'Y' GROUP SECURES SHERWOOD EDDY AS VISITING LECTURER

World Traveler Will Return to Penn State Campus After Two Year Absence

SPEAKER CONCLUDED 13 MONTHS' TOUR RECENTLY

Visited Principal Countries of Europe, Asia—Interviewed Prominent Leaders

After an absence of two years, Dr. Sherwood Eddy, world traveler and lecturer, will return to the College for a series of talks February 13, 14 and 15 in Schwab auditorium.

Dr. Eddy will discuss four topics of international scope before open mass meetings on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. He has chosen as his first topic, "Russia and India—Two Philosophies of Life."

The lecturer has returned recently from a thirteen months' world speaking and study tour through twenty countries and from his tenth annual canvass of representative American writers and speakers who have endeavored to make an impartial study of conditions in Europe.

Dr. Eddy was graduated from Yale university in 1891 and received his Master of Arts degree from the same institution several years later. He has received honorary degrees from universities in China, India and the United States.

For many years the lecturer was connected with the Y.M.C.A. in China, Japan and the Near East. During the World War, Dr. Eddy was Y.M.C.A. secretary to the British army and later to the American troops here.

Among the most recent books by Sherwood Eddy is "The Challenge of Russia," published January 19, 1931. He has visited Russia nine times, twice under the Czarist reign and seven times under the Soviet regime.

PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS STATE WOMEN LEADERS

Dr. Hetzel Discusses New College Problems With Executives

President Ralph D. Hetzel will speak before the executive board of the State Confederation of Pennsylvania Women in the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg at noon today.

Dr. Hetzel left Sunday for Philadelphia where he conferred with Charles Z. Klauder, college architect, discussing plans for new buildings to be presented to the legislature for appropriation.

MISS KALB '33 RECEIVES ANNUAL FRESHMAN AWARD

Miss Elizabeth M. Kalb '33 has won the fifty dollar W. S. G. A. scholarship which is presented annually to the woman having the highest average in the Freshman class.

At the same time that Miss Kalb receives her award, Miss E. Elizabeth Rutledge '33 will be given the W. S. G. A. scholarship which she won in 1929.

TO RETURN For Lecture Series Here February 13

DR. SHERWOOD EDDY

PATTEE TO RETURN FOR MAY LECTURES

American Literature Professor Plans Spring Visit Here As Guest Speaker

Returning to Penn State for his third visit as professor emeritus of American literature, Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee, lecturer at Rollins college, Winter Park Florida will lecture here the first week in May.

Complete arrangements for the lecture program will be formulated by Dr. William S. Dye, Jr., head of the English literature department, when he returns from a leave of absence next month.

Dr. Pattee left after twenty-five years of service as professor of American literature to accept a post at Rollins college where he has devoted himself to literary work. Since that time he has returned to the College for a series of six lectures delivered last May.

In his last series, Dr. Pattee, who is an authority on American literature, analyzed twentieth century authors with respect to style of writing, influence, and literary worth of articles and books. While here, he delivered the concluding Liberal Arts lecture of 1930 on "What Women Did to the Novel."

His contributions to contemporary literature include "The Wine of May and Other Lyrics," "Mary Garvin," "House of the Black Ring," "The Point" and many other books on American literature.

OFFICIALS FAIL TO FIND MONT ALTO INSTRUCTOR

Lack Clues Revealing Whereabouts Of Davis—Lost 2 Weeks Ago

Although every traceable clue has been followed concerning his whereabouts, the disappearance of Paul B. Davis '30, twenty-six year old assistant in botany and athletic director at Mont Alto Forestry school, still remains a mystery.

Since January 7, when friends became alarmed at his absence, State Police and College officials have followed all clues and conjectures, but have obtained no information according to Prof. John A. Ferguson, of the Forestry school.

Professor Ferguson has written to Davis' parents, but has received no word from them. Returning from Mont Alto today, he will continue the investigation.

College Physician Denounces All-Night Cramming Sessions for Examinations

Denouncing the all-night cramming sessions held by students immediately preceding final examinations, Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, College physician, declared that it was impossible and harmful to attempt to complete eighteen weeks' work in one or two nights.

"One cannot expect to master the numerous facts of a semester course in so short a period," claimed Dr. Ritenour. "Such cramming results in a sleepless, worried mood which prevents clear thinking during the course of the examination."

