LETTERMEN HOLD THIRD VARSITY 'S' BANQUET THURSDAY

Jock Sutherland, Hugo Bezdek,
And Lou Little Speak at Annual Gathering

OUTSTANDING ATHLETE WILL RECEIVE AWARD

President Hetzel Will Present
Letters—Dean Warnock
Is Toastmaster

Penn State will accord formal recognition to the prowess of her athletic sons when lettermen in all Nittany spots attend the third 'S' Banquet in McAllister Hall at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Lou Little, former athletic director at Georgetown, and who is now head coach at Columbia university, and Jock Sutherland, mentor of Pitt's champion grid eleven, are visiting speakers for the dinner.

The Penn State speaker will be Hugo Bezdek, veteran director of athletics. Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock is toastmaster for the affair. W. D. Harrison, director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, will be a guest.

To Present Certificates

The program will open with toasts given by President Ralph D. Hetzel, Director Bezdek, and Edward K. Hibshman, college alumni secretary. Bezdek, Sutherland, and Little are then scheduled to speak. Following the addresses, President Hetzel will present 111 athletic certificates to letter winners.

The certificate list includes twenty football letters, eight baseball, six track, thirteen basketball, twelve wrestling, eight boxing, seventeen soccer, nine lacrosse, seven tennis, four tennis, one golf, three rifle, and two cheerleading awards.

The identity of Penn State's outstanding athlete will be revealed sometime during the evening, when he will be presented with a gold watch. A committee which is composed of Dean Warnock, Dean E. L. Sackell, of the Engineering school, Director Bezdek, F. Bruce Baldwin '30, senior class president, and Isadore F. Huelken '30, head cheerleader, has made the selection.

Entertainment will be provided throughout the evening by the department of music and will include selections by the varsity quartet. The Nittany Nine orchestra will furnish music.

WORKER IS KILLED IN 50-FOOT FALL

I. F. Ritter, Stone-setter, Fatally
Injured as Scaffold Breaks
At New Power Plant

While employed as a stone-setter on construction work at the new Power Plant, I. F. Ritter plunged to his death Friday afternoon when the scaffold upon which he was standing collapsed.

Ritter fell fifty feet to the ground when a crane used to lower limestone pillars in position suddenly lowered a one-ton block onto the scaffold.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. William Glenn who arrived shortly after the accident occurred. The county coroner held an investigation and brought in a statement of an undeniable accident. The funeral was held at his home in Altoona yesterday.

This is the third mishap occurring within as many weeks in connection with the plant. Ralph Krumine, a bricklayer, dropped dead from heart failure on March 7. A similar attack caused the death of Eric Marshall Foster after attending a fire on the premises.

300 WORKMEN ENROLL FOR UTILITIES OPERATION COURSE

More than 300 workmen have enrolled for the course in public utility operation sponsored by the West Penn Power company, and offered by the engineering extension department in five cities.

Prof. William R. Young, who has been attending meetings of students in Charleroi, Connellsville, Greensburg, Washington, and New Kensington, declared that satisfactory progress is being made in all sections.

BLAZER COLORS SELECTED

Green and white are the colors selected for the 1931 class blazers. James H. Ammerman, chairman of the blazer committee announced yesterday. The blazers will be worn for the first time by the junior class at Move-up day exercises. The committee plans to receive orders immediately after Easter vacation.

STUDENT INVENTS AIRPLANE FUSELAGE

Device Increases Lifting Power
And Insures Additional
Safety in Landing

A conclave fuselage for aircraft to replace the regular square or oval structures has been patented by Lester N. Yoho '33, who plans to sell part interests in the invention to several airplane manufacturers.

Yoho applied for his patent on the "Aeroplane and Glider Fuselage" more than a year ago. He submitted nineteen claims for consideration, seven of which were accepted by the United States Patent Office.

The main use of the invention Yoho claims, is to insure additional lifting power for airplanes, as well as to lower the landing speed, secure structural simplicity, and lessen wind resistance. If future tests prove successful, he maintains, the new construction method should have a beneficial effect upon the science of aviation.

Invention Proves Successful
Two aircraft corporations are endeavoring to secure patent rights from the Penn State inventor. The Fokker company, of Wilmington, Del., and the American Aircraft company, of Kansas City, have both applied for the right to use his invention in the construction of a new plane.

