

"Sink The Navy!"

"Sink The Navy!"

GOVERNING GROUP VOTES TO ADOPT SENIOR YEARBOOK

Present 'La Vie' Staff Will Edit Supplementary Record For Next Year

NEW SYSTEM AIDS IN PUBLICATION OF BOOK

Board Provides Revision After Lengthy Discussion on Merits of Plan

Commencing with the class of 1931, records of students at Penn State will be contained in a La Vie published near the close of the senior year.

In addition to the 1930 La Vie, the present staff of the junior annual will publish a supplement containing the record of this class during its senior year.

Two Staffs to Function This will mean that two class La Vie staffs will be working at the same time.

In this manner an outstanding feature, junior class photographs, will be preserved and students attaining recognition in campus groups during their senior year will have their honors noted in the annual.

New Plan Shows Merit The newly adopted plan has been strongly advocated for the past several years by students believing the merits of a senior yearbook outweighed arguments for a junior annual.

With elections in the sophomore year, the staff will be given twice as long to make up the book. This will enable a more deliberate compilation, and permit more timely accounts.

The plan adopted Tuesday night was first proposed last spring by Charles C. Berryhill, editor of the 1928 yearbook, and John W. Brandt, editor of the La Vie of the present senior class.

Publish Senior Record The plan was proposed to Student Board shortly afterward. The lone objection to this group raised was that it would interrupt the class histories which had been continuous since the first La Vie was published in 1889.

Student Council voted unanimously to retain the 1930 La Vie but recommended that an investigation be conducted to determine the advisability of a senior yearbook.

Student Council voted unanimously to retain the 1930 La Vie but recommended that an investigation be conducted to determine the advisability of a senior yearbook.

Teammates Elect 'Skipper' Stahley Basketball Leader

Star Lion Guard Gains High Scoring Honors For Past Season

J. Neil Stahley, left guard and high point scorer on Coach Dutch Herrmann's basketball team this year, was elected Wednesday afternoon to captain the 1929-30 Nittany quintet.

"Skip" saw action in every contest this season and was instrumental in each Penn State victory. Although he was a forward on the varsity basketball squad his sophomore year, he did not earn his letter until the past season.

As a forward, Stahley captained Penn State's freshman basketball team in 1926-27. He won his numerals also as first baseman on the freshman nine.

ZUPPKE TO ATTEND ATHLETIC BANQUET

Penn State Will Honor Winners Of Varsity 'S' at Annual Function May 11

BODY ARRANGES PUBLIC AWARDING OF LETTERS

"Bob" Zuppke, veteran football coach of the University of Illinois, and James W. Kennedy, faculty advisor of the Board of Athletic Control, Princeton university, will be the principal speakers at the second annual "S" banquet Saturday May 11.

Tentative plans provide for a banquet in the dining room of McAllister hall. Following the dinner, the guests will proceed to Schwab auditorium of Recreation hall where Coach Zuppke and Mr. Kennedy will speak.

Public award of letters will be held at this time. Formerly letters were presented privately but it has been decided that the "S" banquet will provide a fitting time for recognition of athletic insignia winners.

In addition to Penn State lettermen, a number of outstanding high and preparatory school athletes will be invited to attend. The guest list will be restricted to these two groups.

The first "S" banquet was held last year as a means of honoring Penn State lettermen. Lawrence Perry, sports writer and Bill Roper, Princeton football coach, spoke on this occasion. This banquet was also to serve in encouraging high school athletes to enter Penn State, following the abolition of scholarships.

The committee in charge of the banquet preparations is composed of Bernard Newman '29, chairman, William S. Turner '29, Richard M. Streiker '29, Stephen V. Hamas '29, Louis H. Bell '29, Ralph R. Ricker '30 and J. Neil Stahley '30.

Fencers Practice For Interclass Tournament

Fencing matches are being held semi-weekly to determine the two best men to represent their respective classes in the Interclass Fencing Tournament, which will be held May 1.

According to the numerical rating which is being started this year, the two men selected from each class, as a result of the eliminations, will receive their numerals. The eliminations will continue until after Easter.

DRUID ELECTIONS Richard J. Detwiler '31 Albert G. Duval '31 Charles A. Meisinger '31

STUDENT COUNCIL INTRODUCES OPEN POLITICS SYSTEM

Body Adopts Recommendations Of Investigating Group On Election Plan

DR. DENGLER TO SERVE AS FACULTY SUPERVISOR

Code Recognizes Popular Vote Solicitation by Factions During Campaigns

All student political cliques are requested to send one representative to a meeting at the Beta Theta Pi house at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night.

