

Courtmen Close Season With Pitt Here; Boxers Meet Orange Away Tomorrow

7 SENIORS FACE END OF BASKETBALL CAREERS; STAHLEY, HYATT WILL CLASH

Lions Battle Panthers In Recreation Hall At 7:30 O'clock

Penn State's courtmen will attempt to settle a long-standing score with a faltering Pitt Panther, badly scratched by two of its last three opponents, in the season's finale in Recreation Hall at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

After flashing meteor-like across the horizon of eastern basketball, Doc Carlson's redoubtable proteges plunged to the depths of defeat for the second time when their ancient rivals, West Virginia, downed them 34-to-25 last week. Syracuse won a 40-to-29 decision early in February. Then, Monday night, a hither to colorless and weak St Vincent college five rode to new heights and forced the Panthers to their utmost before they could gain a scant 29-to-28 victory.

The Golden Cats were roused by this close call and ran wild against Washington and Jefferson Wednesday. With the debonair Hyatt engaging nine field goals, Pitt trounced the Presidents 67-to-20.

Play Last Game

Captain Skip Stahley will don a Nittany court uniform for the last time in the game tomorrow. Captain of the freshman team in 1927, Skip was a substitute in his sophomore year and broke into the regular lineup last season. He was high scorer last year.

Two other seniors, Red Fry and Wally Leyda, will team at forwards in the Pitt game. Ed Lee, the fourth man to end his court career tomorrow, is scheduled to start at guard. Fry was a substitute forward in 1929 and Leyda, a star performer his freshman year, was forced to play a substitute's role during the past two seasons because of a knee injury. Lee has been on the varsity squad for two years. Fred Brand will start at his regular center post.

Moss, Miller, and Weber will also be lost to the squad next season. Paul transferred here from Illinois two years ago, breaking into the Nittany line-up this season. Weber and Miller were both members of the 1929 squads and have served as reserve guard and forward throughout the season, seeing service in a number of the games.

Chippie Charley Hyatt, pride of Pitt sportsdom, will lead the Panthers in the final game of his brilliant court career tomorrow night. Judged by sports writers to be the outstanding college basketball player last year, he has performed on an even higher plane this season.

In the W and J game, the Pitt captain brought his total points of the season to 303 which is one point better than his last year's record.

The two rival captains are scheduled to clash in tomorrow's tilt, Stah-ley playing guard and Hyatt opposite him. As it is the last game for both, the struggle should prove interesting.

According to Pittsburgh writers, the St Vincent game Monday was scheduled merely to enable Hyatt to pile up a new scoring record for a single game. The Benicats surprised, however, and Westfall, St. Vincent captain, held him to four field goals. Hyatt hopes to end his career in a high-scoring orgy against the Nittany five.

Although Pitt's hope for a championship faded with the West Virginia defeat, the Panthers are determined to end the season with a victory. On the other hand, Coach Hermann's quintet awaits the opportunity to break the Pitt court jinx which has held the Lions in its grasp since Mike Hannes led them to a 35-to-24 decision in 1927.

Casoni Wires Before Penn Battle, 'I Won'

A burst of confidence that prompted Penn State's fighting barber, Bom Casoni, defender of the 135-pound division, to telegraph a solicitous lady friend was a forecast of his victory over Saslow in the Penn meet Saturday.

Determined to break his string of three defeats Bom wired at 12 o'clock, three hours before the encounter, that he was already victorious. The rugged lightweight then had to win or fall in the estimation of his worried friend Bom broke the jinx and is still the favored one to that certain young member of the fair sex.

YEARLING QUINTET WILL ENGAGE PITT

Nittany Five Hopes To End Panther Winning Streak in Season's Last Game Tomorrow

Determined to end the Panther club's string of eighteen victories, Coach Larry Conover's freshman Casonis will wind up their season against the Pittsburgh yearling quintet in Recreation Hall at 6 o'clock tomorrow night.

The Lion plebes, fresh from a brilliant victory over Bucknell Saturday, will face the undefeated Pitt five with a strong combination. Conover will use Moses and Funk at the forward posts, and Bob Sigel will fill his usual berth at center. Conn and Checklinsky, who have shown up well in practice this week, are slated to play the guard positions.

Coached by George Kowallis, the speedy Blue and Gold aggregation are upholding the unblemished record of Pitt freshman teams of the last three court campaigns. Beginning their record in 1928 by winning the last name games, the Kowallis' coached team rang up seventeen victories last season, and have brought this string of triumphs up to forty-four this year.

