

1911 CLASS PIPE RELIC ADORNS DESK OF REGISTRAR HOFFMAN

A pipe similar to that used by Vice-president Dawes may be found in the office of Registrar William S. Hoffman. The owner, however, declared that the pipe is similar to the pipe of the vice-president in appearance only, and that his pipe is quite ordinary in its construction. "But my pipe is nevertheless distinctive for another reason," Registrar Hoffman said in his office on Friday. "When I was a student here it was the custom to adopt class pipes just as we wore class caps and these class colors. "This pipe is one of the class pipes of 1911," as he explained this he proceeded to point out the numerals on the pipe and then opened a copy of the 1911 La Vie and indicated, at the end of the section devoted to Junior photographs, a drawing of a pipe exactly like that in his hand. "This is the second one of these pipes that I have owned. You know, they are that nothing is lost if you know where it is. Well, I know that my other pipe is on a sideboard in a Constantinople Hotel I suppose then, that it is not lost, but I can't smoke it anyhow. The drawing of the pipe, in the La Vie, was undesignated. "Hoffman '11." Several other drawings, one of a characteristic collegian wearing a cap with "12" in colors, were by the same "Hoffman '11," who was one of the art editors of the year book. "Class distinctions meant more some time ago," the Registrar continued. "In my first years at Penn State all wore caps similar to the present freshmen dinks, with our class numerals. The cap idea has evolved now to a place where only freshmen, and members of honorary societies wear caps of any kind. The class of 1912 was the first to wear caps which resembled society caps, rather than the smaller ones, like the dinks. "These were the days when the entire college occupied the main floor of Old Chapel comfortably, and the entire faculty, on the stage, remarked on the entrance of any new student."

Chart of Religions Reveals 28 Faiths

Twenty-eight religious faiths are represented at Penn State according to statistics issued from the Registrar's office recently. The Presbyterian church, with 879 members, has the largest enrollment. There are 804 students affiliated with the Methodist faith, and 495 with the Lutheran. The Roman Catholic church is the fourth largest here, its student roll totalling 417. Protestant Episcopalians number 266 and the Reformed faith 239 to complete the list of churches having over 200 students listed. There are 155 Jewish students and 121 Baptists. The United Presbyterians number 52, Baptists 51, Brethren 45, Friends 41, Congregationalists 33, Christian Scientists 23, Christians 20, Church of Christ 12, and Unitarians 10. Eleven other faiths, which have a following of less than 10 students, are listed. Four students attend the Church of God, and four worship at the Greek Catholic church. There are three members of the Dispensian faith, three Moslems, and three Swedenborgians. Two Mennonites, two Universalists, one Moslem, one Russian Orthodox, one Mormon, and one Spiritualist complete the roll of 2754 student church-goers. An examination of the foregoing statistics will verify the statement that Penn State is well represented in nearly every religious faith of the world.

How Penn State Opponents Fared

Table with 2 columns: Opponent Name and Score. Includes Lebanon Valley 14, Gettysburg 26, Bucknell 40, Pennsylvania 7, Syracuse 0, Notre Dame 12, George Washington 0, Pittsburg 25, Lafayette 17, Schuylkill 22, Muhlenberg 6, Lehigh 0, Harvard 0, Ohio Wesleyan 6, Army 6, Penn State 50, W and J 9, Rutgers 0.

Nittany Gridmen Rout Weak Colonial Eleven

(Continued from first page) Miller passed to Delp on the next play and George dashed to the goal line unhampered. A pass for the extra point was grounded. Score: Penn State 25—George Washington 0. No further scoring was made until McCracken replaced Miller at quarterback as the second period began. George Washington held possession of the ball on its own 28-yard mark. Berkowitz passed to Lopeman for a 7-yard gain. Another pass, Lopeman to Berkowitz gained 5 yards and a first down. Penn State held at this point and Lopeman was forced to punt. Hammis received the kick and ran 65 yards for the fifth touchdown. Delp's placement kick failed. Score: Penn State 31—George Washington 0. Johnny McCracken talked a few minutes later. Unable to gain George Washington punted to McCracken and returned it 30 yards. Henkle, who caught the ball on his 30 yard line substituted for Evans, lost 7 yards at left end but Collins reeled off 16 yards around the opposite wing. Penn State was penalized for offside on the next down. On the next play McCracken started left end for 36 yards and a touchdown. Collins kicked goal from placement. Score: Penn State 38—George Washington 0.

McCracken Scores Again Lopeman kicked to Lavery who returned the ball 20 yards to his own 48-yard line. He gained 12 yards at right guard on the next play. Collins made 5 yards through center and Henkle advanced the ball 15 yards on a slice through left tackle. With the ball on the 29 yard line, McCracken dashed around right end for his second touchdown. Collins failed to kick goal. Score: Penn State 44—George Washington 0. The final six-pointer came in the third quarter. George Washington unable to advance the ball, punted out of bounds on Penn State's 15-yard line. Diedrich cut through right tackle for 20 yards and Hammis smashed the opposite side for 12. Miller made 14 yards around right end and Evans placed the ball 6 inches from the goal with a 7-yard plunge through left tackle. Miller scored the final touchdown on a run around right end

Score by Periods table showing scores for Penn State and George Washington across four periods and a total score of 38-0.

Substitutions—Penn State: Struble for Delp, Grolier for Struble, Daxall for Struble, Rosenfeld for Daxall, Curtis for Zorrell, McCracken for Fuchsberg, Turlich for McCracken, Parram for Martin, Love for Parram, Ritter for Turlich, Weber for Fuchsberg, Audson for Weber, McCracken for Miller, Lavery for Diedrich, Wolff for Fuchsberg, Stovanes for Wolff, Henkle for Lavery, Collins for Hammis, George Washington: Rollins for Goldman, Lark for Clements, Davis for Rogers, Morrow for Larkman.

MRS. EVA B. ROAN Optometrist All kinds of frames 522 E. College Avenue

Advertisement for LANGROCK FINE CLOTHES, featuring a logo and the text 'Don't Experiment with your Appearance' and 'Montgomery & Co. State College, Pa.'

Advertisement for New Majestic Radio, featuring the text 'The Kappa Delta Rho fraternity enjoyed the Notre Dame-State game play by play on their New Majestic Radio' and 'Just how can you be without one?'.

Advertisement for Hot Dogs and Hamburgers, featuring the text 'TEXAS HOT WEINERS' and 'H. M. SAWYER & SON EAST CAMBRIDGE - MASS.'

Advertisement for Peter B. Hassel Signs and How Dry I Am Frog Brand Slickers, featuring a frog logo and the text 'FROG BRAND MEANS JUST THAT'.

Advertisement for John Ward Men's Shoes, featuring an illustration of a shoe and the text 'There is style in the prices, too!' and 'On display at MONTGOMERY'S Allen Street'.

Advertisement for Coca-Cola, featuring an illustration of a man and woman and the text 'What Shakespeare says about Coca-Cola' and 'Ever precise in promise keeping'.

Large advertisement for Old Gold Cigarettes, featuring a large portrait of Norma Talmadge and the text 'Not a cough in a Film-ful' and 'Smoother and Better—Not a Cough in a Carload'.

Advertisement for Goodyear Wingfoot shoes, featuring an illustration of a shoe and the text 'BE REAL!' and 'Don't clump about the campus walks and halls on the old hard heels any longer...'.