

WOMEN'S COUNCIL WILL MEET TODAY

Panhellenic Group To Discuss Second Semester Bidding Of Co-ed Students

Continuing its discussion of the question concerning the change to second semester bidding of women students from the present system of third semester bidding, Panhellenic Council will meet this afternoon to hear Dean Charlotte E. Ray and Mrs. A. K. Anderson, Panhellenic advisors, advance several arguments regarding the change.

It is probable that Dean Ray, who has made a detailed study of the subject, will not favor the revision. According to Mrs. Anderson, Penn State is the only college where women are not bid to the junior level of the third semester. In those institutions where there is second semester bidding the code has led to a change from first semester bidding which they found unsatisfactory.

Reverse Decision

Since the last meeting, at which time all the fraternities and fraternities reported their opinions as favoring the revision, only one group, Delta Gamma, has reversed its decision and now opposes second semester bidding.

Delta Gamma has based the reconsideration of its former stand upon the ground that by third semester the women are better established in college and are not greatly affected by being bid or not bid to any Greek letter society.

The other fraternities, in advocating revision of the code, declared that because sophomore women are rushed at the beginning of the year, incoming freshmen are neglected at the most important time, and are given insufficient guidance in the formation of their friendships.

STUDY LIBRARY WORK HERE

Miss Sara Price and Miss Virginia Tucker of the Syracuse University library school are doing practice work at the library during the first two weeks in March. This work is part of the library course at Syracuse university.

WILL ATTEND Y MEETING

Mr. Harry W. Seamans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Charles P. Smith '12 will represent the local body at an executive committee meeting of the Middle Atlantic field council of college Y. M. C. A.'s at Bucknell university, Lewisburg, beginning Friday.

1903-04 Freshman Handbook Reveals Early College Customs, Regulations

Eighteen freshman handbooks ranging from 1903-04 to the present time, as preserved in the Y. M. C. A. headquarters in Old Main, cast an interesting light on college customs and conditions within that period.

In the earliest book of the collection, board for students is quoted at $2.50 a week, while room rent is rated at $1.50 less. The statement, "Tuition is free in all courses," is inserted in a conspicuous place to further convince the student that his education may be had at a bargain.

In that year there were but eight social fraternities, the volume reveals "On Sunday the rooms are inspected by the Commandant at 9 a. m. At this time the student is to be in his room and in full uniform, except the cap," is one of the College regulations explained to the incoming student.

STUDENTS SEEK TO CANCEL R. O. T. C. APPROPRIATIONS

Beating a petition signed by 10,000 students in fifty-five colleges and universities, students from nine eastern schools visited the Senate last week, asking Congress to end appropriations of money to educational institutions where military training is compulsory.

Fifty-six students from Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland, Swarthmore, and Georgetown formed the delegation. The mandate was presented to Senator Flaxton, North Dakota insurgent Republican, who was recently defeated in an effort to prevent governmental appropriations to land grant colleges having military training.

Naval Officers Seek Better Method for Motor Lubrication

Fewer automobile main bearings will suffer from lack of lubrication when investigations initiated by Prof. Lewis J. Bradford and now being completed by two United States Navy officers detailed to the College for advanced engineering training are completed.

Professor Bradford has directed the research since investigations were started three years ago. The information was given out in a bulletin of the engineering experiment station, and is the first experimental data to be published in the United States on the subject of oil film pressure on journal bearings.

Information obtained by Professor Bradford shows that the oil film in a journal bearing develops pressures up to 1600 pounds when the shaft is under loads of 400 pounds per square inch. As this makes it impossible to introduce lubricant on the working side of the shaft, he has carried on research to find a suitable way in which to introduce the lubricant satisfactorily.
