Y.W.C.A. INSTALLS MEETING CHAMBER

Will Employ Room as Library and Study Hall for Use of All Women Students

"The 'Y' room for all girls" is the motto of the Y. W. C. A., which opened 1001 215 McAllister hall yesterday for the use of the entire woman student body.

All Y. W. C. A. cabinet meetings will be held in this room. It will serve also as a study hall for students between classes.

Beginning October 9, regular Wednesday night Y. W. C. A. meetings will be held in McAllister hall lobby. These meetings will have varied programs including readings, talks by prominent people, slides, devotional exercises, music, and singing.

Faulty Co-operation Proves Hindrance to Rushing Code

Head of I. F. C. Deplores Underhand Tactics Of Fraternities

"Lack of cooperation among the national fraternities in observing the rushing code and reporting violations has had a decidedly detrimental effect on the code's success this year," Malcolm Kirkpatrick '30, president of Interfraternity council, stated last night.

"The code itself proved an improvement over last year's but the prevalence of sub-rosa tactics on the part of a number of fraternities detracted from the new system's value," Kirkpatrick declared.

All violations which have been reported will be judged by the Interfraternity council Board of Control which meets next week. Conviction carries with it forfeiture of the $50 bond, listing of the violator's names in the Collegian and reporting of the violator to their national fraternity headquarters.

Kirkpatrick said that the code was more clearly understood by the Council's members this year than last season, and that rushing season progressed with less confusion than formerly. Approximately 1500 bids passed ed through the board of control hands Wednesday morning. "At its best, the present code serves as an educational step toward a system of deferred rushing," the Council president said, "and it will not be until deferred rushing comes to Penn State that the full value of the code is appreciated." "Housing conditions prove the chief hindrance to such a rushing system," he stated.

PHI MU TO ADMIT LOCAL TOMORROW

National Delegates Will Initiate Trestrella Club Members In Ceremony Here

The Trestrella club will be formally installed as the Beta Mu chapter of Phi Mu, national women's fraternity, tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur S. Hurrell.

Phi Mu fraternity was founded at Wesleyan college, Macon, Georgia, the first woman's college to be established in America. The fraternity was originally founded January 1, 1852.

In addition to the chapter at Penn State, Phi Mu expects to install three other chapters this year, bringing the total chapter enrollment up to fifty-seven.

The petitioning groups are at Rollins college, Florida, Purdue university, Indiana, and Queen's college, North Carolina.

Organized in 1927. The national organization has established healthmobile, a child hygiene truck, which travels through the south for philanthropic purposes.

Phi Mu also has endowed an annual European scholarship which is available to all Pan-Hellenic members.

Trestrella organized at Penn State September, 1927, when Miss Katharine Reitz, of Phi Mu at Bucknell and Miss Eleanor Peters, Phi Mu at Ohio Wesleyan, transferring to Penn State, formed the group with the ideal of petitioning Phi Mu.

The group was recognized by the Campus Club council November 2, 1927. The name Trestrella signifies three stars which symbolize scholarship, sisterhood, and sincerity.

ENGLISH HEAD EXEMPTS MANY PLEBE STUDENTS

Thirty-eight out of twelve hundred freshmen were exempted from English composition 1 with the highest average grade in the series of three tests yet recorded, according to Ray V. Watkins, instructor in English composition, in charge of the work.

M. P. Howell '31, a student in the School of Liberal Arts, made the highest score ever compiled at Penn State for these standard tests. The exemptions are well distributed throughout the college. Liberal Arts leads with 14. Education follows with 9, Engineering with 6, Chemistry and Physics with 6, and Agriculture with 5.

"Teachers than can teach and students that can learn," are the needs of American colleges according to a statement made by Dr. John M. McElroy, dean of the Tulane university graduate school, in one of the recent issues of the College publication.

One of the main needs of the college student is a better sense of coordination among his various studies, Dr. McElroy said.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY SPONSORS LEAFLET

Prof. Pauline Mack Issues Aid Of Organization in Issuing Weekly Pamphlet

Acceptance as the official elementary student publication of the American Chemical Society begins a new career for the Chemistry Leaflet, a weekly magazine for first-year students in chemistry edited by Prof. Pauline G. Mack, of the chemistry department.

