COMMITTEE PLANS ACTIVE WEEK-END FOR 1000 ALUMNI

Homecoming Crowd To Register At Armory As Program Officially Opens

GOLF TOURNEY BEGINS EVENTS AT 1 O'CLOCK

Graduates Attend Pep Meeting In Auditorium—Will Tour Campus Tomorrow

Returning to their Alma Mater for a brief week-end visit, more than one thousand alumni and former students will assemble at the College today, tomorrow, and Sunday for their tenth annual Homecoming celebration.

Complete arrangements to entertain the visitors during their stay here have been made by Committee Chairman Clarence E. Bullinger '21, and his co-workers. Alumni headquarters have been established at the Armory, and all returning graduates will register there immediately upon their arrival in State College.

Fraternities and women's campus clubs have prepared to welcome back their former members. Room reservations for the three days also may be obtained at alumni headquarters by guests who have not already secured accommodations.

Lettermen To Meet The program will open with the fall alumni golf tournament at 1 o'clock this afternoon. All alumni are eligible to register for this event at the club house on the College course.

Following the tournament, the Varsity club, composed of former Penn State lettermen, will hold its annual dinner meeting at Centre Hills Country club starting at 7 o'clock tonight. The meeting will be presided over by Burke H. Hermann '12, president of the group.

Closing the activities for the day, a monster student athletic rally and mass meeting will be held in the auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

May Tour Campus Opening tomorrow's program, members of the Alumni association executive board will meet in the alumni office at 8:30 o'clock. Many important business matters are expected to be discussed at this meeting. The board probably will consider the filling of the vacant secretaryship.

"Old grads" will be given an opportunity to view the changes made on the campus since then undergraduate days when they make the campus tours, which will start at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will start at frequent intervals after that time under the direction of guides secured from the membership of the Penn State.

945 ENROLL FOR NEW L. A. RECORD

Dear Student Reveals Growth of Registration in Journalism And Arts Curricula

Nine hundred and forty-five students, the largest enrollment ever recorded, have registered in the Liberal Arts school, stated Dean Charles W. Stoddard yesterday.

Of the total enrollment 922 are registered in the 3 upper classes, 277 in the freshman class, and 13 as special students. Commerce and finance ranks first with 311 upperclassmen while the pre-legal department has 126 registered. Of the two new departments organized, journalism claims twenty-seven and art ten students. The art department will graduate students for the first time this June.

In his report, Dean Stoddard shows that the school has more than doubled in the last ten years. In 1919, 451 students were listed, compared to the 1928 enrollment of 851. In 1911 the graduating class consisted of 46, an increase of over 150. The faculty has increased proportionally. Forty-eight faculty members composed the staff in 1911 and now there are over one hundred.

With the completion of the new Liberal Arts unit additional accommodations for students will be available. The office space in the present building will be used for class rooms. All offices are to be removed to the new building.

The journalism department, recently severed from the English department, will be quartered in the new Old Main building.

College Denies Accusation Of Subsidizing Athletes

Newspaper Account Is Faulty, Officials Believe

Belief that the news story covering the report made by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching concerning the subsidizing of athletes is misleading was expressed by College officials yesterday.

"The published report does not mention the fact that in 1927 Penn State decided to abolish athletic scholarships, the measure becoming effective in 1928," Adrian C. Morse, executive secretary to President Hetzel declared.

"The investigators for the Carnegie Foundation made their survey here in 1926. When the College abolished athletic scholarships, the investigators were notified, although acknowledgment of Penn State's action does not appear in the news story," he stated.

Confidence that the complete Carnegie Foundation report on college athletics would show that the situation at Penn State is quite different from published excerpts was voiced late yesterday by Dean Robert L. Sackett, chairman of the College Senate committee on athletics and vice-president of the Athletic Board of Control. Dean Sackett's opinion is based on a statement of local board members issued late yesterday.

