Yearling Gridmen Will Oppose Syracuse Team

(Continued from first page) men. The weathers of the Orange turned one contest, of the seven game schedule, into a 22 to 11 victory over Cortland Normal school last Saturday. Frank, quarterback, accounted for 2 touchdowns while Bolton and Repas, backs and Stoneberg, end, each carried the oval once over the goal line.

In tomorrow's fray Coach Baysinger will probably start the same backfield machine that encountered the normal school, including Bolton, a product of St. Benedict's preparatory school, Plank of St. Johnsville, Repas gridiron luminary of Plattsburg, and Mince, mainstay of one of Buffalo's high school elevens.

Formidable Ends

Stoneberg who garnered one touchdown for the Orangemen in last Saturday's game will pair off with Ellett at the wing posts. Both men are products of Cushing Academy. The Hillmen have a strong, heavy and experienced line composed almost entirely of high school stars through out New York state. The Syracuseans are eagerly awaiting the coming struggle with Nittany plebes since it will be their first home game of the season. The plebe

Determined Lion Team Meets Penn Tomorrow

Nittany Line-up Uncertain

Scrimmages during the past week have found numerous changes in Penn State's makeup. French and Wolff, starters of the Bucknell contest, have been relegated to the second team; Collins and Miller assuming their duties. Hamas and Dietrich retained their positions as fullback and halfback, respectively. This quartet displayed fine ability in advancing the ball against the second team. Sparkling end runs by Joe Miller and Frank Dietrich increased the coaches' confidence for victory over Penn. Hamas and Collins alternated with line plunges and displayed marked improvement.

Injuries to linemen have constituted Beade's chief source of worry. Dutch Ricker and Cal Sharley sustained injuries in the Bucknell encounter and were absent from practice during the week. Ricker is suffering from a bruised ankle while Sharley has a dislocated toe. Skip Stahley, aggressive terminal has been resting on the sidelines because of an injured knee. However, Bez expects to have Stahley in shape by game time, but Sharley and Ricker will not see service.

Zeising Improves
The forward wall was shifted considerably during the past week and Bez has not decided upon the seven who will face the Quakers. George Delp has recovered from his hip injury and may start at left end while his running mate will be either Stahley or Struble. Zorella, Duvall, Eschbach and Zeising showed up well at the tackle and guard posts and either two may see service. Zeising exhibited excellent form in Tuesday's drill breaking through time and again to throw the first-string backs for losses.

Panaccion and Martin will undoubtedly start the contest as left tackle and guard respectively, although Bez has tied Zorella and Duvall at both positions. Marty McAndrews, peppery Seranton boy, will occupy the center position.

Nittany Soccer Eleven Encounters Haverford

The Nittany booters, although defeated in their first game, played a much more experienced team than usually encountered at the opening of the season. Results of the game Saturday, however, were pleasing to Coach Jeffrey. "The game accomplished what I had hoped it would," he said, "members of the squad, by playing against older men, picked up a number of new plays which will help them in coming games."