Prof. Mack, who had edited the twenty-page booklet for two years, received the sponsorship of the society at its convention in Milwaukee recently. Beginning on October 15 the second anniversary of the paper will be published by the society.

Prof. Mack retains the editorship of the leaflet, which will be enlarged to circulation, already 5000, will also be increased.

News items from ancient times down to the present which have bearing on chemistry are included in the leaflet. Articles about famous people, from Jack Dempsey to Rudyard Kipling, are written in order to show the relation of chemistry to modern affairs. The chief object of the leaflet is to follow the outline of the course in chemistry in an original manner which will make the student more interesting to the student. Prof. Mack has been praised by the society for her efforts in furthering the journal.

W.S.G.A. PROPOSES GOOD FORM WEEK

New Program To Replace Etiquette Period—Will Include Fashion Shows, Lectures

"Good Form Week," October 11 to October 20, will replace "Etiquette Week" this year, it was decided at a meeting of the W. S. G. A. senate Monday night. Etiquette will be only one phase of the program, according to Miss Helen F. Faust '30, president of the association.

While complete plans have not yet been drawn up, the proposed program includes fashion shows and lectures in the MacAllister hall dining room. It will close with a reception sponsored by the W. S. G. A., W. A. A., and Y. W. C. A.

Miss Marion F. Oehme '30, and Miss A. Pauline Myers '30, will have charge of the week's activities. The faculty of the department of home economics will co-operate with the students in planning and carrying out the project.

TOWN GIRLS MEET SOON

Dean Charlotte E. Ray and the presidents of all organizations of women's activities will be present at a social for the town women students at 8 o'clock next Tuesday night in the freshman dormitory on Foster avenue. The committee on change has arranged entertainment and refreshments.

COLLEGE PLAYERS PLAN 7 OFFERINGS FOR COMING YEAR

Dramatic Club Will Celebrate Hundredth Performance With Special Show

DIRECTORS ADOPT NEW SYSTEM OF TRY-OUTS

Schedule 'Royal Family,' 'Radio Mystery,' 'Good Hope' As Next Presentations

Plans for what promises to be one of the most successful seasons in the history of the Penn State Players, were announced last night by Prof. Arthur C. Cloetngh, director of the club. Seven shows selected by the directors for production during the year, also were revealed.

Among the outstanding events planned by the organization for the coming year is the celebration of their one hundredth performance, for which special arrangements are being made. A new plan whereby only three try-out a season will be conducted also goes into effect this year.

"The Royal Family," "The Good Hope," and "The Radio Mystery" are a few of the new shows scheduled for future production. The season will open on October 11 with a revival of last year's hilarious success "Is Zat So?"

Another Thriller Listed. One of the outstanding plays of the last two dramatic seasons, "The Royal Family" will be staged by the Players in December. The drama of a couple's family is still being enacted in the larger cities by traveling companies. Prof. Cloetngh will direct the show.

"The Good Hope," a tragedy of the sea, will be the January offering of the dramatists under the direction of Frank S. Neubaum. For lovers of the detective story, the Players will give "The Radio Mystery," a brand new thriller. This will be presented in February under the coaching of Prof. David D. Mason.

Try-out for the first three plays of the season will be held some time this month. The exact date will be announced later.

RUTGERS CHAPLAIN TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Colonel John T. Axton Will Discuss Undimmed Love at Services In Schwab Auditorium

Returning to the Penn State campus for the sixth year, Colonel John T. Axton, chaplain of Rutgers university, will address the student body on "Undimmed Love" at chapel exercises in Schwab auditorium Sunday morning.

Colonel Axton served as chaplain in the United States army for more than a quarter of a century, and is chief of chaplains to eight years, he directed the religious work of the army. While serving in the World War he was awarded the Distinguished Service medal of his own country, made a member of the Legion of Honor in France, and received the Croce di Guerra from Italy.

In addition to serving in the World War, Colonel Axton also participated in campaigns in the Philippines and went with the expedition to Mexico. At the time of America's Unknown Soldier at Arlington National cemetery in 1921, he was one of the participating officials.

