FAR FROM THE BALLYHOO

The value of publicity is aptly shown in the case of Colgate's football team...

Yet Colgate has been forced backstage while metropolitan sportswriters wax oratorical on the prowess of teams...

We'll gladly hand Colgate all the sympathy and consolation, if that will help...

Several hundred self-conscious undergrads in R. O. T. C. garb stood uncomfortably at attention...

THE NEW SCHEDULE

The 1931 football schedule just released has met with the hearty approval of the majority of students...

The game with Temple will provide an opportunity for the traditional Philadelphia pilgrimage which was not held this year...

It has not been decided whom the Lions will meet on Thanksgiving Day or the Saturday before...

Our contemporary, Froth, claims a smashing victory in respect to the removal of the lions from the College gateway...

BUSY READERS

Perhaps we made a mistake when we decided to publish for student perusal the opinions of several faculty members concerning Sinclair Lewis' selection as winner of the Nobel prize for literature...

Of course, we're busy with football, movies, house-party and incidental studies. Who cares if there is an unemployment crisis? We still get the check from home...

Horseback riding is an excellent sport but it has its place. That place isn't over lawns of campus residences...

THE LION'S DEN

BY DANIEL

Draw Your Own Conclusion.

It was the Sunday of Houseparty week-end, and all the boys were talking about their respective dates...

"Say, just fine," Joe replied. "Why, when the dance was over you girl had to sit down."

Wishes

I wish I were a little bird

Up in a maple tree, Then I'd be as mean to them As they've been to me.

Which brings up the momentous question: How do they train cuckoos for cuckoo clocks?

News Note.

There were visitors in town this week. Several tips were left in the Corner Room

We Must Have Our Pun!

As the angry columnist said to his young son, "Now I'll be forced to give you a quipping!"

And it really does hurt us more than it does you

Watch Out - of Order.

For several days, the watch lay on the desk. Something was wrong, because the darn thing wouldn't go, or at least, we thought it wouldn't.

Coming back a little while later, we asked if it was going again. The jeweler replied that it was, then we asked him what was wrong with it

After a few moments thought, he answered, "Well, it needed winding. Fifty cents, please!"

"Use This Word in a Sentence"

Just the other day an English instructor asked one of his freshmen to use the word "euphony" in a sentence.

This is what he got "The co-ed cried, 'Quit tickling me, euphony man!'"

Ah, another entrant for the "Quip and Quirk Club."

Here's Your Chance.

We understand that the collar advertisers were around the campus after Houseparty looking for neckling testimonials

Fraternity Fred Says:

He is taking Liberal Arts because he must uphold his campus reputation for being a free spender.

We Ask You -

Is it true that the W. C. T. U. is going to ask Froth to change its name?

Just because it's bubbling over with jokes like these— Maybe, at that

Unfamiliar Quotations

People who live in glass houses should—dress in the cellar Ken

Add: Simile.

As popular as a church service on the fraternity radio

We Wonder?

When are they going to give a Nobel prize for good columnists?

But it would turn out to be an ignoble prize

IN THE PENN STATE MANNER

Why-- Is Now the Time To Buy?

Because your dollar buys more now than it has for years—Never before has the buyer had such an opportunity to receive so much value for his money.
