The Panther courtmen, although The Panther courtmen, although not coming up to the record of their 1928 predecessors, form a well-rounded team. Thus far this season they have won cleven games and lost five. Three of their defeats were administered by Butler, Northwestern, and Wisconsin teams at the opening of the season, while the other two were received at the hands of West Virginia and Notre Dame.

One of the greatest upsets of the season occurred when the Panthers defeated the Army, 69-16, at Pittsburgh. The Pitt men were at their best in that game, keeping the West. Point five in a daze with their whirf wind plays. The Army scored only four field goals during the entire contest. Coach Carlson started his substitutes against the Rensselaer Polytech team and did not allow his regulars to enter the fray until the second half. Hyatt, nevertheless, managed to score fourteen points in less than twenty minutes of play while Baker amassed twelve tallies in the same time. The final score was 48 to 15.

their superiority from the start of the pontest.

Pitt's basketball team is made up of four members of last year's National Champion basketball machine. Chipper Hyatt is the outstanding player of Carlson's quintet. He is acclaimed by coaches and sports writers as the greatest forward of the year. In thirteen games this season he has amassed a total of 195 points, or an average of fifteen points for each game. He is now leading scorer of the East. Les Cohen, last year's guard, has been performing well at center, while Captain Gyp Wunderlich, repter on last year's seam, has been hilted to guard. Paul Zchfuss, who was formerly a forward, is now at one of the defensive posts. Eddie Baker, a guard, is a newcomer in the Panther ranks. He has become Hyatt's closest rival in the scoring columns.

Cowell, junior, who has been pushing Hubler to retain his position in the 135-pound class, will enter his first collegiate competition in tomorrow's battle. Crammer, thus far ineligible because of scholastic standing, has had the San litted and will replace Pearce in the unlimited class.

· Lions Show Form

All members of the Lion squad have shown a noticeable improvement since their opening meet with Ohio uni-versity. The match Saturday with Syracuse showed the results of care-Syracuse showed the results of careful training and it is expected that tomorrow's fray will also show a big improvement in the team. This last week brought to the fore many of the second team candidates and, in the case of Cowell, resulted in the replacing of a regular varsity wrestler. While the training period, as far ascenditioning is concerned, practically over, Coach Speidel is spending the greater part of practices in teaching his squad new holds.

Lafayette Uncertain

The remainder of the Lafayette lineup remains uncertain. With several men working out for each position Coach Levin announced that he would not divulge the starting combination until today. Tryouts have been held regularly by the Maroon coach but he has been unable to choose a definite first team.

In the meet last year with Lafayette the Lions scored a 23 to 0 victory, Packard registering the only fall for Penn State.

A decisive win tomorrow would rank Penn State among the strongest teams in the east. Thus far only six points have been scored against the Lions, those in the opening meet. The first difficult test will come next Saturday when the Nittany matmen counter Cornell on the Ithacans' floor.

Cowell in replacing Hubler in tomorrow's meet will have achieved that which he has been striving for since his freshman year when he first tried out for the plee werestling squad. Continual training has served to place him in good condition and
