

And Now They Wear 'Em One-Piece! Charles Piccolo, varsity fullback of the Fordham University football team, wearing the new one piece football uniform and carrying the old-style suit. The jersey and the pants are not detachable and give an overall effect. The new type suit is lighter to wear than the old uniform, and greater speed is therefore anticipated among the backs

(Above) A Pleasing Vista at Northwestern—This charming photograph shows some of the sorority houses on the women's quadrangle at Evanston, Illinois. The University cooperates with the sororities in the building of these houses. This view shows the blending of the old with the new which makes present-day American college architecture so attractive.

Dr. David Kinley, President of the University of Illinois—begins his thirty fifth year as a member of the university's faculty. He has been president of the institution since 1920. Dr. Kinley was born in Dundee, Scotland, August 7, 1861, coming to the United States in 1872 with his father. He received his degree from Yale, after graduating from Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass. In 1890-92 he studied at Johns Hopkins University and received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Wisconsin in 1903.

Not in The Movies—Yet. According to rumors and press agents, Harold Hauser, captain of the University of Kansas football team, has been approached by the movie judges of mass culture pulchritude. He may be "Harold" when he goes into the movies, but he's "Dutch" on the gridiron. Incidentally, he is a Phi Kappa Psi member of "Dixie" Rogers, the Paramount Star.
