STUDENTS ARRANGE VARIOUS PROGRAMS FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Observance Includes Players, Scholarship, May Queen, Musical Exercises

DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN WILL SPEAK IN CHAPEL

New York Minister To Discuss 'Men and Their Shadows' Sunday Morning

With a three-day program which begins tonight and extends to Sunday afternoon, including a presentation by the Players, Scholarship exercises, athletic events, May Day, a musical program, and the chapel services, Penn State students will entertain visiting parents this week-end as part of the national observance of Mothers' Day.

The program will open at 8:30 o'clock tonight when the Players present "The Donovan Affair" in Schwab auditorium, and will close with chapel exercises at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church in New York city, will address the chapel audience on "Men and Their Shadows."

Dr. Sockman is the author of "Morals of Tomorrow," a study of the morals of today and a forecast of the morals of tomorrow. The book was published last year. At present Dr. Sockman is president of the Greater New York Federation of Churches and a prominent figure in religious circles.

In addition to the interscholastic and varsity track meets tomorrow afternoon, Penn State will meet the Lafayette golf team on the College links. Following the athletic events a tea for mothers will be given by Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray and women students. Mrs. Ralph D. Hetzel, Mrs. William D. Phillips, Mrs. Frank W. Haller, Mrs. Arthur R. Warnock, and Miss Edith P. Chase will receive at this affair.

The May Day fete on the front campus at 6:45 o'clock will conclude tomorrow afternoon's activities. At this festival Anne E. Mellinger '31 will be crowned May Queen and Helen Buckwalter '31 and E. Louise Hoffert '31 will head the center hemlock chains. The May Day committee hopes to institute the carrying of the hemlock chains as a tradition at these exercises.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. Richard W. Grant, director of the musical education department, will present a combined musical concert and vaudeville show at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in Schwab auditorium. The Varsity male quartet will assist in this program. In addition to songs by the entire Glee Club there will be a number of baritone duets and solos, and a magician act presented by Robert G. Thrasher '31. The annual business meeting of the Parents association will be omitted in order that mothers may attend the Scholarship Day address to be given by Dr. Harry A. Overstreet. Scholarship awards will be presented during these exercises.

PROM DECORATIVE PLANS ANNOUNCED

Will Include Covered Ceiling Effect Designed To Conceal Steel Girders From View

An atmosphere for the music of Guy Lombardo and Ace Brigrade at Junior Prom, to be held in Recreation hall next Friday, was provided this week with the placing of the decorating contract by the Prom committee, according to Chairman William W. Panas '32.

A full ceiling of green, gold, and white drapes are planned to hide the steel girders from the view of those dancing on the floor, while a gold border underneath white lattice work together with shields of black and gold satin will decorate the sides of the hall.

Spotlights will be focused on six wreaths placed at various points on the walls. Individual booths are to be decorated with blue and white draperies in order to reduce the barren atmosphere created by the plaster walls and columns supporting the balcony.

Booth drawings are scheduled for Tuesday night at which time fraternities are asked to present checks for $10 and $5 for booth privileges and seating services.

BLUE KEY ELECTS OFFICERS Charles E. Malley Jr. '33 was elected president of Blue Key, honorary junior campus society, at a meeting Sunday night. Willard P. Huester '33 became vice-president while Arthur R. Anywyl Jr. '33 was named secretary. William S. Lenker '33 will assume the treasurership. Twenty new members were initiated before the meeting to serve as nucleus for next year's organization.

TO ENFORCE CLASS CUSTOMS Sophomore customs will be enforced by Student Tribunal until Student Council takes definite action upon this matter, according to John Zorolla, president of the Tribunal. Violations of customs are to be reported directly to Zorolla.

Professors Garver, Martin Receive Phi Eta Sigma Medals for Research

Two faculty members outstanding in research, Prof. Madison M. Garver of the physics department and Dr. Asa E. Martin, head of the history and political science department, were awarded last night the medals designated by Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary freshman scholastic fraternity, as a reward for unsubsidized research.

Completing his thirty-eighth year of service at the College, Professor Garver, who is eighty-three years of age, is well known in scientific circles for his unparalleled research and publication of discoveries on the kinetic nature of matter. His success in the natural sciences, especially physics, has merited in addition to the present award for his endeavors in this field, a first prize award at the Columbia Exposition, at Chicago in 1893 for a voltmeter of his design, and special recognition at the Memorial Day exercises here last year. His contributions to the college are

LA VIE TO FEATURE 11 WOMEN IN NEW 'MODERNE' NUMBER

1931 Yearbook Will Appear for Immediate Distribution Early Next Week

DEDICATION OF VOLUME HONORS TRUSTEE HEAD

Seniors May Obtain Copies by Presenting Cards at Union Office

Presenting a special feature section of eleven "attractive representative women" La Vie, College yearbook, will be ready for distribution early next week, Ralph A. Robinson, business manager, announced yesterday. The book is now in the hands of the binder.

