ALUMNI TO OBSERVE ANNUAL HOMECOMING

PROGRAM BEGINS FRIDAY

Graduates Will Enroll In Armory Office Upon Arrival

OFFICERS DISCUSS BOND ISSUE SATURDAY NIGHT

Week-End Entertainment List Includes Athletics, Mass Meetings, Smoker

An influx of more than one thousand graduates and former students of the College, who will gather here this week-end to celebrate Penn State's ninth annual Alumni Homecoming Day, is expected by Edwin N. Sullivan '14, secretary of the Alumni Association.

Immediately upon arrival, alumni will register according to classes in the Armory Reservations for rooms have been arranged by the association for those who have failed to get accommodations for the week-end.

A 3-day program of varied events has been arranged by Mr. Earl B. Staveland '12, chairman of the committee, for the exclusive entertainment of the former students. The activities of the week-end will begin with a golf tournament for the alumni on the College course at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. The links competition will continue until Saturday noon.

Mass Meeting

Following the golf tournament the Y. M. C. Club, composed of all alumni who have won a varsity letter at Penn State, will hold its annual dinner and meeting at the Centre Hills Country club at 6 o'clock Friday night. A student-alumni mass meeting has been scheduled for 7 o'clock that night in Schwab auditorium. The program will include short talks, probably by President Ralph D. Hetzel and Coach Hugo Bezdek, and music by the College band. The mass meeting will conclude Friday's events.

Three athletic contests will provide diversion for the "old grads" Saturday morning and afternoon. Penn State's soccer team will oppose the strong Syracuse booters on Old Beaver field at 10 o'clock in the morning. At 10:30 o'clock Coach Nate Cartmell's championship cross-country team will race against the speedy Syracuse distance men over the College 5-mile course.

Varsity versus Syracuse

As the third athletic engagement with a Syracuse university varsity team Coach Hugo Bezdek's pack of Nittany Lions will meet the formidable gridiron array of the New York institution at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon on New Beaver field. Of the six games between the two rivals Syracuse has won four while Penn State has emerged the victor only once, the other contest resulting in a scoreless tie.

Special exhibits prepared by various schools of the College will be open to the inspection of the graduates Saturday morning. The Penn State Poultry club will repeat its annual display of different breeds and varieties of poultry fowls in the Stock Pavilion Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

General Meeting, Smoker

Alumni and alumnae will gather in the Armory at 8 o'clock Saturday night for a general meeting concerning the proposed $8,000,000 Bond Issue for Penn State. The directors and prominent leaders in the campaign, to secure a favorable popular vote for the amendment, will give vital instruction to the former students before the November election.

With a pretzel in one hand, a mug of cider in the other member, and a "Dry Shtiz" between the teeth of the old "grads" will assemble in the Armory at 8:30 o'clock for the annual smoker and cider party. The visitors will be divided into their respective classes and each group will, at some time during the smoker, give its class yell. The program committee has extended an invitation to the faculty and the senior class to attend the smoker. Stunts and other innovations will be included in the entertainment program.

Following the general meeting in the Armory Saturday night the alumnae of the College will hold their usual get-together in the Women's Building.

Bell Ringer Tolls Memories of Wild 'Rats' in Old Main

Joe, the Old Main bell ringer, who has been in the College service for more than twenty-eight years probably knows more Old Main lore than any other College employee. He has enjoyed the privilege of watching many of those spirited Old Main rats who formerly ran wild about the halls transformed into mature men of sedate mien and mild manners.

"Yes sir," he says, "they were some boys. You should have seen them Halloween night. When they got loose they tore everything up. One time they went out and got old bugs, vegetables—anything loose that they could lay their hands on and filled up the wells formed by the staircase.

"An Arizona cowboy came to school here. This boy was meek enough to look at but he sure had a fire underneath him. One night the boys thought he needed a little hazing so they went over to the University inn, that's the University Club now, where he was staying to see what they could do. Well, he met them nice enough but when he saw what they was up to, he pulled two guns and made them climb through the transome."

SYRACUSE ELEVEN ROUTS PLEBES, 35-0

Powerful, Heavier Hillmen Buck Opponents' Line for Five Touchdowns, Safety

FUMBLES, POOR TACKLING CAUSE NITTANY DEFEAT

Displaying a brand of football superior to that of Coach Hermann's charges, the Syracuse yeasting gridiron machine, fired with the spirit of victory from the opening kick-off until the final minute of play, handed Penn State's freshman eleven a decisive 35 to 0 defeat Saturday at Syracuse.

The Hermann coached gridmen were within scoring distance twice but each time they lacked the final punch to push the oval across the goal line. The Nittany plebes were helpless against the powerful and well aimed blows of the heavier Syracuseans. Three fumbles on the part of the Lion cubs at various periods during the battle enabled the Orangemen to tally the same number of touchdowns. The rugged tackling of every Penn State player gave Syracuse a great advantage.

Syracuse scored its first touchdown in the opening quarter after the Nittanyites had plowed their way to their opponents' 40-yard line. A bad pass from center caused the Lion back to

"LA VIE" STAFF BEGINS WORK ON PUBLICATION

Complications Delay Production Of Junior Annual—Collect Fraternity Fees

With the work of the staff of the 1930 La Vie progressing rapidly, the task of publishing the annual will be completed in the shortest possible time, according to F. Bruce Baldwin '30, editor-in-chief.

