and in order to win a heat all twenty-five men must be pulled through the stream.

Dance Climaxes Affair

The winners of the contest, instead of choosing their opponents' class colors, will be awarded one day next fall, to be known as their class day. The freshman class of 1934 will form the numerals of the winning class at one of the football games on New Beaver field next fall.

Climaxing the activities, the fifth annual Move-up Day dance will be held in the Recreation hall with the Campus Owls and Varsity Ten furnishing music from 8:30 until 12 o'clock tomorrow night. Subscription is $1.00 a couple with the programs being distributed at the door. Refreshments will be served free of charge.

Freshmen are required to wear coats and hats even if escorting a guest, and must observe sophomore customs at all times.

Dr. Ralph A. Dutcher, of the School of Agriculture, will attend the White House conference on health and protection during next week.

Dr. Dutcher is a member of a committee which was appointed by President Herbert Hoover to investigate the growth and development of children.

CO-EDS CAUSE TRADE DECLINE

"Gold-digging" by co-eds at the University of Nebraska has resulted in a serious decline in restaurant business, according to complaints from campus food shop owners. Women eat twice as much when there is a man along to pay the bill, restaurant proprietors declare, in blaming the appetites of the co-eds for a decline in trade.

JOHN
BARRYMORE
in THE MAN FROM BLANKLEY'S

John Barrymore returns to the scenes of his former triumphs—the realm of comedy. "The Man from Blankley's" is a satire on a certain stratum of London's suburban smart set. In it he once again becomes Jack Barrymore, America's foremost light comedian. It's his first modern comedy in years and something surprisingly different.