The survey which has occupied three years' investigation lists Penn State as maintaining 75 athletic schol-ships, while the reports also state that the College is one of the institutions 'caring for' a more or less definite number of athletes. The report says that Penn State is one of the schools "where fraternity chapters may provide certain athletic members with room or board, or with both, at so low a figure that the arrangement can be regarded only as an athletic subsidy."

COLLEGE OFFICIALS EXPRESS NEED FOR NATATORIUM HERE

Widespread Approval Prevails As Class of 1922 Plans Swimming Pool

'ALUMNI INTERESTED IN MOVE,' PRESIDENT SAYS

Dean of Men Declares 'Unit Is Necessary To Round Out Physical Education'

Widespread approval has been voiced by alumni, students, and College officials following announcement that the class of 1922 has renewed its pledge to aid in providing a swimming pool for Penn State.

Realizing that Penn State is practically the only institution of its size lacking a natatorium, popular sentiment favors construction of a pool here in the near future. A committee representing the class of 1922 has been working steadily on the project, and is confident that with College support the pool may be completed by 1932.

"As a swimming pool is included in the plans for Recreation hall, I believe that the alumni will give their support and interest to the unit, and accordingly, the pool's completion," Prof. Charles L. Kinsale, president of the Penn State Alumni association, stated yesterday.

"Necessary," Says Warnock President Ralph D. Hetzel hopes that a swimming pool will be included when additions are made to the College physical education plant, while Director of Athletics Hugo Bezdek declared that need for a pool is evident, and that the class of 1922 has provided the stimulus necessary to revive interest in the project.

"It is a very necessary feature needed to round out our physical education program," Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock said when asked his opinion of the project. "It is important to make our students physically as well as mentally and intellectually capable and certainly no man can be called fit unless he knows how to swim. I believe it should be established as soon as possible as the next addition to our physical education equipment plan."

That Penn State students are unanimous in their desire for a pool was the opinion expressed by Martin S. McAndrews '30, president of the Athletic association. He stated that it is the only drawback in the College's physical education facilities and that the students would back any move to provide a pool for Penn State.

Estimates covering a pool necessary for an institution the size of Penn State place the cost between $250,000 and $300,000.

COLLEGE M. E. LABORATORY RECEIVES NEW PYROMETER

A pyrometer of special millivolt design has been presented to the mechanical laboratory by Thomas G. Estup '05, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Carnegie Institute of Technology, officials announced yesterday. This instrument is used in the recording of the expansion of solid bodies by heat. Installation will be completed within four weeks, according to Prof. Arthur J. Wood, head of the mechanical engineering department.

1930 'La Vie' Supplement Heads Name 2 Assistants For Yearbook Staff

Rapid strides are being made toward the completion of the College, class, and fraternity sections of the 1930 'La Vie' Supplement, Fred C. Schworer '30, editor-in-chief, announced yesterday.

With fraternity group pictures being taken daily in front of the chapter houses, Donald L. Weisman '30, photographic editor, expects to finish the work on this section by November 15. Photographing of honorary fraternity and activity groups will then begin at the Photo shop.

Individual activity cards have been distributed to the fraternities, while non-fraternity men will fill out their cards in their respective schools. Arrangements have been made for the junior and senior women to turn in their cards in the lobby of McAllister hall.

Schworer announced the completion of the personnel of the senior annual staff by the appointment of Charles E. Patterson '30 and Robert P. Campbell '30. Patterson will act as advisory athletic editor, while Campbell has been named assistant business manager, by John L. Barnhart '30, business manager. A Kenneth Scherck '30, associate editor, also announced that class organizations should submit their material to him not later than Friday.

DOCTOR DYE ANNOUNCES NEW LITERATURE CLUB

To discuss literary works informally, members of the department of English literature have formed an English literature club, Dr. William S. Dye, head of the department, announced yesterday.

The club, which will meet once a month at the home of one of the members, will discuss a summary of all critical material published during the month. One of the members will present an original paper on some phase of literature at each meeting. The first regular meeting will be held at Doctor Dye's home on November 3.

