

ITTANY PASSERS OPPOSE CARNEGIE TOMORROW NIGHT

Tartans Lose to West Virginia, Waynesburg—Down Geneva In Overtime Fray

HERMANN REVISES FIVE FOR BATTLE WITH TECH

Penn State Coach Will Start Reilly, Reinhold, Lee, Meyers, Koch

Carnegie Tech's basketball team, after emerging once to victory from a shroud of fifteen successive defeats, will endeavor to carry on its winning way against Coach Dutch Hermann's revised quintet at 7 o'clock tomorrow night in the Recreation Hall.

The Tartans have won one game and lost two thus far this season. Tech's courtmen were finally successful in the conquest against Geneva after tasting the dregs of a string of fifteen setbacks received during the latter part of last year's season and the beginning of the 1929 court program.

Unchanged Tartan Team
Coach Irwin has retained almost the same line-up in each of the four contests this year. Harvey White, elected captain of the Tartan quintet for the second time, will pair off with either Eph Cram or Bill Brown at the forward positions.

Ralph Meiton, product of Westinghouse high school, will start the game at the pivot post. Meiton has been showing up exceptionally well this season and will need careful watching on the part of the Lion courtmen.

George Nease, luminary of last year's Tartan plebe team, has impressed the Penn coach lately and will most likely receive a guard assignment. Julian Bond and Marvin Fox are available for the other defensive posts. Bond, a veteran of last year's varsity five, will in all probability get the call over Fox.

Howard Harpster, captain and All-American quarterback on Carnegie Tech's 1928 football team, has not yet joined the basketball squad Harpster, who was one of the mainstays of last year's Tartan five, has not returned from the Pacific Coast where he participated in the West grand on battle and it is a question whether he will be a candidate for the court team.

Carnegie Has Had Start
The Penn floormen opened their 1929 season with a 28-33 defeat at the hands of the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets at Waynesburg Friday night. The Tartans were at the large end of the score until the waning minutes of the last quarter when the Yellow Jackets piled up a five-point lead to clinch the contest.

Nease was the outstanding player of the game, caging six field goals in his first varsity contest. Meiton, ranga Skibo center, gave his teammates the tip-off repeatedly and made a strong bid to stave off defeat. Carnegie displayed its superiority in foul shooting by succeeding in six out of eight free throws.

Carnegie received its second setback of the season, 31 to 19, from a superior West Virginia university quintet Saturday night at Morgantown. The Morgantown courtmen established a comfortable lead in the first period and retained it throughout the contest. Coach Irwin's men, with the exception of Nease who played a clever game, were entirely outclassed both in floor work and shooting by the Mountaineers.

Plaid Downs Geneva
The Tech passers in their first home game of the season scored a 33-11 triumph over the Geneva college courtmen Tuesday night in a contest that was forced into an extra period. Cram and Meiton were the players responsible for the Plaid victory. Meiton sank two field goals in the fourth quarter to tie the score and in the early minutes of the extra period.

LIGHTWEIGHTS INDICATE POWER IN EARLY DRILLS

With at least three promising men working out in each class except the 175-pound and heavyweight divisions, keen competition has been aroused for positions on the wrestling team. Coach Speidel announced last night that he expected several new men to start training for the two heavyweight classes next week.

Until the heavier men appear, however, the Lion mentor is spending the greater part of his time in drilling the aspirants for the lighter weights, with veterans like Wilson, 1928 intercollegiate champion in the 125-pound class, Steel in the 115-pound and Eschman in the 145-pound divisions, aiding him.

Since most of the candidates are of the sophomore and junior classes with little previous experience, Coach Speidel is devoting his time to conditioning the leading contenders.

Class Eliminations
Practice has been necessarily light because of the absence of much equipment, as knee pads and head guards. Intensive training will begin early next week, however, according to the Nittany coach.

Eliminations for the interclass meet to be held next Saturday afternoon will start tonight. Coach Speidel will use those eliminations as a means of classing the varsity candidates.

