Names of officers of organizations who will be ex-officio members of Student Council should be submitted to Homer K. Dodge '29 at the Phi Kappa Psi house immediately.

Campaign budgets of all candidates in the recent elections must be handed in to Joseph R. Fiorelli '29 by 9 o'clock tonight.

Distribution of Lion Suits will be held from 2 until 5 o'clock this afternoon from 7 until 9 o'clock to-night and all day Saturday at Montgomery's Campus Den. All suits not called for by Monday night will be sold. There will be several extra Lion Suits on sale at $2.50 a piece.

There will be a meeting of freshman candidates for the editorial staff of the COLLEGIAN in room 14 Liberal Arts building at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. Prof. Franklin P. Banner of the journalism department will speak.

Freshman candidates for business staff of Froth will meet in Froth office above Nittany Newstand at 7 o'clock Wednesday night. New men will be given equal consideration.

Students seeking summer employment may secure information as to positions in the "Y" Hut. The secretary will answer questions concerning propositions offered. Arrangements for an interview can be made Tuesday afternoon. Several jobs by the hour are also open for immediate part time work.

Three slickers and a number of text books are among the lost articles turned ed into the "Y" bureau. The owners may claim them by identifying them at the "Y" Hut.

Contrary to the original report, only three men for the class of 1930 were elected to the Student Council from the school of Agriculture. Those elected were William L. Hammaker '30, Chester W. Garretson '30 and Malcolm B. Koehler '30. Henry R. Paulhamus '30 was not elected.

member fraternities. After consideration, they are to be sent to Richard M. Streicker '29, former secretary-treasurer, not later than noon today.

Advocators of the proposed plan believe it will be a step toward deferred rushing. Because of inadequate rooming facilities, both of the College and in town, and because of financial burdens which would be suddenly imposed on the fraternity, they believe Penn State is not yet suited for deferred rushing. It is their contention, however, that steps may be taken to this end each year.

Differ on "Lead-Piping"

Opponents argue, on the other hand, that the system now under consideration would install a deferred rushing code where immediate rushing is in effect. They favor either the institution of rushing deferred until Thanksgiving or some later date at once or a return to the code of two years' ago, which provided for unrestricted rushing.

It is on this issue that the factions disagree. One holds it would be a backward step to return to the code of 1927, while the other proposes this return or adoption of deferred rushing this year. The affirmative faction, in addition, maintains that the suggested rules will give freshmen the opportunity to judge adequately the fraternities, and the fraternities opportunity to judge the freshmen.

Those favoring the code contend it removes "lead-piping" existing under the former open rushing, while the negative claims that only a very small number of fraternities engage in this practice.

Should more than half of the members return decisions favoring the proposed system, it will go into effect in September. If the result is negative, the committee will study the recommendations and submit another code for consideration of the Council.

PERSONNEL HEADS CONTINUE MEETING

The Centre Hills country club and the College links will be open to the visitors.

Mr. F. A. Merrick, vice-president and general manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company will address an open meeting in Schuylab auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight on "What Changes are Taking Place in Industry Which Will Ultimately Affect the Demand for Technically Trained Men."

As the second speaker, Mr. C. S. Ching, of the United States Rubber company will speak on "How Can the Engineering Graduate Make the Greatest Contribution to Industry."

Prof. J. Orvis Keller To Speak
When the delegates reconvene in Room 200 Engineering D tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock Prof. J. Orvis Keller of the engineering extension department will talk to them concerning "The Trend of Industrial Training by Extension Methods." Discussions on the various topics considered will complete the remainder of the morning. The conference will come to a close following luncheon at the University club at 12:30 o'clock.

Dares Fate for Favorite Pipe Tobacco

Darby, Pa., November 12, 1926.

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Gentlemen: I have a mania for crawling through a number of unexplored caverns between the towns of Woodstock and Mt. Jackson in the Shenandoah Valley. One cave was exceedingly dangerous with its tight passages, etc. I spent three hours in this cavity, groping blindly with a "dead" flashlight and a severed guiding string.

To cut my story short, I was finally rescued by a searching party after a terrible experience. It was a wonderful feeling as I sat at the mouth of the cavern telling my friends that I would not go back in there for love nor money. I meant it—until I reached for my can of Edgeworth. It was gone, and I recalled dropping something during the excitement in the cave.

It is queer what a man will do when his favorite tobacco is concerned. I realized that without my tobacco it would be as bad as being lost in the cavity—so I crawled back.

It was a grand and glorious feeling as my hand came in contact with the Aristocrat of Tobacco.

Yours very truly,
Joseph F. Fink, Jr.

"Gentlemen of the Press," the Smashing All-Talking Version of Celebrated Stage Play, With Walter Huston and Other Stage Stars
Take a story with human interest in an atmosphere that everyone likes to hear about, give it a cast of fine actors, and you have a production like "Gentlemen of the Press." The picture deals with a veteran newspaper man who has given up everything he likes for business. When his daughter was born he was covering a prize fight; when his wife died, he was covering a Mexican uprising. (Cont. at Cathaum)
