THE STANDING ARMY

THE STANDING ARMY Fenn State's valuant stand against Pittsburgh's powerful football eleven Thanksgiving Day was the gem effort of a season studied with notable feats on the gruonon Reaching its peak in the Pennsylvania triumph, the Bezdek-coached team also exhibited power in the Stracuse and Infavetle games. The lowest ebb wis reached in the Bucknell rout. Ordinarily the Low record would churt favorable comment were it not for iscentful alumpin, ind unconvention for the theory.

Devide would chief lakotable comment were it not for iscentful alumni and incomparable football machines like those of Pittsburgh and Notic Dame Desnite the line showing of this year' class, "se-dent response in the stands was feeble as co that the single the single and theering efforts of undergraduate bodies in recent lean years. Except for impulsive dem-on-stations staged at the finite of the Latasette game and during the denetful of them there is the single of the on-cattors staged at the funct of the Latisgette demi-on-cattors staged at the funct of the Latisgette game and during the downfall of Penn-sylvania, singing and sylling have lagged noticeably in the Penn State stands Undently Penn State's student body is now alone in its lethargy, for even a superb Fittsburgh cleven failed to win unste<sup>1</sup>/ed support from its student stands Thanks-giving Day. Nevertheless, that it not good reason why Penn Site should permit its singing and cheering to fade into temporary oblivion. The lack of spint-provoking songs and cheers was eited as one reason for the apparent let-down. Head Cheerleader Hitchlen behaves that a singipy song would help, pai-tucularly during the football senson. Unquestionably there is real need for improvement in the cheering at ed 1 For jeats we have lamented the lack of a stirring footall song "Victory" unquestionably is good So is "The Nittary Lion" Neither, to our way of thinking, however, is suitable to an occasion such as a sustainee drive for a couchdown. Then, we believe, there is need for a song with a 2p. Somehov we feel that none of our songs fits into the particular picture we have in mind. Regrardless, if sudent and alumin talent should be thoroughly combed, a snapay song may be the result Today the contents appeals to the student body, alumin and friends of the College for song and cheer contributions. alumni and friends of the College for song and cheer contributions. Believing that the injection of "new blood" into the famed Penn State Spirit can be achieved by materially improving the singing and cheering situaion the COLEGIN is strongly indersed by student lead-cits in its drive for new cheers and new songs

Since the Penn-Penn State football clash was see Since the Penn-Penn State football clash was see for November 15 in a tentative schedule released early this fall, the announcement that the Lons, would not play at Franklin Field next fall was a severe shock to gridmon devotes. ## A VALIANT FIGHT

While Pittsburgh alumni, self-styled Pran State arca, looked on in amazement Thanksgiving Dav, Hugo Bordek's 1929 edition of Nittany Loors, praned to earth by powerful N/Y/U and Bucknell elevens in previous encounters, fought valiantly against Pittsburgh's claimants of the national footbal crown Bowing before the superior provess of a line-crushing back, Parkinson by Superior provess of a line-crushing back, Parkinson by name, the defeated gridmen surprised the football world by holding a one-point materin over the East's most powerful train at half-time. Although the truthar chann-ants' undernable strength showed in the last halt, the losers fought back until the final whistle, never conced-ing die victors an uncarned inch (commute the prefug with the one mention by Data

The toom war filled with former greats and tobaco smoke. Each word spoken from the speakers' plas-form rens the charged an, wounding Ponn State men of ment. Practically every speaker clamored for unboin tootball heroes, Penn State's attitude toward athletic veloalizations to the contrary All that mattered to these men was that Penn State should have a place on the top of the college football heap. The game tomorrow' Oh, yes, there was to be a game tomorrow. But these men, being Penn State men,

The game tomotion? Oh, yes, there was to be a game tomotion. But these men, being Penn State men, couldn's bear to hear accounts of how Pittsburgh's great football machine would "write its own ticket" against the Penn State eleven with the "mediocie" line No deaths from shock were reported at the Stadium up unoil a late how Thanksgiving night