HORTICULTURISTS TO EXHIBIT PRODUCTS FOR ALUMNI DAY

As a special attraction for Alumni Day, a horticulture show will be held on the second floor of the Horticulture building tomorrow. Displays of fruit, flowers, vegetables, and culinary products of the home economics department will be among the exhibits. Students of landscape architecture have arranged a special exhibition of their work.

Star Maroon Halfbacks Sustain Injuries Against Bisons

LIONS SEEK REPRISAL FOR SETBACK IN 1928

Bezdek Keeps Line-up Intact as Teams Meet at 2 o'clock Tomorrow Afternoon

eager to avenge the defeat administered by the Maroon team last year, an impatient pack of Nittany Lions awaits the annual gridiron clash with Coach Herb McCracken's Lafayette eleven before a Homecoming Day crowd on New Beaver field at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Hampered by the probable absence of Socolow and Sullivan regular halfbacks, Coach McCracken will bring a weakened eleven to State College for tomorrow's encounter. Both back are suffering from injuries sustained in Saturday's game with Bucknell. Socolow, a member of last year's freshman squad, has proved one of the Maroon's most consistent ground-gainers.

Although defeated by Bucknell, the Easton battlers have shown power in the three games which they have played this season. Opening their schedule against Lehighberg's purple-in-totem, Coach McCracken's proteges topped off with a 23-0 victory. The following Saturday a Manhattan college eleven fell before Lafayette halfbacks, the game ending with the Maroon team on the long end of another 23-0 score. Hope for an undefeated season, however, were dashed when a strong Bucknell team captured Saturday's encounter by a 6-0 score.

Inexperienced Team With but three members of last year's hard-training eleven in the lineup, the Easton mentor will present an inexperienced array of gridiron men to tomorrow's encounter. Although the forward wall averages 190 pounds per man, one of the lightest backfields ever to perform on a Lafayette game. The average weight of the ball carriers is 165 pounds. Woodfin plunging fullback of the 1925 eleven, is the only weighty back.

Rothberg will probably start at the left end with Captain Bill Sherwood at the other wing position. Vanderburgh and Cook, both members of last year's freshman aggregate, will occupy the tackle berths. Emuley and Bobinsky will play the guard positions. Bobinsky was a member of the 1928 eleven. Reiter, 195 pound sophomore, will handle the center post.

FRESHMAN CO-EDS TO MEET MONDAY

Upperclassmen Plan Supervisors of Discussion Groups For First Year Students

Upperclassmen will take charge of the regular freshman discussion group, designed to help freshmen grasp the problems of everyday life, Dean Charlotte F. Ray announced today. The first of the discussions will be held in Dean Ray's apartment in the Women's building at 11 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The meeting on Monday, at which the co-eds will discuss the topic "To Do or Not to Do," will be the first of a series to be held the first four days of next week, and the first four days of the week following. The gathering will be held at the same place and hour each day.

It is planned to hold the discussion group, which were inaugurated last year under the direction of Dean Ray, once a month throughout the year. Selected upperclasswomen have been invited to assist in leading at the meetings.

A list of the discussion group sections, with references explaining the topic under discussion, have been posted on the bulletin board in McAllister hall.

CAMERAMEN FILM CAMPUS TOMORROW

To Take Sound Views of Snake, Lafayette Grid Battle, Harmonica Band

Sound moving pictures of the Lafayette football game, the nature education rattlesnake and freshman harmonica band will be taken tomorrow when a force of Pathé News cameramen arrive to film activities at Penn State.

The prize rattle belonging to the department of nature education is being filmed during the early part of the morning. George R. Green, professor of nature education, will be in charge of the reptile.

Professor Green is an expert in the handling of rattlesnakes and will permit it to run freely over the ground. As an educational measure he will make it rattle so that audiences viewing the picture may hear a rattler in action, and he will also demonstrate how a snake may be captured with a pronged stick.

