

3 Lion Teams Play Scoreless Ties With Orange; Harriers Win, 22-33

Sidelines

The last time Penn State engaged Syracuse in four athletic events in one day was in the fall of 1927. The Blue and White emerged victorious in all four contests. Saturday, although the Lions did not equal this record, the showing of Penn State's athletic teams was highly creditable. Three scoreless ties in one day is unusual, but two of our teams were considered to have less than an even break to win.

Nate Cartmell's harriers again indicated that it will take a very good team to beat them in the intercollegiate. When this event comes off Rekers, Detwiler, Meisinger and Space should be well up with the leaders. Space, a sophomore, is evidently the find of the season.

Only one of the nation's nine undefeated teams, lost on Saturday. Allegheny was swamped by Dartmouth, 47-14, but Alabama, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Utah, Oregon State, Washington State and Western Maryland scored easy victories. Fordham had a close call against Detroit but finally won 13-7, remaining as the East's only large unbeaten eleven.

George Veneroso, former member of the Penn State football squad, is now filling a line position on the George Washington University eleven, of Washington, D. C. Veneroso came here from Pittsburgh two years ago, but was ineligible until last season when he was also a member of the Nittany varsity squad.

A dictaphone has been installed in the press box at New Beaver field so that an accurate running account of the game can be recorded for the future use of the coaches.

The Syracuse football squad began the 1930 season with all but two regulars available from the 1929 team. Lettermen for all but two positions were available as well as the entire undefeated yearling eleven.

The Orange squad took the field with two leaders, one in the line and another in the backfield. Milford Beiner, hefty center, was the line captain, while Warren Stevens was head man in the Syracuse backfield. Captain Berner and Captain Diederich faced each other for the third consecutive year.

To counteract the University of Miami's brilliant forward passing attack, Temple used a five-man defensive line, placing six men in backfield positions.

Marquette University, not satisfied with having the distinction of introducing night football to colleges in the mid-west, will present another novelty when it stages a Thanksgiving game with Butler University at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Football has been incorporated as an integral part of college activities in Mexico this year. The University of Mexico is beginning its second season of the sport. Reginald D. Root, former Yale player, is credited with beginning this sport in Mexico in 1928.

REKERS, DETWILER OUTDISTANCE PACK

Belanger of Syracuse Finishes Third—Visitors Lose First Contest in 6 Starts

With Captain Paul Rekers and Dick Detwiler leading the pack across the finish line, Penn State's cross-country team out-paced Syracuse harriers over the varsity course defeating the visitors 22-33.

In winning, the Lions ended the streak of five perfect-score victories registered by the Hillmen this season. Previous to Saturday's race Syracuse had defeated Union, Alfred, Hobart, Columbia, and Pitt.

The two leaders were timed in 25 minutes and 50 seconds for the 4 1/2-mile course. At no stage of the race did a Syracuse man challenge the Nittany ace for the lead.

To Pick IC-4A Teams Belanger, the first Orange runner to finish, was nearly 150 yards behind Rekers and Detwiler. Chick Meisinger, in fourth place, crossed the line ahead of Gehring and Steeter, Syracuse fifth and sixth point scorers.

The visitors were handicapped by the loss of Captain Dean who was forced to drop out of the race because of a sprained ankle. Bill Space, Lion sophomore runner, completed the course in seventh position, with King, another sophomore, concluding Penn State's scoring in eighth place.

The start and finish of the race were run on New Beaver field between the halves of the Penn State-Syracuse football game and were witnessed by the largest crowd ever to see the Lion cross-countrymen in action.

With the Orange victory safely stowed away, Coach Nate Cartmell will send the varsity harriers over the six-mile course in a trial meet to select the team that will represent Penn State in the IC-4A title race in New York next Monday. The trial will take place at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The freshman harrier team which will run in the intercollegiate championship will also be selected at this time. A sophomore-freshman run scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed until after the IC-4A meet.

WEATHER CAUSES DELAY IN INTRA-MURAL GRID TOURNAMENT

Because of unfavorable weather, intra-mural games scheduled for Thursday night were called off. Resuming the first round eliminations, Phi Pi will meet Phi Kappa Tau and Sigma Pi will encounter Beta Sigma Rho tonight.

Delaware will engage the Two Year Aves tomorrow night, after which Alpha Tau Omega will play Alpha Gamma Rho. Thursday's contest between Phi Sigma Delta and Phi Kappa will bring to a close the first round of the tournament.

LIONS HOLD ORANGE ELEVEN SCORELESS

Diederich dropped back to the 18-yard mark for his first attempted field goal.

