

Penn State Collegian.

A Water Cure for Freshmen—It is the inalienable right of upper classmen to duck all freshmen on Halloween. This happens at New York University and is supposed to be good for the newcomers.
(International Newsreel)

He Did It In Two Weeks—Joe L. Bennett, of Urbana, Illinois, is the best whisker grower at the University of Illinois. He raised the aforesaid beard quickly and efficiently—for which feat does he deserve any credit?
(Pacific & Atlantic)

Class Presidents Shine as Athletic Stars—Here we have the chief executives of three upper classes at Northwestern University. Justin Dart (left)—senior class—is an outstanding figure. He has been a guard on the football team for three seasons, and a member of the track team for two seasons—winning the hammer throw in the Big Ten championships last spring. He is president of the "N" Men's Association and a member of Beta Theta Pi. Walter Colbath (center) heads the juniors, and he is also captain of the swimming team. Twice has he won the national intercollegiate diving championship. He also shows speed in the forty yard swim and on the relay team. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Frank Baker (right) is president of the sophomore class. He has gained distinction by his work at end on the football team and had a remarkable prep school record. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.
(John D. Jones)

Along the Midway in Chicago—An aeroplane view of the campus of the University of Chicago. The Midway is a beautiful double drive boulevard, and the university buildings may be seen to the left of it. Eventually buildings will line both sides of this drive.
(Aerial Photographic Service, Inc.)

Returning a Graceful Gesture—When Cecil Rhodes left a large sum of money to establish scholarships for outstanding American students at Oxford University, he forged a solid link in the chain of British-American friendship. Here we have a notable group reciprocating with the American Trust Fund for Oxford University which has been established by the American Association of Rhodes Scholars. Left to right—seated—Franklin F. Russell, secretary of the association, and J. Stewart Baker, president of the Bank of Manhattan Company, in whose office this photograph was taken. Standing—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president in 1924; J. G. Scott, British consul in New York; Henry A. Moe, secretary of the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, and Carroll Wilson, a former Rhodes scholar.
(Underwood & Underwood)