Film Harmonica Band The freshman harmonica band will be filmed during the morning. According to Richard W. Grant, professor of music, this band is one of the largest of its kind in the country.

In the afternoon the detail will proceed to New Beaver field where the Lafayette game will be filmed. The freshmen, sophomore, and Blue bands also will form a part of this action. This is the first sound motion picture in which the bands have been featured. In addition short shots of the cheering sections will be taken.

FRESHMEN CO-EDS ELECT TRIAL STUDENT LEADERS

To Select Permanent Officers From Three Temporary Groups

First trial officers for freshmen women were elected at a meeting in room 109 Horticulture building Monday night.

Florence Menges will act as president for the two-week period, while Doris Hasleton will hold the office of vice president. Molly Latway will officiate as secretary, Helen Pollock will hold the post of treasurer, while Nell McCracken will be social chairman.

Before choosing the officers who will serve throughout the year, freshmen women, under the guidance of E. Louise Hoffditz '31, president of the junior class, will elect three sets of trial officers.

Nominations for the second set will be made at the meeting next week. At that time nominations for a W. S. G. A. senator and a W. A. A. representative will also be made.

Isabelle Yackel '31, spoke about the freshmen Y. W. C. A. cabinet and called for candidates.

L. M. C. SANCTIONS RUSHING SYSTEM

Local Fraternities Will Retain Present Code With Few Minor Changes

When no violations were reported to the fraternal council during its meeting Thursday night, the group decided to keep intact the present code with the exception of a few minor changes.

Fred C. Schweier '30, president of the council in recognizing the success of the code during the past rushing season, stated "It is doubtful if the policies of the national fraternities will be adopted with the present code working as efficiently as it has."

Adopt Dancing Policy A standing rushing code committee was appointed by Schweier to which all changes and new ideas will be referred. It was decided also that a code be made on both national and local fraternity underclassmen visiting at dances and that a fine of $5 be imposed on any local fraternity member.

Schwier announced that an effort will be made to solve this problem with the aid and cooperation of the I. F. C. It was suggested that the plan does not meet with favor, those attending dances are requested to permit no cutting in.

MUSEUM RECEIVES HELMET

Philadelphia—Richly carved and painted, and resembling a shark's head, a rare Indian helmet from the Tlingit Indian county of Alaska is the latest acquisition of the University of Pennsylvania museum. The helmet, which was made three hundred years ago, is constructed of heavy walrus hide.

Rooters Hold Gridiron Pep Rally in Auditorium Tonight

Loyal Nittany student and alumni will turn out to cheer for Coach Hugo Bezdek's gridiron stalwarts in a pep meeting, starting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Auditorium, as a prelude to the game with Lafayette tomorrow afternoon.

Hoping for a winning score, the students will open the pep session with singing of "Victory." This number will be led by Director Richard W. Grant and cheer leaders "Maury" McAndrews, head of the Athletic association and center of the team, will preside at the meeting.

Dean Robert L. Sackett, president of the Athletic Board of Control, will be the first speaker on the program. It is also expected that a prominent alumnus of the College will be on hand to speak for a few minutes about the pep sessions of past years.

Following him, Coach Hugo Bezdek will tell the crowd how tomorrow's game is going to turn out.

"Be" will voice his prospects for a successful season and let the audience know that "his boys" will go in the game fighting.

Assistant coach "Boh" Higgins, who scouted the Maroon eleven, will give the dope on Coach "Herb" McCracken's squad. Dean Arthur R. Warnock also will be introduced to the cheering section by the chairman.

Three players will give their opinions on the Alumni Day game and probably outline the hopes of the Lion eleven in the fray. Captain "Jack" Martin, "Dutch" Ricker, and "Skip" Stahley are the players slated for speeches.

The talks will be interspersed with College and popular songs. Head cheerleader Heckler and his associates also will keep the crowd pepped up with cheers for ever-victorious Coach Bezdek, known to the students.