The publication, which was changed this year to a senior instead of a junior yearbook as in previous years, stresses the "moderns" both in literary style and in type of pictures. The cover is of pebble grain material with a Lion head set in an inverted octagon in the upper right hand corner and relieved by indented columns of varying height.

A colored stipple of John Franklin Shields, president of the College Board of Trustees, to whom the volume is dedicated, appears along with the dedication on one of the opening pages. The frontispiece, which is the work of Andrew W. Case, instructor in frehand drawing and La Vie art adviser, presents a cross-section of Penn State life, while the sub-dividers contain silhouettes set in a silver background.

May Secure Extra Copies Consisting of between 475 and 500 pages, the yearbook contains over 1000 illustrations. An added feature of the publication is a section devoted to intramural sports, picturing the committee in charge as well as contestants who took part in the tournaments. An outline of Penn State's athletic fields as planned for the future is another innovation.

This year's senior staff will be the first to receive compensation for their work on the publication as the result of action taken by the inter-class budget committee last fall. This year also marks the departure from a system of staff appointments to one on a competitive basis.

Seniors, upon presentation of both first and second semester matriculation cards for the current year, are entitled to one copy of the edition. Robinson said Extra copies will be available at a special price to seniors, while copies already subscribed to will be distributed at the end of the week. Distribution will be made from the Student Union office in Old Main.

PENNSYLVANIA ARCHITECTS WILL HOLD ART EXHIBITION

An exhibit of the work of central Pennsylvania architects will be held in Room 304, Main engineering building, beginning Thursday and continuing for a week.

Work of the students in architecture at Penn State will be shown as well as the work of allied arts, including landscaping, art glass, wrought iron, sculpture, and pottery.

HASEK SPEAKS AT SCRANTON Dr. Carl W. Hasek, professor of economics, spoke at "The Business Cycle" before the Scranton chamber of commerce Tuesday.

CHAMBERS ATTENDS ILLINOIS PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION

Dean Will Grant Chambers of the School of Education returned Tuesday from Urbana, Ill., where he represented the College at the inauguration of President Hervey W. Chase of the University of Illinois last Friday.

Dean Chambers also installed a new chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary education fraternity, of which he is national president, at the Illinois State Normal university, located at Bloomington, Ill., last Saturday.

SETS DATE OF PUBLICATION The Spring issue of Old Main Bell, College literary magazine, will appear near the end of this month, according to Roy E. Morgan '31, editor of the publication. An educational allegory by Prof. Carroll D. Champin of the School of Education will be featured.

Senior Final Exams To Begin on May 26

Senior final examinations will begin at 8 o'clock Tuesday, May 26, and continue to 4 o'clock Monday, June 1, according to an announcement yesterday by Cyrus V. D. Bussey, College scheduling officer. All senior grades will be sent to the Registrar's office by 5 o'clock Tuesday, June 2. The complete schedule of examinations for other undergraduates will appear in Friday's COLLEGIAN, and a program of conflict tests will be announced in a later issue.

FACULTY TO VOTE ON CO-ED VISITING

Committee on Student Welfare Will Consider Action of Fraternity Heads

Contrary to the story printed in Tuesday's COLLEGIAN, the recent action of W.S.G.A. and the fraternity president's committee concerning women's visiting in fraternity houses will be passed by the Faculty Committee on Student Welfare before it can go into effect.

Originally presented by the fraternity presidents' committee, the recommendation was sustained by W.S.G.A. last Monday. If passed by the Student Welfare committee at its next meeting, the ruling will allow women to visit fraternity houses Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights.

According to Elizabeth C. Bell '32, president of W.S.G.A., an interpretation of the proposed ruling reveals that women will be allowed to visit fraternity houses until such hour as girls are required by College regulations to be in the dormitory, provided a minimum of three couples are present.

The present ruling states that no woman student shall be in a fraternity house after the evening meal except for an authorized social function.

GROUP WILL NAME LEADING ATHLETE

To Announce Outstanding Letterman Of Year in Varsity 'S' Outing At Hecla Park Monday

Penn State's outstanding athlete will be named at the varsity 'S' outing to be held at Hecla park Monday. The site for the outing, which replaces the lettermen's banquet of former years, was set definitely this week.

The committee in charge of selecting the outstanding athlete is made up of Dean Hugo Bezdak, of the School of Physical Education, chairman, Dean Robert L. Sackett, of the School of Engineering, Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, and David G. McLaughlin, president of the class of 1931.