In actual test flights, the conclave method of fuselage construction has proved satisfactory, Yoho reveals. The Edmund B. Canine company has incorporated this method in manufacturing metal planes which were tested in January. The company is collaborating with Yoho, whose patent rights receive prior claim.

DR. SIMMONS TO DELIVER SEVENTH GERMAN LECTURE

The seventh of a series of nine lectures offered by the German department will be delivered by Dr. Laetitia V. T. Simmons on "Later German Dramatists," at 3 o'clock this afternoon in room 16 Liberal Arts.

Mrs. Louise J. Huitlbrick will speak on "Thomas Mann" Tuesday. The series will be concluded by Dr. George J. Wulf who will discuss "Dehmel and the Modern Lyrics."

ACTORS WIN STATE DRAMATIC CONTEST

Players Secure First Place in Bucknell Tourney—Mason,
Cloetingh Re-elected

Penn State Players won the fifth annual contest of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic association held Friday and Saturday under the supervision of Bucknell university at Lewisburg high school.

Presenting "The Eternal Song," a realistic comedy by Marie Ains-Ten the Players gained a second leg on the Samuel French company trophy and received a silver cup offered annually by the association. Penn State requires but one more victory to obtain permanent possession of the French award.

Second prize cup went to Franklin and Marshall, last year's contest winner. The Lancaster college presented Edwin P. Conkle's "Minnnie Fields." Honorable mention was given to Bucknell university, which produced "Where the Cross Is Made" by Eugene O'Neill.

Re-elect Cloetingh President

Players employed a cast of but four characters to win the contest. Mrs. Justine M. Budlong '32 portrayed the role of "Chanuh" daughter of the family, who falls in love with "David," an orphaned factory worker, played by Arthur C. Cunningham '31. Janet M. Burns '30, enacts the role of the despondent mother, "Pech." Saul O. Shea '32 played the part of "Gerzon," the drunken, irresponsible provider for the family.

At a meeting of the officers of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic association following the contest Saturday, Prof. Arthur C. Cloetingh, director of dramatics, was re-elected president of the organization. Prof. David D. Mason, associate director of dramatics, was again elected secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

Women Sanction Free Hospital at Spring Election

By a vote of 150 to 69 the proposed $10 health service fee, designed to insure free hospital service at Penn State, received approval of women students at their spring election yesterday.

The measure was submitted to a vote of the women's student body at the receiving sanction of Student Council's investigating committee. If passed by Council at its meeting tonight the proposal will be placed upon the men's ballot at their election next month.

As urged by the investigating committee, the plan provides for a $10 health service assessment to be placed on the student registration fee at the rate of $5 each semester. An additional full-time physician, special nurse, free medicines, and additional equipment would be available under the proposed system as well as a ten-day confinement period in the College hospital without charge.

As submitted to the women student at the election, the proposal also allows free hospital service maintained by a student registration fee of $10 of which $5 is to be assessed each semester, should be adopted at Penn State.

ENGINEERS ATTEND A. S. M. E. MEETING

Dean Sackett and School Delegation
Celebrate Society Anniversary
At Washington D. C.

Dean R. L. Sackett and representatives from the mechanical engineering department will attend the fifth anniversary celebration of the founding of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in Washington next week.

Prof. Arthur J. Wood, Prof. Charles L. Allen, Prof. Fred G. Heckler, Prof. Harold A. Everett, and Prof. Louis J. Bradford are the other members of the party. In addition to this group, Prof. Frank M. Torrance and Prof. Norman R. Sparks, together with the senior class in mechanical engineering will be present at a reception at the White House Wednesday afternoon.

The celebration will open in New York City and Stevens institute. Hoboken, N. J. with a pageant commemorative of the events leading to the founding of the society and will be continued in Washington on Monday.

10 ADDRESS OIL CONCLAVE

Prof. Clark P. Barb of the petroleum research department will address the eastern section of the American Petroleum Institute in Pittsburgh Monday. He will also attend the meeting of the State College National Gas Advisory board with Dean Edward Steple and Professor Chesleigh A. Bonine of the School of Mineral Industries.

Lindenmuth and McLaughlin Reported Aspirants for Independent Candidacy

Earl J. Lindenmuth and David C. McLaughlin will run for the presidency of the senior class next month as the choice of the Independent clubs, campus politicians forecast yesterday.