An open system of politics patterned after those employed in western colleges will be introduced at Penn State, Student Council decided Tuesday night. All class elections, including those for student council positions, will be decided under the new regulations.

General recommendations were submitted to Student Council by the committee which investigated systems now in use at other institutions, while final details will be developed by an elections committee appointed by Harry E. Pfeiffer '29, president of the legislative body.

The elections committee is composed of Edward Lyon '29, chairman, Bernard Newman '29, Fred H. Yocum '29, Lemmon C. Stoudnour '30, R. Florell '30, Henry R. Sherrard '30, Evan C. Reese '31, and Clarence C. Christian '32. Dr. Robert E. Dengler will serve as faculty representative, while Harry E. Pfeiffer '29, and Homer K. Dodge '29, president and secretary of Student Council, will serve in an ex-officio capacity.

To Emulate Political Parties As in other colleges where open politics are pursued, the opposing factions will proceed with electioneering in the same manner as political parties do. Under the new system students will announce their candidacy as in former years and may publicly solicit votes.

Cliques may make public their members and advertise their platforms, while Student Council will sponsor an election supplement of the COLLEGIAN which will contain pictures of the candidates.

Factions will be permitted smokers and a general mass meeting will be held preceding elections. Candidates for class presidencies will speak at this assembly. Further details will be determined by the elections committee and the complete system published in a later issue of the COLLEGIAN.

The open system of student politics was first introduced at the large western universities where student and faculty leaders believed that the customary sub-rosa campaign policies were out of harmony with the growth of the institutions. In universities where the system has been adopted, the number of student votes cast has increased from thirty to fifty percent.

Since its installation in these institutions it has shown itself to be so far superior to any previous plan that its adoption is expected to take place in all of the leading universities and colleges in the country. Its advocates feel that it is the one certain remedy for college politics.

Penn State delegates who attended the National Student Federation convention at Columbia, Mo., during the Christmas holidays were favorably impressed by the system as explained at the convalescence and introduced the plan before Student Council here.

Newspapers Offer New Boxing Trophy

Desiring to stimulate interest in college boxing, two Baltimore newspapers, the Sun and Evening Sun, have placed in competition an "Intercollegiate Boxing Association Trophy" which will be awarded the winner of the intercollegiate boxing tournament in Recreation Hall tomorrow night.

This award will take the place of the former cup which was won permanently by the Naval Academy boxers last year. The emblem, being the work of Jack Lambert, designer of athletic trophies, representing two figures boxing. The figures are of solid bronze, resting on a mahogany base.

The trophy remains in the possession of the tournament winner for one year. In order to retain it permanently, a team must win it five times which need not be consecutive.

DR. RALPH D. HETZEL MEETS PRES. HOOVER

While in Washington, D. C., attending the meeting of the association of land-grant colleges and universities, President Ralph D. Hetzel interviewed President Herbert Hoover, members of the Cabinet, and leaders of Congress.

His visit was relative to the introduction of legislation looking to the future development of the work of land-grant institutions, particularly in the field of research and extension. President Hetzel was chairman of the executive committee of the association. He will probably return to the capitol next week in order to appear before the committees of Congress in connection with hearings on the proposed legislation.

COLLEGE TO HOLD HALL DEDICATION

Officials Erect Amplifiers for Formal Opening of New Gym Tomorrow

McKENZIE, HETZEL, AND MITCHELL WILL SPEAK

Penn State's new sports hall will be formally opened at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when dedication exercises will be held in the new building preceding the afternoon session of the annual boxing intercollegiate.

In order to improve the audibility in the structure, loudspeakers will probably be installed before the time of the services. Officials also announce that no one will be seated during the address by Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, principal speaker of the afternoon.

Accommodate Large Crowd Arrangements have been made by College officers to make room for more than six thousand spectators. In addition to the regular seating arrangements, bleachers will be placed around the speakers' platform.

President Ralph D. Hetzel will open the program with an address, after a selection by the College Blue Band. Hugo Bezelok, director of physical education, will follow with a short talk. After him will come the principal address of the day, which will be delivered by Doctor McKenzie, of the University of Pennsylvania. The principal speaker is professor and director of physical education at that institution.

Presentation of Keys The keys to the new building will be presented to the College by Prof. Charles L. Kinsloe, of the department of electrical engineering. Professor Kinsloe, as head of the Alumni association, will represent that organization in the ceremony.