Although delayed for a while by unforeseen complications, the board by intensive work has regained the lost time. Many of the individual photographs have already been taken, while most of the fraternities have paid the 5 dollar fee for the new fraternity cut. The staff also has begun to function.

Baldwin announces the appointment of Miss Caroline S. Haller '30, as music and dramatics editor; Miss Eleanor E. Dutton '30, and Miss Sue K. Motter '30, as women's editors; and Miss Louise Fitz '30, Samuel E. Deblor '30, and Donald L. Werman '30, to the photographic staff.

GOVERNOR WOULD IMPROVE COLLEGE BY APPROPRIATION

State Executive Will Set Aside Building Funds in Budget For Next 2 Years

FISHER DECLARES BOND AMENDMENT NEEDLESS

Students Can Obtain Necessary Excuses To Cast Vote at Home November 6

Governor John S. Fisher, voicing his opinion Friday concerning the proposed bond issues in an open letter to Mr. Alva B. Johnson, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, declared that he is prepared to set aside funds in his budget for the next biennium sufficient to carry on the Penn State building program as outlined. The Bond Issue is needless, he asserted, since current revenue will meet all requirements for the College.

Concerning the State College situation Governor Fisher stated that he is "prepared to include in the budget for the next biennium sufficient money for the general fund to continue the building program to even a greater scale" than it has been as a result of the $1,000,000 appropriation.

HARRIER INJURES LEG IN PRACTICE

Strained Muscles May Prevent Louis Lee From Entering Syracuse Encounter

PLEBES MEET NANTICOKE HIGH RUNNERS SATURDAY

Strained leg muscles may prevent Louis Lee, second ranking Nittany harrier, from flaunting the Blue and White toga before the eyes of an Alumni Day crowd when Coach Nate Cartmell's team of championship hill-and-daleas oppose the pick of Syracuse distance men here Saturday morning as the opening clash of the season.

Lee has been inactive for several days. The cross-country coach believes that Lee's condition will be improved only by a sustained rest which it may be necessary to prolong for another week, thereby eliminating him from the Syracuse encounter.

Messenger Trail Cox

Chek Meisinger continued his rise as a distance runner by dogging the heels of Captain Cox throughout the length of the course in Saturday's trials. The fleet-footed Lion leader put on a finishing sprint to obtain a lead of 5 seconds over his pursuer at the end of the five-mile grind.

Offenhaus completed the event in third place with a time of 26 minutes and 41 seconds, ten seconds slower than Meisinger. Detwiler trailed fourth with Bass, Rebers, and Jeff finishing in the order named and qualifying to represent Penn State next Saturday.

Plebes Meet Nanticoke

Coach Cartmell announced last week that he had received a communication from Lonnie Kittle, a member of the varsity cross-country team last year. K. Kittle '30, as women's editor, and Miss Louise Fitz '30, Samuel E. Deblor '30, and Donald L. Werman '30, to the photographic staff.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT MUSTERS LARGEST UNIT

With 1808 men scheduled to pass in review at the first formation under arms of the year yesterday afternoon, the Penn State R. O. T. C. unit mustered a greater number of men than ever before. Of this number 1014 are enrolled in the infantry regiment, while the engineers claim 794.

The unit is the largest in the Third Corps Area, which includes the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia. The regiment of engineers is the largest student engineering regiment in the United States.

SOCCERMEN WIN, TIE FIRST SERIES

Score 8-1 Victory Over Lafayette And Fight To 0-0 Finish With Haverford

LOSS OF EDGERTON BY INJURY WEAKENS LIONS

An 8-1 victory over Lafayette, Thursday, and a 0-0 tie with Haverford, Saturday should give the Lion soccermen an outstanding start towards the Intercollegiate soccer crown this season.

Penn State in both contests displayed a powerful defense while the offense functioned smoothly although weakened by the loss of Edgerton and Allen because of injuries.

Little trouble was experienced in overcoming the green Lafayette team. It was in this game, however, that Edgerton received an injury to his left shin disabling him for the remainder of the game and finally causing his removal from the Haverford contest.

Lafayette Erratic

Playing a loose game, Lafayette made many errors in their kicking, resulting in an injury to Edgerton. When Edgerton and a Lafayette forward were playing for the ball, the latter, reaching the point first, made a wild lunge, only to miss the ball entirely, and strike an old wound on the Lion halfback's leg.

After a delayed start in the first quarter the Nittany offense began to function and three goals were kicked as the end of the period neared. The second period found three more points, added to the Penn State score. With a commanding lead Coach Jeffrey entered his substitutes at the half-time.

CONCERT DANCERS PRESENT PROGRAM

The Marmoms, Assisted by Musical Trio, Offer Second Number Of Y. M. C. A. Course

As the second number on the annual Y. M. C. A. entertainment course, the Marmoms, concert dancers, will present a program of "Drama-Dances" in Schwab auditorium Friday night, November 9.

The program, given by the three sisters, Miriam, Irene and Phyllis, assisted by the Philharmonic trio, will consist of a group of eighteen numbers including several musical selections by the trio.

Although among the youngest of the solo concert dances, the Marmoms have been giving public performance for more than four years. For three successive years they have been dance soloists with the New York Symphony orchestra, formerly directed by Walter Damrosch.

They have also established a Dance Art society, which aims to aid young dancers and provide a permanent ensemble of professional dancers.
