

Penn State Collegian.

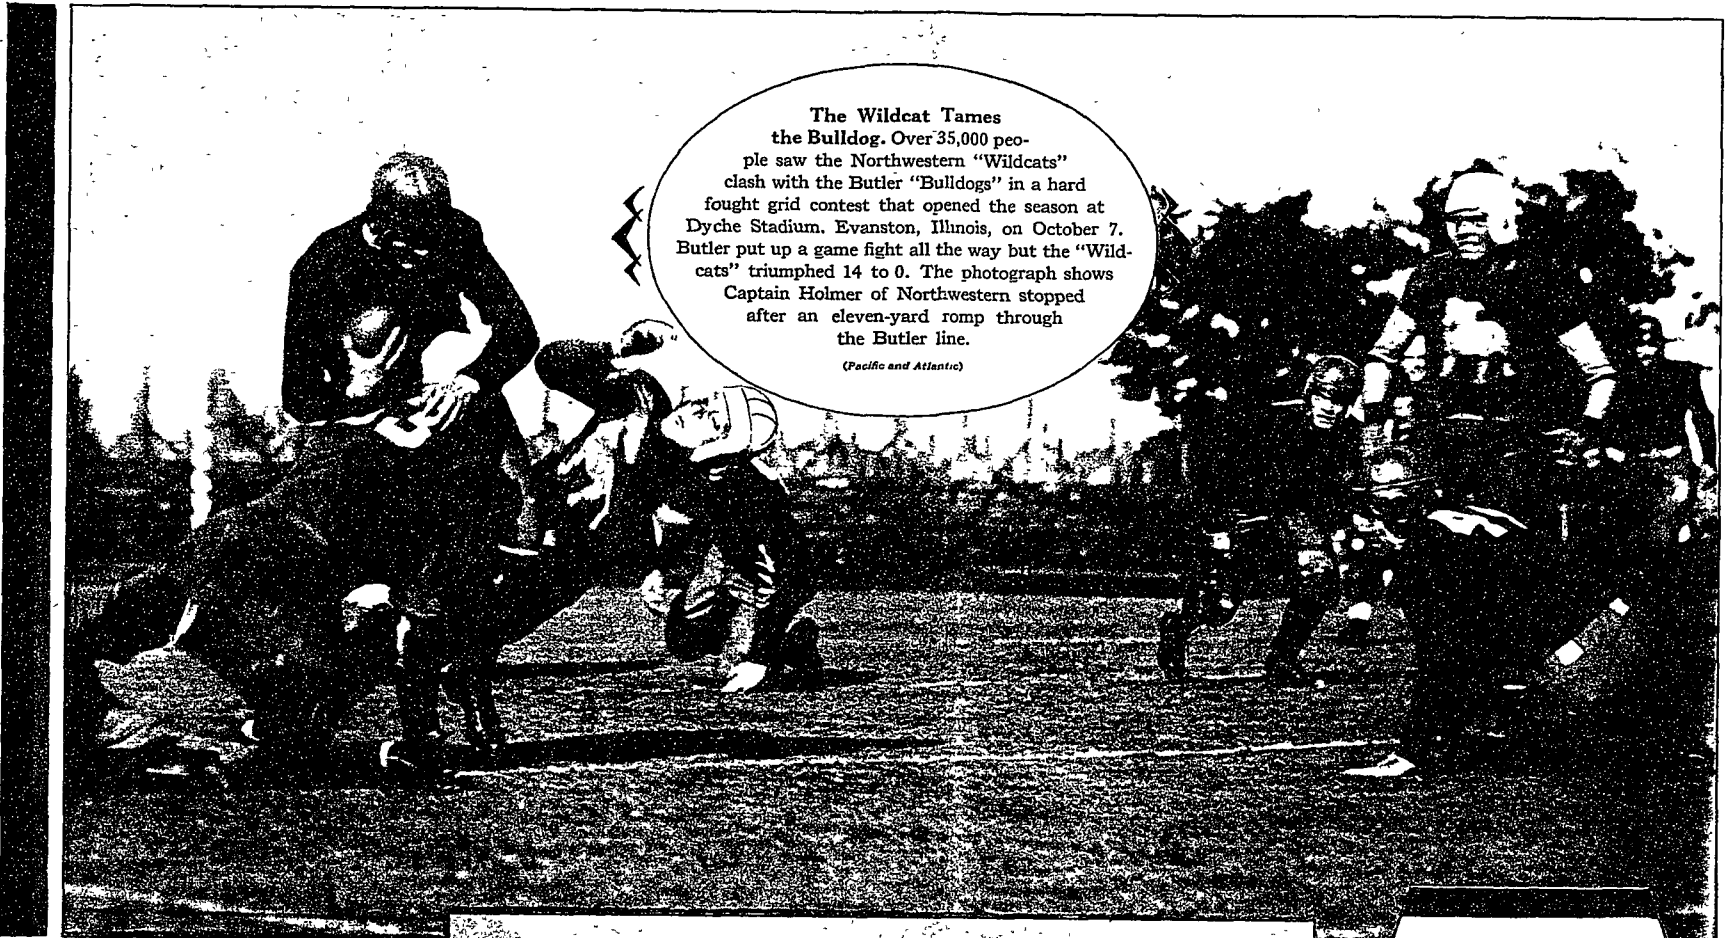

VOLUME 25 PART 2

Editor, L. H. Bell, Jr.

STATE COLLEGE, PENNSYLVANIA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1928

Business Manager, William S. Turner

NUMBER 12

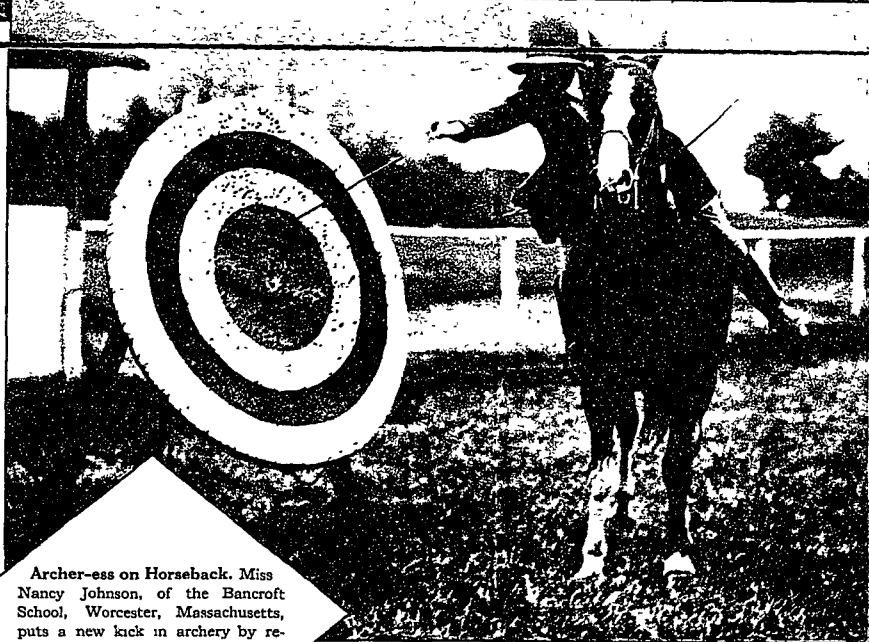

The Wildcat Tames the Bulldog. Over 35,000 people saw the Northwestern "Wildcats" clash with the Butler "Bulldogs" in a hard fought grid contest that opened the season at Dyche Stadium, Evanston, Illinois, on October 7. Butler put up a game fight all the way but the "Wildcats" triumphed 14 to 0. The photograph shows Captain Holmer of Northwestern stopped after an eleven-yard romp through the Butler line.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Stanford Presents Its Presidential Candidate—Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee, as he looked when a sophomore in 1894. It was at Stanford that he met Mrs. Hoover. Probably they strolled together under the picturesque arches and the charming wending drives of the Palo Alto campus. Naturally, Stanford is proud of its illustrious alumnus who came there as a poor boy and worked his way to an engineering degree—and then to fame and fortune. This should be an inspiration to all undergraduates. Of course, there are not enough presidential nominations to go around, but that problem can probably be solved by some brainy student.