Accepting the keys on behalf of the College administration, Judge H. Walton Mitchell, president of the Board (Continued on last page)

COLLEGIAN BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

Names James H. Coogan Jr. and Milton H. Rosenbloom as New Executives

COLLEGIAN editorial and business staff elections Tuesday night resulted in the choice of James H. Coogan Jr. '30, as editor-in-chief, and Milton H. Rosenbloom '30, as business manager. Charles A. Mensch '30, was elected managing editor and Robert P. Stevenson '30, news editor, while Henry Thalendorf '30, and Quinton E. Beauge '30, received the assistant news and sports editorships, respectively.

The position of advertising manager was awarded to Russell L. Rehm '30, with Calvin E. Barvis '30, being appointed circulation manager. Completing the personnel of the senior business staff, Henry R. Dowdy Jr. '30, received the foreign advertising managership.

Jacob L. Cohen, William C. McElvain, Roy E. Morgan, Charles A. Schmidt, Norman B. Sobler, and William K. Uerlich were selected to comprise the junior news board. The junior business group will consist of Alan B. Cutting, William B. Heilman, Albert J. Mileski and Harry C. Wood. Grace M. Woodrow '30, will head the women's staff. Helen F. Faust '30, was chosen assistant editor, and Martha J. Gobrecht '30, being appointed associate editor. The junior board will be composed of Mary J. Adams, Janet L. Brownback, and Edith L. Hoffeditz.

Who's Dancing Tomorrow Night Omega Delta Epsilon

Boxers Combat Navy Champions In Intercollegiate Ring Tourney; Elimination Bouts Begin Tonight

Determined to annex the intercollegiate boxing crown, Coach Leo Houck has his punchers primed for tonight's battles. Captain Allie Wolff (left) is confident of victory, while Steve Hamas (right) hopes to regain the heavy-weight crown he lost last year.

ORATORS OPPOSE RUTGERS TONIGHT

Debaters Will Refute Present Jury System at 8 O'clock In Schwab Auditorium

MEET TEMPLE FORENSIC TEAM OVER RADIO TODAY

Penn State debaters will meet representatives of Rutgers university in a two-man debate in Schwab auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, while another group of Nittany orators are competing with Temple university in Philadelphia in a radio debate this afternoon.

The subject for debate in Schwab auditorium will be "Resolved, That Trial by Jury Should Be Abolished." The Penn State speakers upholding the affirmative side of the question. In Philadelphia the Nittany affirmative orators will attempt to prove that the United States should enter the League of Nations.

Home Debate The contest with Rutgers will be the first two-man debate in which Penn State team has competed this year. J. Neil Keller '31, and Robert W. Haley '29, have been chosen to represent the College.

Both men have had experience in intercollegiate debating, Haley having participated in five contests and Keller in four debates this year. Haley was a member of the team which faced Oxford speakers early this season and appeared later against the all-Canadian trio. Keller also will speak in the sophomore extemporaneous speaking contest later in the year.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Penn State speakers will engage Temple orators in a radio debate over station WCAU. The Nittany team is composed of Albert J. Gares '29, David Kirsh '31, and Jack R. Richards '29.

Dr. Andrew Mutch To Speak in Chapel

Dr. Andrew Mutch, minister of Bryn Mawr Presbyterian church, will speak at the chapel service in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

The speaker is a Scotchman, having been in this country since 1912. He is a graduate of Edinburgh university and divinity school as well as Lafayette college.

Since coming to America, he has served in the Bryn Mawr church. He is president of the board of ministerial pensions of the Presbyterian church. One of his sermons was included among the "Best Sermons of 1926." Dr. Mutch has also established a reputation as a welfare worker and is well versed with the various conditions of human nature. His work has won him the praise of many divinity bodies.

STATE OFFICIALS INSPECT COLLEGE

Attend Athletic Mass Meeting In Schwab Auditorium to View Student Body

PARTY LEADERS TALK ON LEGISLATIVE PLANS

How the failure of the proposed $8,000,000 bond issue amendment has made necessary immediate legislative attention to building needs at Penn State was observed at first hand yesterday by members of the legislative appropriations committee on their biennial inspection of the College.

Twenty-six members of the committee spent the afternoon on the campus and last night were given a welcome by approximately 1,500 students in a mass meeting in Schwab auditorium. Appreciation of urgent needs for a new power plant, mines, home economics, education, arts and agricultural buildings was expressed by committee members.

