

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSIONIST
MAKES HEADQUARTERS HERE

Pursuing a study of the methods of conducting and administering agricultural extension work, Mr. Warren W. Clark, assistant county agent of Wisconsin, has made this college his headquarters for work in this section.

His travels have now lasted four months, during which time he has visited the leading agricultural states of the country.

At present he is being conducted on a field trip to observe the work accomplished in this state. Professor J. Martin Fitz, of the agricultural extension department, is accompanying Mr. Clark on his tour of inspection.

WILDE ADDRESSES FLORISTS

D. Earle I. Wilde, professor of floriculture, addressed a meeting of the Leaning County Flower Growers' association at Williamsport Monday night Tuesday night. Mr. Wilde spoke at a meeting of a floriculture group in Scranton.
