Locust Lane—Campus

1931 Platform

By Paul A. Mitten
(1931 Presidential Candidate, Locust Lane—Campus)

The candidates and party of the Locust Lane-Campus clique, unanimous in their agreement that certain regulations should be adopted by the College Administration, have pledged their hearty support to the following platform:

1. No final examinations for seniors.
 2. No repeat fees for students.
 3. Closer cooperation between the student body and the College Administration.
 4. A swimming pool for the student body.
- I have heard seniors complain and again because they are forced to take final examinations a few days before they are to be graduated. The majority of seniors feel that if they are able to secure the required credit points during their first three years in college, they have proved they are capable of accepting the responsibility of their studies during their senior year.
- Repeat fees have been the bane of every student. With the present proper financial maintenance from the State, the student body feels they are no longer necessary.
- The College Administration favors close cooperation with representative of the student body and it is only fair that the students should feel likewise in the matter.
- What is a School of Physical Education without a swimming pool? Twenty-two thousand dollars has been collected from students for such a project at Penn State. Why can't the College complete the necessary funds to pay for the pool which is really a part of the equipment of a modern School of Physical Education?

Will History Repeat Itself in Elections?

"Does history repeat itself?" is a question which will be answered in the annual class campaigns next week. Last year Evan C. Reese bolted from the 1931 Locust Lane clique, organized his own party, and was elected to the junior class presidency.

Sunday night, just one hour before the nominations closed, Glenn E. Thomson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, bolted from the 1931 Locust Lane ticket, and organized his own party with himself as a candidate.

Insurgent

1931 Platform

By Glenn E. Thomson
(1931 Presidential Candidate, Insurgent)

There are certain conditions existing in our class politics which should, and can be corrected but only through the votes of the members of the class I am in favor of:

1. Beautifying the Campus. This has been started but must be pushed forward more rapidly.
2. Expansion of the facilities for outdoor sports. Overcrowded conditions of the tennis courts, baseball fields, and golf course makes it evident that we must have more room.
3. No personal assessment on individuals for building expansion. It places too much strain on the individual's finances.
4. A lounge and reception room for non-fraternity students in New Main where they may entertain their friends.
5. Continuation of all-College musical and dramatic entertainments.
6. Standardization of text books. This has been done in some courses but should be carried out in all.
7. Free Hospital Service. Good health is a necessity for college students, and since this plan of Free service aims at the goal it should be supported.
8. Appointments and offices distributed evenly among ALL students instead among certain clique members or members of a certain school. Attention should be called to the fact that no non-fraternity man has ever held a chairmanship of any of our class Balls or Prom committees. Such partiality is in direct opposition to our platform and shall be corrected.

Independent

By David C. McLaughlin
(1931 Presidential Candidate, Independent)

If elected, we will do all in our power to bring about the following changes which we believe are all sound and logical improvements and of real benefit to Penn State students in the classroom and on the campus:

We heartily endorse the principles of the College Administration and the Board of Trustees, we rejoice in the excellent harmony and cooperation that has existed between the Administration and the student body in the past, and we will in every possible way seek to maintain that harmony.

1. We endorse the increased hospital fee, believing that it will be instrumental in maintaining a high standard of student health through an increased equipment and larger medical staff.
2. We will urge the College Administration to set up a uniform system of grading and regulation of class attendance.
3. We will be of every possible aid to the College Administration in establishing the proposed activities union which will bring about greater harmony and more systematic financial regulation among all activities.
4. We will investigate the matter of a reduction of all repeat fees and fines for absence before and after vacations.
5. We believe that Sunday sports are a benefit to which the students are entitled.
6. We believe that the fine work of the various judging teams of the School of Agriculture should be recognized by financial support from the College Administration.

Hospital, Cheerleader Referendums Called

Student referendums on the questions of free hospital service and selection of head cheerleader will be held at class elections next week.

The statement on the ballot concerning free hospital service reads, "To increase the health fee from $1 to $10. Vote 'yes' or 'no'."

The second referendum will be in the form of an amendment to the Athletic Association constitution. It states, "That article five, section two of the constitution of the Athletic Association be amended to provide for the selection of the head cheerleader by a committee appointed by the Board of Athletic Control. Vote 'yes' or 'no'."

Campus

1932 Platform

By Alfred E. Lewis
(1932 Presidential Candidate, Campus)

As a candidate for the presidency of the class of 1932, I submit the following as my platform:

1. To encourage movements which will lead to a greater Penn State.
2. Investigation to determine the best method of financing a swimming pool.
3. Favoring free hospital service.
4. Recommend the installation of the double cut system in place of five dollar fines before and after vacations.

Locust Lane

1932 Platform

By George T. Lasich
(1932 Presidential Candidate, Locust Lane)

We are in favor of:

1. Some definite steps toward the fulfillment of the winter sports plan.
2. Whole-hearted support of the new swimming pool project.
3. A club room for non-fraternity men in Old Main.
4. A meeting room for all campus organizations in Old Main.
5. A definite liberal cut plan.
6. A revival of Penn State songs, and a rejuvenation of Penn State spirit and tradition.
7. The advancement of the interests of the Junior class insofar as possible without interfering with College regulations.

Taste must speak for itself...and Chesterfield's refreshing, spicy flavor, its characteristic fragrance, do just that.

Making Chesterfields, making them right, making you like them, requires only this.