The Independent candidate, with whom the party hopes to repeat its triumph of last year's junior elections, will be named at a meeting tonight, reports hold. Both Lindenmuth and McLaughlin are the aspirants being considered by the faction, it was admitted by an organization member, Albert W. Eze, previously mentioned, is believed to be supporting McLaughlin at present.

Campus clique leaders are optimistic over the prospect for their nominee, and to be Frank Dieckhoff. They are quoted as claiming additional votes, and have predicted that Dieckhoff will shatter party lines in the coming campaign.

"All is quiet on the 1932 front," observers report. George T. Lauch, Lucust Lane standard bearer, is marshalling his forces, while the Campaign opposition deliberates over Fred C. Bond Jr., Alfred E. Lewis, and Jack Staley.

Romayne Chapman Is W.A.A. President For Next Year

ELECTIONS FOR Y.W.C.A.
WILL CONTINUE TODAY

Betty Bell and Muriel Dowman
Named Vice-Presidents of Co-ed Organizations

Mary C. Woodring was chosen 1930 May Queen with Phyllis E. Bouldier as her freshman attendant, according to the Women Students' election returns of last night.

Miss Woodring won the position of May Queen with her nearest opponent in the competition for freshman attendant Miss Bouldier amassed 29 more points than Grace Macintyre. Let closest opponent.

Miss Woodring secured 81 votes while Anne E. Connolly obtained 61. Helen Koepers was third with 56. Kathryn R. McNamee getting 29 as the "Unknown" candidate.

Helen Buckwalter '31 was elected to head the W. S. G. A. for the coming year while F. Romayne Chapman '31 was named president of the W. S. G. A. In the race for the W. S. G. A. presidency Miss Beckwalter pulled 180 votes to 68 for E. Louise Hoffendy '31. Miss Chapman compiled 156 ballots to Anne E. McNamee's 108.

Y. W. C. A. Election Continued

Because of the late arrival of ballots, voting for Y. W. C. A. officers will be continued from 8 until 12 noon today. Voting on these offers was delayed several hours, depriving some students of the opportunity to cast their ballots.

The vice-presidency of W. S. G. A. will be filled by Elizabeth C. Bell '32 while Helen Hoover '31 will act as treasurer. As W. S. G. A. senators, the class of 1931 selected Mary E. Keonians and Eleanor E. Hay. The class of 1932 named Dorothy W. Cummings and Louise Darlington, with the freshman class choosing Angelina Bressler.

Muriel P. Bowman '32 will assume the vice-presidency of the W. S. G. A., Jean E. Simmons '32 will act as secretary, and Blaugne G. Hardstone '31 will execute the treasurer's duties.

The Y. W. C. A. president will be Ruth A. Davenport '31 and M. Isabelle Yonckel '31, Elizabeth Everett '32 and H. Louise Marquardt '32, assisting to the vice-presidency. For the secretaryship Miss Bessler, Myrtle R. Dingman '31, and Doris E. Hazelton '31 are nominated.

DAILY VOTE COUNT URGED IN REPORT

Actions Committee Recommends
Tabulation Each Day—Lewis
Is Named Chairman

Count of ballots will be made on each of the three voting days during the May elections if Student Council approves the committee recommendations tonight.

Sheila H. Lewis '30 was appointed chairman of the Council elections committee yesterday by F. Bruce Baldwin '30, student government head. Lewis takes the place of Fred C. Scherer '30 who resigned last week.

Tabulation of votes would be made both Tuesday and Wednesday nights of Election week starting May 1, in addition to the final count Thursday afternoon. The measure is aimed to establish a method less subject to tampering and to be most easily accomplished at night.

A 50-cent contribution on each clique's campaign expenses is fixed in the report with a detailed account immediately after the polls close Thursday afternoon. In addition to the 50-cent fee, it is suggested in the pamphlet for electioneers code violations which will be determined by the committee. The measure has been disapproved definitely because of the lack of student interest exhibited in the gathering last year.

10 ADDRESS OIL CONCLAVE

Prof. Clark P. Barb of the petroleum research department will address the eastern section of the American Petroleum Institute in Pittsburgh Monday. He will also attend the meeting of the State College National Gas Advisory board with Dean Edward Steple and Professor Chesleigh A. Bonine of the School of Mineral Industries.
