coach Jeffrey has taught his charges several formations for use in varying attacks and defensive work.

The Lion coach will put the booters through a brief signal drill this afternoon in readiness for the game.

PLAYERS PRODUCE COMEDY TONIGHT

Original Cast To Repeat Farce in Schwab Auditorium At 8:30 O'clock

ARTHUR R. CUNNINGHAM FILLS "POOR NUT" ROLE

As the second event on the program for the annual Dads' Day celebration, the Penn State Players will present "The Poor Nut" in Schwab auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Rapidly unfolding plot and comic action mark the success of the play. The plot is concerned with the love of a college hero and "the poor nut" for the belle. After many complications in which "the poor nut" manages to make Phi Beta Kappa and a leading social fraternity, he wins the girl's heart.

The cast remains practically the same as that which presented the play last year. Miss Anne Mellinger (Continued on third page)
