

HIGGINS DEVELOPS SPEEDY, DECEPTIVE LION GRID MACHINE

Cocker, Wille and Irwin have had the most experience. Pace and Harper are understudies of Captain Lashich at fullback, while Bob Snyder's brother, Andy, and Subach are fighting for the reserve job of calling signals.

With the failure of Martz to return to school and the graduation of Edwards and Kaplan, Coach Higgins has used Brewster and Grimshaw, two juniors and holdovers from last year's squad, at the terminals. Tom Slusser is offering the juniors plenty of opposition even though he is a sophomore. Other ends include Johnny McAndrews, Rosenberg, Myers, and Heist.

DeCindis Declared Ineligible
Moon McMillen and Stan Stempeck, two veterans, have been holding down the tackle berth in the recent scrimmages while Berry, Hewitt, Bedoski, Wahl, Cole, Hubler, Wentzel, and Love furnish plenty of reserve strength. The veteran Tom Curry seems to have a hold on his job at guard again this year and along with Freddie Kane, reserve center from last fall, should stop plenty of line plunges. Other guard candidates include Gillard, a letterman, Hesch, a holdover, Woolridge, and Baldwin.

Confronted by the ineligibility of Ed DeCindis the Lion mentor has converted Torrance, a lineman, into a snapperback. Coach Higgins had planned to shift DeCindis to a guard position this fall and therefore his task of shaping a center is not unexpected. Although Torrance has not the weight of Zawacki, he is heavier than either Anderson or Kerr and should receive the center assignment when the Lions take the field against Waynesburg next Saturday.

Assisting Higgins are Dutch Hermann, Joe Boden, freshman Coach Larry Conover and his assistants Joe Miller, Marty McAndrews, Alie Morrison, and Mike Zia from East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College, who have been working hard to put the Lion athletes into first class physical trim for this year's campaign.

SUFFERS FROM APPENDICITIS

Albie Booth, diminutive captain of the 1931 Yale football team, has suffered an appendicitis attack within a few weeks of the opening of his last season as a college player, it became known this week. Coach Stevens, who is a physician, advised Booth to rest as much as possible. It is believed the Eli captain will be used much less than if his physical condition was perfect.

Intramural Athletics Will Begin This Month

4 New Sports Fields on Golf Course To Add More Facilities for Exercise Upon Completion Next Spring

Intramural sports competition among the three upper classes of the College will be started in the second week of school, according to an announcement by Director Hugo Bezek of the School of Physical Education.

Four new intramural athletic fields are being constructed on the golf course at the rear of Recreation Hall for use next spring. Each field is 360 feet long and 200 feet wide and will be available for all sports. The plots will be graded, leveled, and sown in grass this fall.

The winner of last year's Hugo Bezek cup will be announced at an athletic mass-meeting early this fall. This trophy is offered each year to the unit or organization which contributes most to the advancement of athletics at Penn State. If enough student interest is shown, an individual award also will be instituted this year, Director Bezek has announced.

To Appoint Intramural Director
"Because of the lack of an adequate number of athletic fields, intramural sports will be without necessary space this fall. Each participant should recognize this fact and give his co-operation to the sponsors of the tournaments. Next spring the crowded condition will be lessened considerably," Director Bezek said.

The intramural sports calendar for this month will consist of tournaments in football, tennis, golf, cross country, lacrosse, soccer, horseshoes, and speed ball. According to the organization data set forth in the intramural handbook published by the School of Physical Education this year for the first time, all intramural sports will be supervised by an intramural director to be appointed by the School Director.

Eligibility Rules Observed
Responsible to the intramural director, who is a member of the School faculty, is a senior student manager. He will be assisted by three student-associate managers, selected as well as the senior manager by the Intramural board. This board is made up of the Director of the School, one member of the School faculty in addition to the intramural director, and the preceding senior manager.

Each associate manager will serve during a sports season, one for fall, another for winter, and the third for spring sports. In addition, there will be a tournament manager for each sport appointed by the Intramural board. Under the tournament managers will be managers of the various groups represented in each tournament.

A score chart has been drawn up as the basis of computing individual and group point totals. By following this chart individuals and groups may find at any time during the year their total points scored up to that period. Records of individual and team standings will be kept on file in the School Director's office for use in awarding trophies and declaring winners.

Eligibility rulings permit any student to participate in intramural tournaments unless he has earned a letter or numerals in the sport he wishes to enter. In addition, he must receive the sanction of a sports coach if he is on either the freshman or varsity squad in the desired sport, and is restricted as well by the amateur rulings in that sport. A student cannot transfer from one sport to another during a sports tournament.