If students carefully allotted their time throughout the semester, all necessity for such all-night sessions would be obviated, according to the physician. The student would then enter final examinations tested and confident, and consequently give a better account of himself.

Comptroller Smith Obtains 6-Months Leave of Absence

Trustees Grant Vacation—Budgeting Supervisor For College Served Here Since 1911

Comptroller Raymond H. Smith, a member of Penn State's administrative staff since 1911, was granted a six-months leave of absence effective at once at the Board of Trustees meeting last Monday.

Matriculating at Penn State in 1901, Mr. Smith was manager of the 1904 football team and a member of numerous honorary organizations and fraternities. He graduated from the College in 1905.

Following his study here, the comptroller served as draftsman for the Pittsburgh city commission in 1905 and 1906. He was treasurer of the R. W. Wyckoff company, Pittsburgh, from 1906 until 1910.

Returning to Penn State as graduate manager of athletics and secretary of the Alumni association, Mr. Smith has remained at the College since 1911 in executive capacities. These two organizations were first enlarged and built up under his direction.

Was Administrative Secretary With the expansion of the College during Dr. Edwin Eric Sparks' presidency, the need for a more careful control of college budgeting was felt. At the instigation of Dr. Sparks, the Board of Trustees created the Comptroller's office in 1918.

Mr. Smith was named the first head of the new administrative department, leaving his position as graduate manager of athletics to assume his enlarged duties.

He has acted in that capacity during the last twelve years, with the exception of a period from June, 1925 until January, 1927. During that time, when the College was governed by a special Administration committee, the comptroller served as secretary of the group. The two-year interim marked a period when Penn State had no president. The management was directed by Mr. Smith, who was elected secretary pro tempore of the Board of Trustees.

On February 24 the men's team, arguing the affirmative, will engage William and Mary orators on "Resolved, That the Six States Should Enact Compulsory Unemployment Insurance Legislation" here. Two days later the team will travel to Carlisle where they will meet the Dickinson speakers using the Oregon style of debating in defense of the affirmative side of the free trade topic. Penn State-Dickinson forensic contests have been carried on since 1903.

A novel debate will take place with Seton Hill college on the question of the emergence of women from the home. Each team will be made up of one Penn State man and one Seton Hill woman arguing in the Oregon style with the women representatives presenting the constructive speech and the men presenting the cross-examination and rebuttal. This will be a non-decision debate and will take place at the women's school March 5.

A dual debate will be conducted with the Washington and Jefferson men on the unemployment insurance topic on the following day while the negative team will remain at home. On the seventh the team will meet the University of Pittsburgh orators in Schwab auditorium in defense of the affirmative side of the same question.

On a southern tip during the Easter vacation the orators will engage in seven debates of which definitely scheduled discussions have been arranged with William and Mary college, North Carolina State college and the University of South Carolina.

SENIORS DEDICATE 1931 YEARBOOK TO TRUSTEE PRESIDENT

J. Franklin Shields, Receives LaVie Honor—Editors Select Art Work

POORBAUGH '31 EXPECTS DISTRIBUTION BY MAY 1

Publishers Work on Fraternity Section—Campus Scenes Form Vignettes

The 1931 LaVie will be dedicated to the Honorable John Franklin Shields, president of the College Board of Trustees, according to Harry J. Poorbaugh '31, editor-in-chief of the annual.

Mr. Shields graduated from Penn State in 1892 and taught here during 1898 and 1899 after studying at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1902 he received his degree of bachelor of law at the university. Mr. Shields was a member of the Board of Trustees from 1905 to 1929, when he was appointed president of the body. A well known legal authority, he is the author of pamphlets on "Historical Development of the Constitution of the United States," "Our National Constitution," and "Fundamentals of American Law."

In accordance with publishing arrangements this section will be in the hands of the printers before the middle of February. The fraternity section with all photograph and articles complete is now in the process of composition at the Gut Publishing company plant in Williamsport.

Campus scenes and views of College buildings are being selected by the staff of the publication to be used in the pictorial division and as vignettes. The pictorial division will be included in the dedicatory section of the edition, there is a full page special tone picture of the trustee head with a biographical sketch and letter to the class of 1931.