The first bus will leave for Hecla park from Recreation hall at 3 o'clock Monday. Another will set out at 4:10 o'clock, while automobiles will leave intermittently. Basic and advance students in the ROTC who expect to attend the outing will be excused from Monday night drill. In case of rain, the informal dinner event will be held off until the following day.

Golf, to be played on the Nittany Country club links, has been added to the list of sports contests in which the men may participate. Prizes will be awarded to winners of tournaments in volley ball, mush ball, quarts, swimming, as well as golf. Following the athletic contests, a picnic dinner will be served.

CO-EDS TO CROWN ANNE MELLINGER QUEEN TOMORROW

Will Hold Annual Coronation Ceremony at 6:45 O'clock On Holmes Field

PROCESSION INCLUDES JESTERS, ATTENDANTS

Women's Varsity Quartet Takes Role of Village Singers For Spring Fete

Heralded by two trumpeters, the May Queen, Anne E. Mellinger '31, and her retinue will proceed down a lane formed by two bough hemlock chains on Holmes field at 6:45 o'clock tomorrow night.

The Queen's jesters, M. Harriet Allen '34 and K. Jane Lee '34, and the women's varsity quartet as village singers, will lead the procession, followed by freshman and sophomore May pole dancers, costumed as peasants. Gift bearers carrying the crown, sceptre and sphere precede the donors, Elizabeth C. Bell '32, Marie E. McMahon '32, and Elizabeth Everett '32.

Margaret E. Barnard '31, the Queen's maid-of-honor, together with Molly Patrick, flower girl, will advance before the Queen and her train bearers. Two attendants from each class will follow in the procession as representatives' subjects.

Will Entertain Mothers Elizabeth C. Bell '32, president of W.S.G.A., will place the floral crown on the new Queen, while Marie E. McMahon '32, president of W. A. A., will present her with a spher symbolizing the world. Elizabeth Everett '32, president of Y.W.C.A., will give Miss Mellinger a sceptre significant of royal power. Following the coronation, May pole dancers and village ballad singers will entertain the Queen of Spring.

Opening the May Day festivities, freshman women will escort their mothers and junior "big sisters" to the annual breakfast sponsored by Owens, honorary sophomore women's activities society, on Holmes field at 7 o'clock in the morning. After breakfast, Owens will tap their new members for the coming year.

In the afternoon mothers of students will be entertained at a tea given by Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray in the second floor lounge of Old Main, from 3 until 5 o'clock. Coronation of the May Queen will climax the celebration.

40 TO COME HERE FOR OLDER BOYS CONCLAVE

Schedules Conference Sessions At Cabin Over Week-end

Over forty high school boys from Centre county will attend the first session of the 10th annual older boys conference which the Penn State Y. M. C. A. is conducting at Andy Lake cabin this week-end. Edwin L. Rohrbach of the department of agricultural extension will give the opening address at 8 o'clock tonight. Discussion of the theme, "Leaders for Tomorrow," will be in charge of Rev. Donald W. Caruthers, student pastor of the First Presbyterian church, R. Paul Campbell '30, graduate student in the history department, and William L. Hammaker '30, associate secretary of the Y.M.C.A., Superintendent of school of State College. Joseph Hays is scheduled for the closing address on Sunday morning.

ELECT HONORARY PRESIDENT

Edwin Longcope '32 was elected president of Psi Lambda Sigma, honorary pre-legal fraternity, at a meeting held last week. Longcope succeeded Gerard J. Sack '31, retiring president. Cedric L. Chapman '32 was elected vice president and Sherwood K. Booth '32 was named secretary-treasurer.

Mothers' Tea on Dads' Day Revived Old English Holiday Here In 1926

Today and tomorrow, hundreds of mothers will climb the winding roads to Penn State. And Anna Muter will open her arms to Mater Almissima, dearest mother. Hundreds of students, will try to be more like their mothers, think they are.

But it was only six years ago that the College hardly heeded the biblical admonition to "honor thy father and mother." Before 1921, the student was left entirely to his own devices to do the honoring, and from then until 1926, the noble parent was the sole object of official felicitations.

In that year, Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray held a tea for the visiting mothers on Dads' Day, in May. From that small party have come programs during the past few years made up of the best student talent available, as well as athletic contests of highest caliber, to provide amuse-

TAKES Role of Hostess in 'The Donovan Affair'

SHIRLEY THORPE '33

PLAYERS PRESENT MYSTERY TONIGHT

Production of 'Donovan Affair' To Begin at 8:20 O'clock With 15 in Cast

Mothers will be witnesses to the ways of justice and detectives when the Penn State Players present "The Donovan Affair" in Schwab auditorium at 8:20 o'clock tonight.