NOTED ARCHEOLOGISTS VERIFY REPORTS ON INDIAN SKELETONS

Three archeologists, Dr. Robert R. Jones of the University of Chicago, Junious Bird of Columbia university, and Alton M. Beale of Academia, Pa., have verified the theories of Penn State geologists concerning the finding of Indian skeletons in Milesburg recently.

Reading in a Harrisburg paper that supposed Indian skeletons had been located near State College, Dr. Jones and his party travelled fifty-five miles from Academia Tuesday morning to investigate the report.

Upon viewing the remains Tuesday afternoon, the scientists were unanimous in their opinion that the bones of an Indian had been found. Dr. Jones based his belief chiefly upon the fact that the teeth were shovel-shaped. He also stated that as far

DR. MARQUARDT TO TALK ON RECENT CONVENTION

Dr. Carl E. Marquardt will report the annual convention of Phi Sigma Iota national honorary romance language society at the initial meeting of the college chapter at the home of the president, Mrs. Susan A. Porterfield, October 15.

Phi Sigma Iota was founded at Allegheny college seven years ago for the purpose of rewarding scholarship and furthering research in Romance languages and literatures. The Beta chapter was formed at Penn State in 1925. It holds monthly meetings to consider papers, review books, and conduct general discussion.

STUDENTS ARRANGE DADS' DAY SMOKER

Reception in Armory To Begin Annual 3-Day Program Next Saturday

More than two thousand visiting "Dads" will be extended a gala reception at a smoker to be held under the auspices of the student government in the Armory Saturday night, October 12 as part of the three-day program for the ninth annual observance of Fathers' Day.

Mr. Robert E. Galbraith of the English department will act as toastmaster and introduce Dean of Men Arthur R. Warner, Hugo Bezek, director of athletics, and F. Bruce Baldwin jr. '30, president of the student government, who will deliver short talks. While supper and short talks will be enjoyed, "Dads" will be entertained by novelty numbers by the Varsity Ten orchestra. Other features and surprises are being prepared by the committee.

Smoker To Climax Program. In arranging the program, the committee, consisting of Sidney H. Lewis '30, chairman, Logan Stout '30, Hewitt B. McCloskey '30, and Christian K. Eberole '30, has sought to encourage wider acquaintanceships among the parents. Each "Dad," as he enters the armory, will be given a tag bearing his name, and an effort will be made to have as many fathers meet each other as possible.

The smoker will climax the three-day visit of the fathers at Penn State. Starting Friday night with a performance of "Is Zat So" by the Penn State Players, the program continues Saturday with campus tours in the morning, a football game with Marshall college in the afternoon, and concludes Sunday with chapel services in the Auditorium.

DR. KIRBY WILL HEAD EXTENSION PATHOLOGY

Dr. Robert S. Kirby, of the School of Agriculture, has been appointed head of the extension work in plant pathology to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Prof. Webster S. Kriest. College officials announced yesterday.

The new department head has studied at New Mexico Agricultural college, Iowa State Agricultural college, and Cornell university. He has been acting head of the plant pathology work here for the past year.

INSTRUCTORS RETURN

After a year of graduate work Joseph F. Fosa, associate professor of romance languages, and Thomas B. Bowman, instructor in English composition, have returned to their positions on the faculty. Prof. Fosa studied Italian at Yale university, while Mr. Bowman took graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

PROF. DEDRICK CONDUCTS FLOUR MILLING COURSE

Numbering among his pupils students from foreign lands and from all sections of the country, Prof. Benjamin W. Dedrick is conducting a correspondence course in flour milling under the auspices of the engineering extension department.

The course is a result of the recognition won by Prof. Dedrick for discovering a short time bread and special wheat extract last year. A Russian milling journal for October contained a translation of an article from the National Miller on Prof. Dedrick's work.

BROWN UNIVERSITY BAND TO PLAY ON RADIO HOUR

Initiating a series of radio concerts by College musical organizations, the Brown university band will broadcast a program during the Koster radio hour October 16 over the stations of the Columbia Broadcasting company.

This program will be followed on succeeding weeks by offerings of other College musical groups including glee clubs, band, and orchestras.