Among the more promising aspirants for the varsity are: Alexander, Don Stech, Hawkins and Ely in the 115-pound division; Correll, Wilson and Paxton in the 125-pound class; Humble, Ruddy, Keiser and Evans in the 135-pound weight; Eisenman, Stein, Campbell and Munson in the 145-pound class; and Paul Long, fifth of the Long brothers to attend Penn State, Leavy, S. S. Steel, Johnston and McCandless in the 168-pound division. For the heavyweight and the 175-pound classes Coach Speidel has Grammer and Pearce.

Co-ed's Debating Team To Oppose Pittsburgh Here Tomorrow Night

As the opening women's debate of the year, the Penn State co-ed debate team will debate with the University of Pittsburgh trio in Schwab auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The question for debate is "Resolved: That the jury system should be abolished." The Penn State team will uphold the negative side of the question during the discussion.

Members of the squad from which the team will be chosen are Retta E. Bostwick '29, Margaret Loah '22, Reba M. Hendrickson '30, and Mildred J. Wentz '31. The team is being coached by Prof. John H. Fizzel, head of the public speaking department.

Noted Tenor To Offer Popular Program During Dance

BLUE AND WHITE COLOR SCHEME WILL PREVAIL

With the selection of the Silvertown Cord orchestra by the Senior Ball committee, an assortment of attractions including the popular Silver Masked tenor will entertain those attending the affair, which inaugurates college social activities in Recreation Hall Friday night.

The orchestra is a Victor Recording organization of thirteen pieces, noted throughout the country for its stage and radio offerings, and has just completed a tour of the South and its appearance here marks the beginning of an eastern circuit.

Decoration Plans Complete
Decorating plans submitted by the Silvertown Flag and Decorating company of Wilkes-Barre have been approved by the committee and College authorities. According to the arrangement, the predominant effect will be produced by fan-shaped hangings of blue and white material draped from the edge of the balcony.

Palms are to be placed at intervals around the edge of the dancing floor to complete the effectiveness of the scheme. A banner draped in gold proclaiming the event will be placed on the west wall of the building. At the entrance a double width canopy will extend to the end of the paving.

REPRESENTATIVES PLAN RUSHING CODE REVISION

An inter-fraternity ball, the first of its kind to be held at Penn State, will be conducted in April between the Sophomore hop and the Junior Prom, if a favorable vote is received on the issue submitted to the fraternities by the Inter-Fraternity council this week.

Other issues to be voted on by the Council will be the question of hiring a lawyer to handle the legal affairs and the question of whether or not to include the pledges' grades in the final averages of the fraternities.

The employment of a local attorney to attend to any legal matters that might arise in the chapters, has caused some discussion. By this plan each fraternity will pay an initial fee to the lawyer, and thereafter receive his services when needed without added charge.

In an effort to obtain an artistic impression of the Military Ball which is to be held February 15, the committee in charge has instituted a poster contest with all students eligible to compete. Each contestant having three designs, accepted will receive a complimentary ticket to the affair.

According to the plan the posters must be military in character with pure poster technique in brilliant contrasting colors employed. The name of the artist is to be legibly printed on the back of each drawing.

Contest Judges
The committee announces that the submitted posters will be judged by the College art critics and referees the night to use all posters accepted. All posters must be turned in at the brigade headquarters in the Armory before January 25.

All persons desiring further information concerning the contest will see Charles C. Person '29.

CLUB'S DIRECTORS ELECT PROF. FRIZZEL CHAIRMAN

Preparation of the book for the "Campus Review," Thespian production to be presented next Saturday night, has been completed and participants are rehearsing for the show, which is intended to mirror life at Penn State.

In staging the "Campus Review," the club hopes to start an annual event, according to Charles F. Keadler '29, production manager. ### GRIDMEN FILL GAP IN BOXING RANKS

Joe Miller, Kaplan and Struble Will Exchange Punches in Heavyweight Class

THIES, CHAPIN TROUBLE FLYWEIGHT CANDIDATES

Three recruits to the heavyweight ranks brighten Penn State's chances for a winning team considerably. LaFlock, boxing mentor, opened last night for the last pair of punches, had climbed out of the Recreation Hall ring.