Under the direction of Prof. David D. Mason, a cast of fifteen will recreate Owen Davis' three-act mystery thriller for the Mothers' Day audience. As Inspector Killian, James F. Aber '31 will take the center of the stage for most of the play, quizzing all the guests who attend the dinner party where Jack Donovan is murdered.

Shirley Thorpe '33 will appear as the hostess at whose home the entire drama is staged, while Jerome Kaufman '31 will enact the part of her banker husband. Anne E. Mellinger '31 is to be seen in the juvenile leading role, with Ralph Radcliffe '31 appearing opposite her.

Orchestra To Play The character of a nervous, worried woman, torn between love of her children and hate of her husband, is to be played by Phyllis G. Beidler '32. Richard Smith '31 will appear as the husband.

Peter G. Meek '32 will enact the part of the butler who calms the guests in their frenzied efforts to clear up the mystery. The roles of a young couple who add to the complications of the play are to be handled by Sylvia M. Mullin '32 and Frank F. Morris '31.

The maid servant of the house will be played by Marjorie Hathaway '31. August J. Westzel Jr. '31 is to appear as the father of the murdered boy, while Kenneth L. Pary '31 has been cast in the part of an obscure dinner guest whose silence baffles the detectives. James B. Gross '31 and Fairfax A. Reilly '33 will take the parts of policemen.

Musical interludes will be played by the Players' Little Symphony orchestra under the direction of Donald A. Shelley '32. Robert G. McClintock '32 designed the scenery for tonight's production.

BOARD PICKS HEWES, PERKIN, RACKOW As Senior Aides—Head Calls Sophomore Candidates

William B. McCarter '32 has been elected head cheerleader for next year, Charles S. Harper Jr. '31, of the selection board announced yesterday. Beginning the policy of retaining junior cheerleaders throughout the senior year, the board named Robert B. Hewes '32, Emanuel Perkin '32, and L. Lyonel Rackow '32 as senior assistants.

The new head cheerleader issued a last call for additional sophomore candidates for next year's junior staff to report to the Army at 6:30 o'clock tonight. The men will undergo periods of training several times a week, after which three will be named as junior cheerleaders late this month by a recently appointed committee.

In addition to Harper, the board which selected the head cheerleader was composed of Hugo Bezdak, director of athletics, Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, Robert A. Higgins, football coach, and J. Cooper French '31, president of the athletic association.

ELECTS MILLER PRESIDENT

Leonard T. Miller '32 was elected president of the Penn State club for next year at a meeting held recently. Howard W. Luchs '32 was named vice-president, Peter Birnstiel '31 secretary and Philip M. Yessler '32 treasurer. Alfred R. Mengel '32 will act as social secretary and Carl S. Detwick '32 as athletic manager.

SCHOLARS RECEIVE PRIZES AT ANNUAL RITES TOMORROW

Prof. Overstreet To Give Main Address With President Hetzel Presiding

CLASSES WILL ADJOURN FOLLOWING SECOND HOUR

Academic Procession, Scheduled For 10:15 O'clock, Opens Morning Exercises

Classes will be dismissed at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning as students and faculty members observe the annual Scholarship Day in Schwab auditorium. The exercises, which are a part of Mothers' Day observance, will begin at 10:15 o'clock.

Prof. Harry A. Overstreet of the City College of New York will be the principal speaker, while President Ralph D. Hetzel will preside at the exercises. Prof. John H. Frizell, acting College chaplain, will give the invocation.

Opening the exercises, an academic procession composed of members of the faculty, attired in caps and gowns, and initiates into honor societies will form in Old Main lounge at 10 o'clock and march to the Auditorium. Kappa Gamma Psi, honorary musical fraternity, will present several selections at the ceremonies.

To Name Medal Winner Following the reading of memberships in the honorary groups, Prof. Harold A. Everett, of the School of Engineering and president of Honor Society council, will award the Council medals given annually to the highest ranking thirty members of the freshman class and to twenty sophomores.

Announcement of the winner of the John W. White medal, awarded each year to a senior for outstanding academic achievement, will also be made, while three senior winners of White fellowships, consisting of $600 to be used in graduate study, will be named.

Winner of White scholarship, given to a student in each of the three upper classes, and of Louise Carnegie awards, also divided among the upper classes, will be announced. The two students who ranked first among the entire student body in each of the past two semesters will be awarded the President Sparks' medals, while announcement of the winners of the White scholarships for Spanish will also be made at the exercises.

Other awards include the presentation of cups to the men's and women's fraternities leading in scholarship prizes, to the ranking scholars in the different schools of curricula, and scholarships given by the Federation of Pennsylvania Women, Arthur G. Bigelow, Alan Nutt memorial, and others.