Art work and photography are nearing completion with only winter sports pictures and some honoraria groups yet to be taken. In conjunction with this work the editorial material has kept pace with the mechanical part of the publication.

Without any unexpected delay, Poorbaugh stated, "all material will be in the hands of the printers before the middle of March and within six weeks from that date the senior record will be ready for distribution."

Plans for holding the Junior Prom Friday, May 1 instead of May 8 are under consideration, Alfred E. Lewis, president of the Junior class, revealed yesterday.

Because Mothers' Day is Sunday, May 10, the committee will petition to change the date of the annual social function. In order to make this change effective, it must be approved by Dean of Men Arthur R. Watnoch and the Student Board.

During Christmas vacation William W. Pannas, Junior Prom chairman, was in New York interviewing orchestras which he thought would be among those considered in the final selection. Guy Lombardo, Duke Ellington, and Rudy Vallee are those considered. Pannas stated that further plans would be revealed at the beginning of next semester.

Mr. Donald M. Cresswell, director of the department of public information, attended a meeting of the executive committee of the American College Publicity Association in New York last week to assist in making a program for the association's national convention at Chapel Hill, N. Dr. Alfred H. Upham, president of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, will address students on "Wings for Souls" at the eighteenth annual mid-year commencement exercises in Schwab auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Graduates will assemble in the first floor lounge and the faculty will meet in the second floor lounge of Old Main at 7:45 o'clock. Prof. Clarence H. Bullinger, College Marshal, and Mr. Cyrus V. D. Bisse, scheduling officer, will head the procession to the Auditorium at 7:55 o'clock.

Following the invocation by Prof. John H. Frazier, acting College chaplain, Prof. Richard W. Grant, director of music, will lead the assembly in a song. Either the Men's Glee club of the College orchestra will furnish musical selections during the exercises.

After the address by Dr. Upham, President Ralph D. Hetzel will present the diplomas, assisted by the deans of the various schools. Sixteen students will receive advanced degrees, including eleven masters of science and four master of arts degrees, and two honorary commissions. One advanced degree in mining engineering will also be conferred.

Education School Leads Forty-eight candidates have completed the requirements for the bachelor of science, while forty-six seniors will be awarded with the degree of bachelor of arts. With thirty-one candidates, the School of Education will award the largest number of degrees, the Liberal Arts School being second with twenty-eight. Fourteen Agriculture students will receive diplomas along with thirteen engineers, five mineral physicists and three chemistry and physics seniors complete the graduation list.

The commencement speaker was graduated from the institution he now heads in 1897. After teaching Latin and Greek at his alma mater, Dr. Upham obtained the master of arts degree from Harvard university in 1901. In 1905 Columbia university conferred upon him the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Y.M.C.A. RELEASES NEXT TERM PLANS

Mid-Winter Conference, Annual Fireside Sessions, Talks Listed in Program

In releasing the program of the Y.M.C.A. for the coming semester, Raymond A. Bowers '31, president of the "Y", stated yesterday that a number of events were planned which would be of campus-wide interest to all students returning for the second term.

The mid-winter Men's conference to be held at Buck Hill Falls, Crosson, on February 6, 7, and 8, is the first event scheduled. The gathering, which is sponsored by the Middle Atlantic Field Student council, will be attended by representatives from fifty-nine colleges and universities last year, of which Penn State's delegation was the largest. However, they are limited to twenty-five men this year.

Hold Life Work Week From February 10 until March 30, the "Y" will sponsor the second annual Fireside Sessions discussion groups which will include talks on fourteen subjects: Education, prohibition, sex and marriage, athletics and sports, and social and economic problems are among those listed.

Lectures by world traveler and lecturer, Dr. Sherwood Eddy, will be held February 13, 14, and 15 while from March 1 until March 1 a Life Work Week will be inaugurated in conjunction with the Y.M.C.A.

This will be the first week of its kind to be sponsored by the "Y" and its purpose is to counsel and assist those men and women who wish information or assistance in determining their life work. It is also intended to challenge students to give adequate consideration to their motives in any occupation or profession they choose to enter.

Because Mothers' Day is Sunday, May 10, the committee will petition to change the date of the annual social function. In order to make this change effective, it must be approved by Dean of Men Arthur R. Watnoch and the Student Board.