NITTANY BATTERS WIN LEAGUE CUP

Annex First Place in Triangular Baseball Association by Season's Showing

Penn State is the new champion of the Triangular Baseball Association. A silver trophy, emblematic of the leadership among Colgate, Syracuse, and local nines was received this week from Colgate, 1930 winner, and will take its place with other athletic awards along the balcony walls of Recreation Hall.

Nittany batsmen had a record of two victories and one defeat in competition with the two association rivals. Syracuse was defeated, 6 to 5, while the two games with Maroon diamondmen resulted in a split in victories, 6 to 7 and 11 to 2.

To Move Trophies.
The trophy depicts a pitcher standing on a baseball. Underneath the baseball, there is an imitation marble block which bears the name of the league between silver Ionic columns. The whole is mounted on an ebony base which contains the names of the annual winners in laurel wreaths.

Announcement of the decision to remove the trophies and pictures now reposing in Varsity Hall to a position along the seating entrances in the gymnasium structure this year came from Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, yesterday. The purpose of the change is to enable more people to witness the awards and mementos, which trace the history of Nittany sports.

TO DEFEND JUDGING TITLE

Four Seniors in the department of dairy husbandry will defend the championship won by the College last year in the intercollegiate dairy cattle judging contest on Sunday at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass. The team is composed of James D. Burke, H. Wilnot Carter, Charles E. Dayton, and Sheldon W. Mosser. Prof. Adam L. Beam of the department of dairy husbandry will accompany the team as coach.

In lacrosse James B. Mann '33, John B. Swayne, '33 and Philip J. Perry, '32 will serve as assistant managers. Other first assistant managers are Fred S. Pierce, '33, Mark A. Ziegler, '33 and Charles A. Landis, '33 in tennis and Dean P. Williams, '33, David L. Duvall, '33 and Claude H. Ready '33 in golf.

Steve Hamas '29 Gains 19th Knockout In Spectacular Rise as Professional

Steve Hamas, '29, only Lion athlete ever to win five varsity sports letters in one year, added the nineteenth knockout to his professional boxing record when he downed Jimmy Russell, Vancouver heavyweight, in the first round of a semi-final bout in New York Tuesday night.

Twice intercollegiate heavyweight champion, Hamas earned three boxing letters while in College, besides participating in football, basketball, track, and lacrosse. Since graduation, he has defeated twenty-one boxing opponents without losing to any.

"If Steve continues to win success as a professional boxer it is probable that he will stay in this field," Coach Leo Houck, who was in close touch with Hamas this summer and who referred his bout with LaRocco, said yesterday. "He at first entered the professional ring only to gain money for entering medical school at the University of Vienna."

As a sophomore, Hamas won the fullback berth on the football team, and barely missed the time requirement for an additional letter in basketball. He played forward in the latter sport along with his brother,

Mike, then captain. At the close of basketball season he reported for boxing and earned the heavyweight crown two weeks later.

In his junior year, Steve again won his letter as fullback on the Nittany eleven. He returned to the basketball squad and this year gained his letter as forward. Going back to the boxing team, he scored a technical knockout in a dual meet with Temple and then participated in the last court game of the season the same day. He relinquished his heavyweight crown to Grant of N. Y. U., but earned a track letter in the shot, discus, and hammer.

Hamas repeated his football and track performances in his senior year, and again won a letter in basketball, playing guard instead of forward. He was defeated by Livotti of Syracuse in the only boxing meet he entered that season, but regained his title by defeating the same man in the intercollegiate. That spring, he divided his time between lacrosse and track, and won his letter in the former sport as well, making five letters in one year and eleven during his College career.

YARR LEADS NOTRE DAME

Sidelines

William V. Martz '32, a senior in the School of Education, has received an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point. Martz was a letter carrier on Coach Bob Higgins' 1930 football team and was counted upon by many to hold down one of the terminal positions this fall.

For the first time in its athletic history, the University of Pennsylvania will place a 150-pound football team on the gridiron this fall. Four teams, including the varsity, will be playing schedules, during the fall, in keeping with the plan to have as many students as possible engaging in athletics.

Walter Vanderbrush, of Dover, N. J., captain of the 1931 Lafayette college football team and star tackle, will be able to play during the coming season for the Leopards. Vanderbrush suffered a broken ankle in the opening game last season and was on crutches most of the winter.

Greasy Neals has three graduates of last year's freshman team ready to throw into the regular West Virginia lineup this fall in place of a trio of varsity men. Canich is slated to call signals, taking over Schulsky's duties; Mazzie and Anderson, guards, will charge out of the line instead of Brown and Lewis, seniors, who did the charging for the past two seasons.