(Underwood and Underwood)

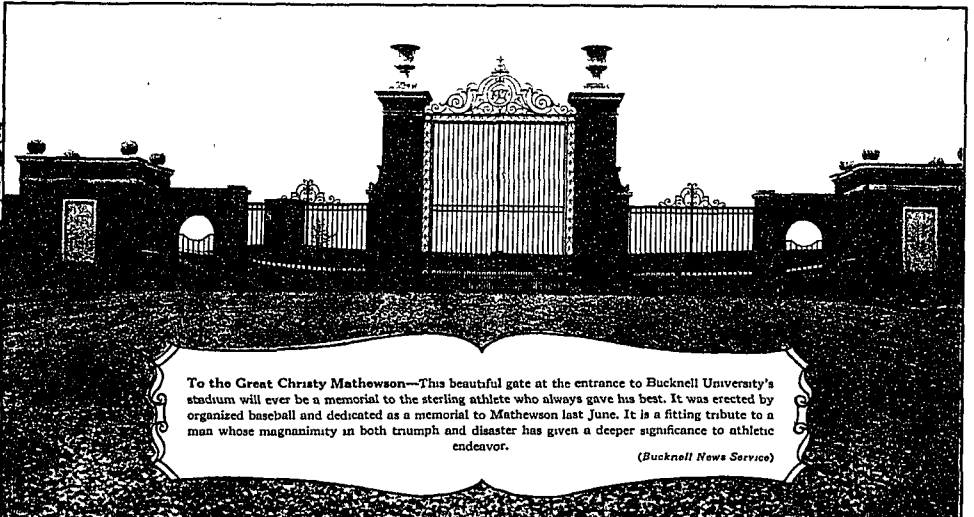

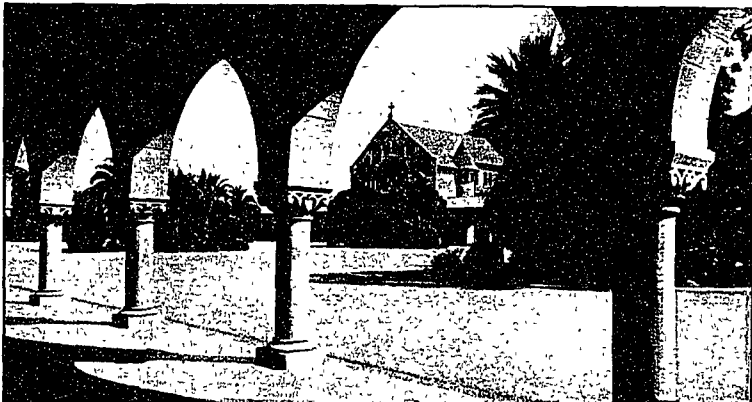

Archer-ess on Horseback. Miss Nancy Johnson, of the Bancroft School, Worcester, Massachusetts, puts a new kick in archery by retrieving her arrows on horseback.

(Wide World)

Heads 68,000 Michigan Alumni. E. J. Ottaway, of Port Huron, Michigan, is president of the University of Michigan Alumni Association—one of the largest in the country.

(Underwood and Underwood)

To the Great Christy Mathewson—This beautiful gate at the entrance to Bucknell University's stadium will ever be a memorial to the sterling athlete who always gave his best. It was erected by organized baseball and dedicated as a memorial to Mathewson last June. It is a fitting tribute to a man whose magnanimity in both triumph and disaster has given a deeper significance to athletic endeavor.

(Bucknell News Service)