

W. S. G. A. ARRANGES NEW POINT POLICY

Provides That Girls of Ability May Carry Extra Duties in Competition

Hoping to distribute women's activities among many students, W. S. G. A. has instituted a new point system, which with the exception of a few minor details, is ready for publication in the 1929 Women's Student Handbook.

Miss Josephine T. Lees '30, Census Chairman of the W. S. G. A. stated yesterday that with this system the organization will try to prevent monopolization of the various offices by a few girls.

The policy, which states that no girl, with the exception of the president of the W. S. G. A., may carry more than fifty points, has been amended to permit any girl, whole health and scholastic standing will allow, to carry an extra ten points.

The suggestion that a girl be allowed to carry approximately fifteen temporary points at such times as May Day fete, conventions of the various clubs, is under consideration.

According to Miss Lees, the following organizations, some of which have not been recognized before, will be included under the new point system: W. S. G. A., W. A. A., Y. W. C. A., Freshman Y. W. C. A. cabinet, all class clubs, fraternities and dormitory offices, Glee Club and Louse Home club; Archonai and Owens; Penn State Players and Theta Alpha Phi; Phi Chi Phi, Phi Sigma Iota; Omicron Nu, Kappa Delta Pi; Ellen H. Richards club, Delta Sigma Rho, debating managers and the Forensic Council, Women's Student Hand Book, COLLEGIAN, Photh: Lu Ve; and Parmer.

Yeast Cakes Grow in Popularity as White Rats Thrive

Yeast cakes are destined to grow in popularity. At least, they will, for some time, believes Dr. Hannah E. Honeywell who has been experimenting with white rats, vitamins and yeast cakes in the bacteriology department here.

Yeast is eaten as a source of vitamin B, an anti-neurotic substance used to stimulate growth. Although yeast has rapidly gained in popularity, its taste has not improved. Consequently a tonic containing this vitamin B substance is sought.

Fifty-four white rats are living in cages on Ag Hill. They are divided into groups of three. One of each group is fed yeast cakes, another food which contains no vitamins B, and a third vitamin B bacteria in powder form. This bacteria is fed in one-half gram quantities.

The vitamin is killed and therefore does not become available to the rat. Consequently Doctor Honeywell says that it will be some time yet before people can substitute a tonic for yeast cakes.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Miss Dorothy W. Cummings was chosen president of Owens, women's honorary activities fraternity, at the election of officers which followed the initiation Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Haller, honorary member.

Miss Mabel E. Bowman was elected vice-president, while Miss Jean L. Simmons acquired the post of secretary-treasurer. The new group chose Miss Marie I. Keesport '31 for their alumnae advisor.

PLAYERS TO ENACT 'QUEEN'S HUSBAND'

Offer Year's Last Production in Schwab Auditorium Next Monday

As the concluding show of the season, the Penn State Players will present "The Queen's Husband," a satirical comedy by Robert L. Sherwood, in Schwab auditorium at 7:15 o'clock Monday night, June 17.

The comedy had its premier last season at the Playhouse in New York City. It had a successful run on Broadway, and later was sent on the road and showed before capacity audiences in Chicago, Detroit, and San Francisco.

Mr. Sherwood, the author, was formerly an editor of Life, as well as a former newspaperman. He achieved instant success with his first play "The Road to Rome." This was another satirical comedy based on a historical background.

To portray revolution a special setting is being constructed by the property men for the commencement production. It is a lavish, expensive scene of the King's private office in the palace with the valued collection of trinkets which he has gathered from all corners of the globe.

One of the special effects to be used is the production of the sounds of whining bullets and machine gun fire which will mix with the screams of the wounded in the streets below the palace window.

Arthur R. Cunningham '31, cast as King Eric VIII, is playing one of his first character roles. Previously he has appeared in juvenile parts and taking such leads in numerous shows within the past season.

Feminine leads in the show will be taken by Miss Anne E. Mellinger '31, as the Princess, and Miss Helen Buckwalter '31, as the Queen. Other leads in the show will be portrayed by Jesse M. MacKnight Jr. '31, and Peter G. Meek '32.

One change in the cast was made with the selection of Reginald R. Keaton '32, to play the part of Lord Bitten. Other members of the cast include Miss Mildred J. Wentz '31, Miss Lydia M. Haller '32, Howard Cashdollar '30, Robert E. Muller '31, James P. Aber '31, Philip Epstein '32, Jack L. Ganson '32, and Eugene P. Nord Jr. '32.

SUMMER SESSION DIRECTOR EXPECTS LARGE ATTENDANCE

French, Music, English School, Will Present Specialized Instruction Work

CLASSES BEGIN JULY 2, CLOSE EARLY IN AUGUST

Hergesheimer, Lindsay, Davison Will Conduct Courses in Literature, Poetry

With an increase of more than sixty per cent over last year in the number of applications received up to the present time, the twentieth annual summer session will probably be the largest ever held at Penn State, according to Dean of Education Will G. Chambers, director of the session. The summer session faculty will number 212 while more than 750 courses will be taught during the six week session. French, English and Music institutes will be held in addition to the regular summer session instruction.

Registration will be Monday, July 1, with all classes beginning the following day. Summer school will close on Friday, August 9. Commencement exercises will be held the day before.

Six periods, each eighty minutes in length, are scheduled from Monday to Friday inclusive. During the first week, Monday classes will be held Tuesday; Tuesday classes on Wednesday; Wednesday classes on Thursday; Thursday classes on Friday; and Friday classes on Saturday.

Six credits are considered a normal schedule although students may obtain permission to carry extra credits. If they present a written petition to the dean of the school in which they are registering and show that they have received an average of two or better in previous sessions. If a student desires to take less than the standard two daily courses, he must explain his reasons in his application for registration.

With the exception of several special courses, the registration fee will be five dollars per credit. A one dollar fee will be charged for late registration and each tardy change of registration.

Plan Special Courses.

The Progressive Education association plan, to conduct a three weeks' institute dealing with principles and practices in progressive education while a school administration will be discussed in a six weeks' course. A speech correction clinic will be conducted by Dr. Sarah M. Starbuck, specialist on speech faults and difficulties.

Six well-known writers and lecturers will compose the faculty of the Institute of English Education. Dr. Otter Lowe, head of the English department at Miami University, will direct the institute. Joseph Hergesheimer, novelist and short story writer, will conduct a weeks' course on "Recent American Fiction," and Edward Davison, well-known English poet, will discuss English poetry from 1890 to 1929.

"Current American Poetry" has been chosen by Vachel Lindsay, popular American poet, as the subject of his discussion, while the "Story of Literature" will be told by Prof. John May of Columbia university. Mr. Helen Louise Cohen, author and lecturer, and Mrs. Marjorie S. Douglas, critic and short story writer, will conduct courses on drama and short story writing respectively.

Housed in Varsity Hall, the student attending the French institute will speak French only. Assisted by a faculty of ten members, Prof. Friedrich Ernst of New York university will direct the special session. Monsieur Charles Marc des Granges, eminent French author and scholar, will serve as the visiting professor for the institute. Eleven courses of study will be offered.