Members arrived at noon from Huntingdon, had lunch served by co-eds, toured the campus, dined with the College deans and spent the night here, many with student friends in fraternity houses. President Ralph D. Hetzel directed the party, introduced members at the student meeting, and held a conference afterwards with committee members in his office. The committee will visit Rockview today.

Students greeted the appropriations committee in the course of a mass meeting held prior to the annual intercollegiate boxing tournament that starts here today. Members were cheered as they appeared and entertainment included numbers by the military band and the glee club. Committee members heard a talk on college athletics by Hugo Bezelok, director of physical education.

Students were reminded by member speakers that the college appropriation bill calling for $6,211,000 will soon be up for reading in the legislature.

Senior Class President Announces Committee

Harry E. Pfeiffer, senior class president, announced the appointment of the invitations, lion suits, and caps and gowns committees yesterday.

The invitations committee is composed of Charles D. Feight, chairman, Chester Davis, Theodore Moore, and Roy Hurley. James K. Rankin, chairman, Floyd M. Bishop, and Wilbur L. Heckler make up the cap and gown committee. Lion suits will be in charge of Kenneth H. Bender, chairman, James F. Bunting, and James E. Pollock.

WRESTLING ELECTIONS Manager Carl Buck '30 Assistant Managers Homer R. Mather '31 Paul B. Patton '31 Howard Sherer '31

7 Eastern Mit Teams Fight for Honors In New Gym

EPSTEIN, WOLFF DRAW BYES FOR FIRST BOUTS

Lions Conceded Even Chance of Victory Over Undefeated Midshipmen Foes

"Sink the Navy!" Eager to respond to the chorus of Penn State voices, Coach Leo Houck's determined boxers will fire leather-covered munitions at Navy's invading fleet tonight and tomorrow in the Recreation Hall ring as the East's leading mit teams aspire to the Midshipmen's throne in the sixth annual intercollegiate boxing tourney.

Conceded an even chance of registering their third tournament victory, Penn State's fistic sons are expected to vie with the undefeated Middies for ring honors in the final round of the tourney tomorrow night. Of the other contestants, Dick Harlow's Western Maryland ringmen are considered the most dangerous.

The entries in the annual ring classic are Navy, the defending champions, Penn State, Western Maryland, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, M. I. T., and Georgetown. The opening round of the tournament will begin tonight at 7 o'clock with two bouts in every division except the lightweight and welterweight classes. M. I. T.'s only entries are in these two divisions.

Byes for Navy New York university's decision to withdraw from the competition gives Navy byes in the 135-pound and unlimited divisions. Penn State is benefited by the decision in the middleweight class. Epstein does not appear in the preliminary round since M. I. T. has no bantamweight entered.

Stan Kolakoski will be the first Lion ringman in action. The hard-hitting veteran will trade punches with Hagerty of Georgetown in the featherweight clash. Hagerty scored an easy victory over Hal Thies in the Penn State-Georgetown dual encounter. Flater of Western Maryland will meet Schadel of Pennsylvania in the other setto.

In the 135-pound matches Boni Casoni will match his skill with Bolonas, Porto Rican captain of M. I. T. and runner-up for the title last year. Doug Crosby, undefeated Western Maryland lightweight, will exchange blows with Madden of Georgetown, and Saslow of Pennsylvania will face Stauss of Syracuse in the other battles.

Jack Davis will encounter a rugged foe in Thiel of Syracuse in the first welterweight match. Thiel fell prey to Captain Allie Wolff in two rounds last Saturday. Hall of Navy, who Davis outpointed earlier in the season, will match wits with Jameson of M. I. T., and Charley Fish, outstanding Georgetown puncher, will oppose Fox of Western Maryland in the other 145-pound settos.

Marty and Steve While Marty McAndrews is trading blows with Raymond, burly Syracuse football lineman, in the first 175-pound combat, one of the outstanding contenders will be eliminated in the match between Swan, undefeated Navy light-heavyweight, and Klepac, of Western Maryland, who lost to Swan in an extra-round bout. Steve Hamas, will begin his campaign (Continued on last page)

Today—

Editorials—

- 1. That For The Fighting 2. "The Old Order Changeth—" 3. A Non-Partisan Attitude 4. False Ideals

Calendar Today 7:00 p. m.—Boxing preliminaries Recreation Hall. 8:00 p. m.—Debaters oppose Rutgers, in Swab auditorium. Tomorrow 10:30 a. m.—Boxing semi-finals. 1:30 p. m.—Recreation Hall Dedication. 7:00 p. m.—Boxing finals.