W. S. G. A. Senate Will Consider Problem in Discussion Monday Night

April, 1928, President Olive E. Osterhout '30 revealed last night a resolution of the National Pan-Hellenic Council meeting at Boston, Mass., March 1, 1928, took a definite stand against smoking.

Penalties for violation of the pledge in the individual groups range from fines to expulsion after a second offense, Miss Osterhout said.

25 COLLEGES PROHIBIT, 17 PERMIT WOMEN'S SMOKING

Fifteen out of forty colleges permit women to smoke in dormitories, it was revealed by Miss Cornelia Anderson of Vassar in a discussion with women delegates to the National Student Federation of America convention at Palo Alto, Cal., during the Christmas holidays.

SMOKING CONDEMNED, BUT PERMITTED AT OHIO STATE

Appealed to by various organizations referred to him by Governor Cooper, President George W. Wright of Ohio State university expressed a personal hope that women students would eventually condemn the practice of smoking, but declined to promulgate any prohibitory and unenforceable rule against it.

Mid-Year Conflict Exams Schedule

Conflict examinations will be held during the week of the regular examinations January 27 to February 1 inclusive. All examinations scheduled BY APPOINTMENT will be arranged by instructors with the students concerned.

The schedule of conflict examinations is as follows:

ADAPTABILITY MUST INFLUENCE FRA TERNITY CHOICE, SAYS DEAN

Adaptability to fraternal life ought to be a principal factor in determining, whether or not a man should join a fraternity, according to Dean Robert C. Clothier of the University of Pittsburgh.

Dean Clothier stated that not every man should join a fraternity. A fraternity, however, can inspire a man to succeed and can furnish associations which will stimulate the minds of all those to this spirit he should not join, the Dean believes.

"On the other hand," Dean Clothier continued, "a man who fails to join a fraternity where such standards prevail loses one of the most valuable benefits of his college life. Membership in such a group will make it easier for him to accomplish his main purpose, scholastic attainments."

"Yet, even beyond that, the values which he as a fraternity man will receive in cultural development, in social presence, and in stimulating fellowship will be values impossible to overevaluate," the Dean added.

The Dean concluded by saying: "When a fraternity is efficiently organized and financed, where it has defined standards of ethics, conduct, and scholarship and insists upon their observance, where in an atmosphere it is really a 'home away from home,' a fraternity can do more than any other agency to help its members achieve success in their curricular activities. Note that that, it can give, as no classroom or lecture hall can give, practical education in the give and take of fellowship, in the finer values of social relationship."

'NO RULE AGAINST IT,' DEAN EXPLAINS

'We Can Not Afford Smoking in Public,' Is Sentiment of Women Leaders

Whether we like it or not, public sentiment in many places has defined the question of smoking in public as a measuring stick for women students in many colleges, especially those isolated as we are. Since public opinion has decided that that be one of the measuring sticks applied to college women, we admit that this question is being made an important one by many decided students.

"The status of girls in our College has been one of chief concern to our women students for many years. Because of their relatively small numbers the girls have been exceedingly conspicuous and therefore have had to feel that the impression of the women's student body might often be affected by matters seemingly unimportant. It might be worthwhile for every girl concerned to try to discover how the matter of smoking in public is likely to affect the status of our women students. If it can be found to have any bearing on that status, no girl of Penn State wishes to exercise her own personal liberty at the cost of any good-will which our girls have been so faithfully trying to establish. Regardless of any legislation on the matter, a great many girls of this College are so deeply interested in the good name of the girls' group that they will have that in mind wherever they are known as Penn State co-eds."

STANFORD OFFICIAL SAYS CARNEGIE REMEDY FAULTY

Remedies for the present collegiate sports system as revealed by the Carnegie Foundation would be worse than the system itself in the opinion of Alonzo E. Taylor, of Stanford university.

Investigation into the financial affairs of every student in order to determine substitution would involve getting information on oath as to how much money he received and the sources from which it came, he said. This plan of correction would be far worse than the system now in existence, Mr. Taylor declared.