Defeat Strong Teams
Carnegie Tech's yearlings have fallen prey to the fast moving Pitt outfit three times this season. The Panther cubs have also defeated Krynka, West Virginia freshmen, and Washington and Jefferson plebes.

Kowallis will probably start Captain Rodgers and Alpert, high scoring forwards, against the Lion freshmen. Smith and Leech will fill the pivot position, while Cutler and Lewis have been named as almost certain choices for the guard posts.

WOMEN DEBATERS LOSE TO THIEL IN LAST MEET

Defeat Follows No-Decision Contest With Pitt Orators Monday

Following the non-decision meet with the University of Pittsburgh Monday night, Penn State women debaters ended their series of intercollegiate debates when they were defeated by Thiel college debating team at Greenville Tuesday night.

Margaret Lohr '32, Elizabeth C. Bell '32, and Janette M. Burns '39 upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, A Liberal Arts Education Should be Given to All High School Graduates that Apply to Colleges" Monday night before the League of Women voters of the twentieth ward of Pittsburgh.

The following evening at Thiel college Helen S. Keepers '30, Margaret Lohr '32 and Elizabeth C. Bell '32 defended the question, "Resolved, The Evils of the Machine Age Outweigh Its Benefits."

2 UNDEFEATED LIONS GUARD RECORD IN LAST SCRAP BEFORE INTERCOLLEGIATES

Vicani, Speedy Bantamweight, Bruno, Slugging Syracuse 145-pounder, Battle Epstein, Lewis at Archbold Stadium

Two undefeated Nittany mid-sluggers will attempt to keep their season's slate clean when Coach Leo Houck's proteges swap punches in the last dual meet of the year with an undaunted Syracuse team in Archbold Stadium, Syracuse, at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Neither intercollegiate champion Epstein nor slugging Al Lewis have met with reverse decisions this year. Both are scheduled to meet dangerous opponents in what are expected to be the feature bouts of the meet.

Julie will climb through the ropes against Vicani, speedy bantamweight conqueror of Cooke, Navy star, Saturday. Since Cooke replaced Dempsey, who gave Julie a close tussle during the Middle meet here, it is expected that Vicani will offer the Nittany champion plenty of opposition.

Al Lewis, acknowledged possessor of the most terrific punch in the intercollegiate welterweight division, will mix things with Bruno. Although victorious in only one dual meet the Syracuse 145-pounder is considered to be the outstanding slugger of his team.

Of four meets this year the Syracuse ring team has been successful in but one, losing two by 7-to-0 decisions and one by a 6-to-1 score. Dartmouth was the only team to succumb to the big Orange attack, falling 6-to-1. Penn and New York university administered the shut out defeats while Navy was victorious in all but one bout.

Despite their unimpressive record Syracuse leather pushers are determined to present a bold front to the intercollegiate champion Lions Sports-writers claim that the Orange team has shown remarkable improvement since their first meet of the year.

When Hugh Hill meets rugged Davey Sloop in the 125-pound setto, the Lion ace will probably need all his prowess to overcome the Syracuse threat. In the lightweight fray Bom Casoni, the fighting barber, will attempt to subdue Sal Rosa. Bom shook his losing jinx when he defeated Saslow, of Penn, Saturday and is confident that he will subdue Rosa. Chankovskiy, sensational Penn State middleweight, will probably have little trouble in securing the decision over Thiel, while Bill Struble may find greater difficulty in solving Captain Raymond's style. Captain Marty McAndrews is virtually assured of victory over Henry Frank.

KILLS PAIN

IN 10 MINUTES
NEURITIS SCIATICA
NEURALGIA LUMBAGO
Mrs. Edward Schell, 537 Coburn St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: For several years I suffered with the most agonizing attacks of facial neuralgia. At times, the pain was so severe as to cause my eye to swell shut. Used many remedies, but the pain continued. Finally I read about the prescription called Painalac and tried it at once. Much to my surprise in only a short time, I began to get relief. And in three days, the swelling had all gone down and the pain had left me entirely. I owe everything to Painalac and will always be grateful for all that it did for me.

Painalac is a doctor's prescription, it is something new and better! We have found it gives quick, and lasting relief—even in the most severe cases. The way it "draws out" deep-seated pain will amaze you! Don't suffer—get this remarkable remedy today. We highly recommend it because we know this doctor's prescription is dependable! Ask for
