Nearly every student at Hobart college is engaging in some form of athletics under a new supervised intramural program, according to a report received from the New York institution by Dean R. L. Sackett in his capacity as vice-president for the second district of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

Penn State's intercollegiate championship cross-country team will be among the guests of honor at the silver jubilee dinner of the Veteran Athletics association of Philadelphia January 31, which is tendered annually to the sports champions of the year.

Bary Wood, quarterback and captain-elect of the Harvard eleven, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa last week. Besides winning four major letters, two in football and one each in baseball and hockey, and being chosen the top ranking player of the New England Lawn Tennis association, Wood has one of the best scholastic records ever made by a Harvard athlete.

Dev W. Very, captain of Penn State's 1930 football team, officiated as head linesman in the Army-Navy gridiron battle in the Yankee Stadium Saturday afternoon.

That college football is sinking to the level of the prize ring and race track was an opinion expressed by Tarzan, Rutgers' student newspaper, in urging authorities who are debating Rutgers' future football policy to fight shy of commercialism.

Earl McCready, winner of the heavyweight title at the National Intercollegiate Wrestling tournament held here last spring, was defeated for the first time in professional competition when he lost a decision to Ray Steele of California in Philadelphia Friday night.

Believing it unfair to ask their teams to compete against athletes of schools which in one way or the other financially aid their men, Lehigh's faculty has recommended that the athletic board in the future only schedule games with colleges who have an amateur standard similar to that of Lehigh.

Because of severe injuries sustained in a fall, "Tony" Meyers, captain of the West Virginia mat team, will not appear in the Mountaineers' line-up against the Nit-tans' scrappers in the opening meet of the season January 31.

Purdue university has been forced to drop baseball and track as intercollegiate minor sports because the expected returns from football, which were used for the support of these non-paying activities, failed to materialize this year.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA WINS GRID TROPHY

Defeats Phi Kappas, Amassing Total of 9 First Downs To Opponents 4

Although neither team scored, Alpha Chi Sigma defeated Phi Kappa, nine first downs to four, closing the intramural football tournament on New Beaver field Saturday afternoon. Snatching pass after pass, Ray Best, Alpha Chi Sigma left end, started for the winning team. Defensively, the winning eleven line allowed few Phi Kappa plunges to pass, forcing the latter's aggression to aerial tactics and end runs. With the end of the first half, the Chemists had piled up six first downs to Phi Kappa's one.

Tightening its defense and taking to end runs and passes, the Phi Kappa gridmen staged a comeback in the second half holding the winners to three first downs while garnering the same number by completing several tosses.

Last-Minute Attack Futile. With one minute of play remaining, a completed pass, Slah to Kellay, placed the Phi Kappa men on their opponents three-yard line. However, two attempted rushes proved futile as the game ended with the ball on Alpha Chi Sigma's two-yard line.

The members of the team which won the Athletic association full-sized silver football trophy are Best, Hodgkiss, Meyer, Metzger, Henesey, Turnbull, Goyne, Kueger, Curry, Bauder, and Miller.

Sterling E. Brown '31, chairman of the tourney, in reviewing the attitude and progress of the men participating in the tournament said, "The fine attitude of the players and the increased interest in the games as the season progressed strengthens the features of intramural competition."

Lasich Will Captain Grid Team in 1931

George T. Lasich '32 was elected next year's football captain at a meeting of the 1930 lettermen Saturday afternoon.

For the past two seasons Lasich has been varsity fullback, and last year he was the only sophomore on the squad to receive a major letter. During the 1930 campaign he was the most consistent ground garner in the Nutlavy backfield.

The election of a backfield player to the captaincy further dispels from the tradition of naming a line-man, as Lyon leader Frank Dietrich and Johnny Roepke have been the lone backfield stars to lead Blue and White teams for a number of years.

COACH PAUL, HAMMER '31 ATTEND LACROSSE CONCLAVE

Coach Ernie Paul and Charles R. Hammer '31, manager of the Penn State lacrosse team, attended the annual meeting of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association in New York city last week.

At this meeting Massachusetts Institute of Technology was admitted to the organization, making twenty-four collegiate members. The group decided to keep intact the rules for the 1930 season and only made changes necessary for the clarification of the code.

CARIDEO ACCEPTS POSITION

Frank Carideo, Notre Dame quarterback, will go to Princeton next year as Al Wittmer's assistant.

BISCHOFF FORMS FIRST GYM TEAM

Board May Give Minor Awards This Year—7 Candidates Report on Friday

Penn State's advance into the field of sport will take another stride forward with the forming of a gymnasium team, the first to represent the College, under the direction of Eugene C. Bischoff, professor of physical education.

Gymnastics has been recognized by the Athletic Board of Control and minor awards will be given to those participating in scheduled meets at this act of the board is passed by the student body in the spring elections.

At the first practice on Friday, seven members of last year's squad went through their paces with five other veterans signifying their intention to report at a later date. With the material available, high hopes are held for a successful team. An added advantage is the fact that freshmen are eligible for the varsity competition.

A meet has been scheduled with Colgate here for March 23 and Manager Robert B. Farver is conducting negotiations with other schools for additional competition.

Practices are being held every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5 o'clock and anyone desiring to try for the squad is urged to report to Recreation hall at that time.

17 FRATERNITIES ENTER INTRAMURAL WRESTLING

Tournament Will Begin Immediately After Christmas Holidays

Seventeen entries were received for the annual intramural wrestling tournament at a meeting of fraternity wrestling managers at the Alpha Chi Sigma house Friday night.

Managers who were unable to attend this meeting may still enter their teams by getting in touch with George H. Young '32, manager of intramural wrestling, before the end of this week. Individuals who expect to compete must sign up at Recreation hall sometime this week.

Present plans call for the tournament to get under way about the middle of the first week after Christmas vacation has ended. Only those men who have earned their letter in varsity competition will be barred from participation.