Line plunging by French and Lasich, and a long pass, from French to Lasich, threatened the Syracuse goal in the final period. With but five minutes to play State held the ball only ten yards from a score. Three attempts to gain through the line failed and Diederich's second field goal try went wide by a few feet.

Make 50-Yard March

The lone Orange invasion of the Lion stronghold took place in the second period. Stevens completed a long pass to Ellert which was knocked down, but declared completed when the receiver was memorably rushed. With the ball on Penn State's 15-yard mark, Stevens fumbled and Shawley recovered for the Blue and White.

The longest sustained match occurred in the third quarter when the Lions advanced the ball 50 yards by rushing only to lose it on downs on the Orange 27-yard marker. During this drive Penn State gave an exhibition of its best offensive work of the year. The team mixed passes with its running attack, advancing the ball into hostile territory many times during the contest, but lacked the necessary scoring punch.

DEAN HUGO BEZDEK MAKES BIG TEN CONFERENCE TOUR

In the interest of Penn State's intra-mural sports program, Hugo Bezdek, Dean of the School of Physical Education, left yesterday to tour mid-western colleges in order to study the intra-mural sports programs followed there.

Dean Bezdek will also visit athletic plants and observe methods of physical education instruction at several institutions in the Big Ten Conference. Before returning, he will witness the Penn State-Iowa football game at Iowa City on Saturday.

Nittany Eleven Forces Visitors To Play Defensive Game Saturday Morning

Unable to crush the Orange defense, Penn State's soccer eleven battled Syracuse to a scoreless deadlock in two extra periods of play here Saturday morning.

The Nittany team played a fast and clever game to overcome the Hill attack. During the major portion of the contest the Nittany boosters caused the ball far into the visitors' territory and succeeded in making more than a score of attempts for goal. A number of the attempts were stopped by Simmons, Hill goalie, whose brilliant style outclassed his teammates. At least five of these kicks bounced off the goal posts.

Syracuse managed to carry the ball into the Lion territory for the last part of the second quarter and once in the last half following an unsuccessful penalty kick. On each occasion McKune, Lion goal defender, handled the ball in All-American style.

Al Daykin, center half, was injured during the second quarter and was shifted at the beginning of the second half to inside left in place of Mastey. Coach Bill Jeffrey filled the vacant post with Sol Saltzman.

Anderson and Tyson led the Nittany scoring attack against the Hillmen. Both men swept the ball into the center with perfectly timed passes and kicks but lacked the punch necessary to drive accurate kicks from the corners of the field.

In addition to shifting Daykin to the line, Coach Jeffrey sent Holmes in for Miller at center forward and Hippel for Musser at inside right hoping to find a scoring combination.

The game ended in two fast five minutes during which Penn State drove a furious attack against the Syracuse defense wall. However, the Lions were unsuccessfully driven back from the goal after trying to score off several corner kicks by Anderson.

ably be scheduled within the next month for the last game on the schedule, but arrangements are indefinite at present. Athletic officials here would rather complete the 1931 season the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving, and if possible the Turkey Day encounter will be eliminated.

With the near completion of next year's schedule, three important games for the 1932 campaign are revealed. Lafayette, after the two games at Easton, will probably play here, while the Penn State-Colgate battle for this season will take place in Hamilton, New York. It is also known that Pitt will be played in 1932 as a Thanksgiving Day game at Pittsburgh.

1931 CO-EDS WIN IN HOCKEY

Retaining their lead in the women's class hockey tournament, freshmen co-eds defeated the juniors 3-0 on Holmes Field Thursday afternoon. Ruth P. Walton and Dorothy Ward scored the freshman goals.

Lion Hill Teams Fail To Produce Scoring Punch in Critical Moments of Game

Unable to turn their invasions of Syracuse territory into touchdowns, the Lion cubs battled an Orange freshman eleven that was equally lacking in scoring punch to a 0-to-0 tie on Hendricks field at Syracuse Saturday afternoon.

Morrison, fleet plebe halfback, led the attack for Penn State with long gains through the Hill defense. In the fourth period, after the speedy Philadelphia gridmen advanced the ball 35 yards in four plays during the Nittany yearlings' most sustained advance, his successful pass to Stuser placed the ball on the Syracuse 20-yard line.

The Orange defense tightened, and Penn State lost the ball on downs, after line thrusts failed to gain the required ten yards.

The Lion freshmen repulsed Syracuse advances within their 20-yard line three times during the game. The first Hill invasion came early in the