The newly-enlisted mittmen are Joe Miller, burly gladiator, Mike Kaplan, football end and heavyweight on last year's freshman team, and Struble, who fought in the 175-pound division last year. Miller was a member of the freshman team two years ago while Struble earned a varsity letter last year.

Miller Dons Gloves
The trio has devoted this week to conditioning work with the exception of Miller, who stepped through three fast rounds with Captain Althea Wolf Wednesday afternoon. Althea is in excellent shape and willing to fight in the unlimbed class if the heavyweight prospects do not come up to the standard.

A heavy cold put Marty McAnis down for the count Wednesday but he will probably be back in harness, early next week. Marty's only problem is to round into fighting trim before the opening meet with Western Maryland here on February 2.

While the heavy eight problem was closed up somewhat, the selection of a 115-pound representative became more involved with the addition of Hal Thies and Chapin, both of last year's freshman team. Epstein and Thies alternated for the yearlings in the flyweight post last year after Chapin had been defeated in the elimination.

The new finds promise to give Christopher, Cunningham and Epstein plenty of trouble in their three-ounce battle for first fall. Chapman has been defeated in the elimination. ### Rev. W. Warren Giles Will Address Chapel Assemblage Sunday

Returning after past visits to Penn State, Reverend W. Warren Giles, pastor of the First Reformed church, East Orange, N. J., will address the chapel audience on Sunday morning in Schwab auditorium.

Reverend Giles made his first appearance here in 1927 when he delivered the Baccalaureate address. Later he returned to address the chapel service after a lapse of four years. His first coming was a result of his intimacy with Dr. John M. Thomas, president of the college at the time, who was then a classmate of Dr. Thomas at a theological seminary.

Reverend Giles late yesterday afternoon had not yet sent any notice of the subject of his address.

College Memorial Progressing

Foundations for the new unit of the west wing of the Pond laboratory are now being completed. This addition will more than double the size of the laboratory and will be one complete work of the proposed edifice.

Philadelphia Company Receives Contract for 3-Story Brick Building

WILL ERECT $151,698 STRUCTURE ON AG HILL

Development Scheme Proposes Dormitory With Rooms For 101 Men

Contract was awarded recently for the erection of the west wing of a new three-story botany building, costing $151,698, and a mushroom experimental house, according to an announcement by College officials.

These contracts with a proposal for a men's dormitory and construction of the Grange dormitory and Main Engineering building, as well as the addition to Pond laboratory continue the building program for Penn State.

New Botany Building
F. L. Hoover and Sons of Philadelphia have given the contract for the new unit of the botany building. Plans for the structure call for a central unit two stories high, only one of which will be built at present.

The building will measure 60 by 95 feet and will be located on Old Beaver field in front of the Agricultural building. It will be of buff brick with Indiana limestone trimming similar to the Liberal Arts building.

Construction To Start
Seven laboratories and recitation rooms, a photographic department, four specimen preparation rooms, seven offices, a large class room and a shop will be housed in the structure. Construction is scheduled to begin soon so that the building will be ready for occupation in November of this year.

Further development of the mushroom industry in the state, a mushroom experimental house will be erected behind the gear house on Ag Hill. It will be 12 by 20 feet with a height of 10 feet and constructed of cedar block with insulated ceiling and earth floor.

Dormitory Proposed
Present plans call for the construction of another men's dormitory, forming the third of a quadrangle with Varsity and Varsity Halls. Accommodations for 101 men will be provided in the new building, which will be known to Varsity Hall.

Officials also hope to have the Grange dormitory, Main Engineering building, and Pond laboratory addition ready for use by the opening of the school year next September. Preliminary studies are being made for the reconstruction of Old Main.