ARTISTS' COURSE WILL OPEN NOV. 1

Noted Russian Symphonic Choir To Begin New Series of Entertainments

Opening the Artists' course sponsored by the College, the famous Russian choir under the direction of Basil Kibalechich will present a concert in the Auditorium November 1. This will be the first of a group of six numbers planned for the course.

Applauded for its ability to interpret the unbiased music critics who attended its concerts as part of their work, the Russian Symphonic choir has been highly praised for its performances in New York. Following successes there, the group made a tour of many other large cities with considerable success.

Mr. Kibalechich, conductor of the choir, is internationally famous as a director. Revealing a talent for music when he was only 12 years old, the leader has since conducted such famous musical groups as the Archangel-sky choir of Petrograd, the Choir of the Petrograd Conservatory of Music, and the Russian Cathedral choir.

No-el Musical Idea. About ten years ago, Mr. Kibalechich organized his first Russian symphonic choir on unusual lines for a musical idea and arranged along the same lines as a symphony orchestra.

Mr. Kibalechich was a student in the class of Rimsky-Korsakoff, one of Russia's greatest composers since Tchaikovsky. Most of the compositions used by the choir in their program were specially arranged by the leader.

Musical devotees of the College claim that the group is one of the finest musical troupes that has ever visited the Penn State campus. Their visit will be unusual, it is said, in the annals of the College.

DR. PILCHER TO STUDY ARCHITECTURE METHODS

For the purpose of studying courses given at the various institutions, Dr. Lewis P. Pilcher, new head of the department of architecture, left Monday night to visit all the colleges of the country teaching architecture.

Dr. Pilcher expects to be gone about a month and the team will extend as far west as California. Before leaving he spoke before the members of the architectural department.

SOCCER ASSOCIATION GIVES CUP TO LIBERAL ARTS DEAN

Dean Stoddard was presented recently with the cup won by the Liberal Arts school in the Inter-school Soccer tournament held last Spring. The cup is awarded yearly by the United States Football association for the promotion of school and junior soccer.

Hot Contests Emerge As Teammates Battle For Positions

CAPTAIN MARTIN BREAKS INTO BACKFIELD LINE-UP

Curry and McMillen Will Start Contest in Guard and Tackle Posts

A completely revamped Nittany gridiron army will encounter Coach Hooks Mylin's veteran Lebanon Varsity gridder on New Beaver field at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Although defeated by a hard driving Villanova team by a 24-to-17 score Saturday the Annville army will probably present strong opposition to the victorious advance of the Blue and White team.

With but four members of last year's team missing from the squad this season Coach Mylin will present a veteran combination in tomorrow's fray.

Captain Martin To Start. Attempting to discover the most powerful combination possible for tomorrow's game, Coach Bezek has been experimenting with various line and backfield combinations during practice sessions this week. Hotly contested battles are being waged for every position on the varsity squad and Bezek hopes to be able to discover his most powerful combination within the next future.

Captain Jack Martin will break into the varsity line-up for the first time tomorrow. Although Jack has been performing capably in the "red string" fullback post he will start tomorrow's game at the quarterback position. The Nittany 7-0-0-0's ability to back on the line combined with his speed and power in running interference have made him a formidable back both on offensive and defensive plays.

Mike Kaplan and Earle Edwards will start at the wing posts for the

ALUMNI PREPARE FOR HOMECOMING

College Officials Predict Record Crowd for Annual Week-end Celebration, Oct. 25

Preliminary arrangements for accommodating one of the largest crowds of graduates in the history of the College are being made by Alumni association officials for Homecoming Day, which will be observed October 26.

Reservations throughout the town are being made now for visitors at the week-end. Alumni and former students will register in the Armory all day Friday and Saturday upon their arrival in State College.

Several novel features are planned for this year's gathering, the chairman in charge of the event report. Among the new innovations is a "See the Campus Tour," including visits to the various exhibits and inspection of new buildings.

A student mass meeting as well as the usual smoker and cider party, are scheduled for succeeding nights. A golf tournament, football game, Varsity club dinner, and alumni party are other entertainments planned. Chapel service Sunday morning will end the week-end program.
