TEST PLAN EXTENDS '35 CO-ED SOCIAL PRIVILEGE

Experiment Gives Freshman Women 9 O'clock Limit at Night

A trial extension of women's privileges, giving nine o'clock permission to freshmen during the week, has been granted by the W. S. G. A. senate. Action on the new system was taken by the senate on Tuesday night, and was put into effect on Wednesday.

Formerly, freshmen were allowed eight o'clock permission on weekday nights, but upon request were permitted to remain out of their dormitories later for extra-curricular activities or work in the library. Under the new ruling extended time will be granted to attend Players and Thespian rehearsals or to go to the library for reserved books. House chaperons are authorized to grant this permission.

"If it is necessary to grant a great number of these special permissions, the trial system will be terminated and the eight o'clock privilege will be resumed," said Elizabeth C. Bell '32, president of the W. S. G. A.

Advisory Council of Students Chosen for Fall Intramural Sports Beginning Next Week

Smart Named Senior Manager, Rice, Zilligen, Young Selected as Associates in 1931-32 Tournaments

With the election of the student advisory council and fall tournament managers this week, the 1931-32 intramural sports program will be ushered in next week and tournaments will begin the following week.

George J. Smart '32 was selected Tuesday to serve as senior student manager of intramural sports for the current school year. Albert J. Zilligen '32, Charles W. Rice '32, and George H. Young '32 were named as student associate managers.

H. Aubrey Myers '32 as president of Student Board, and Hugh R. Riley, jr. '32, as editor of the COLLEGIAN, will serve with the others on the student advisory council. Dean Hugo Bezdek of the School of Physical Education is an ex-officio member of the council.

Will Offer Blackboard Talks

Zilligen will have charge of fall tournaments, while Rice will supervise winter tournaments and Young, spring contests. At a meeting of the advisory council Wednesday, Francis E. Schill '32, was elected manager of the football tournament, Charles P. Schwenk '32 for horseshoe contests, and Homer G. Ressler '32 for cross country.

Because of lack of sports field facilities, the fall intramural calendar has been curtailed to include only tournaments in football, horseshoes, and cross country, Dean Bezdek said yesterday. Four new intramural fields are being sown in grass now, and will be ready for use next spring, he added.

Thirty complete football outfits have been secured for use exclusively by intramural players this fall. Captains and managers of football units will meet at intervals with Dean Bezdek for blackboard talks on grid fundamentals. After the sessions, they will be ready for use next spring, he added.

L.F.C. DROPS PLAN OF DANCE IN FALL

To Set Date for Spring—Endorses Decorating Houses at Alumni Homecoming Week-end

Possibility of holding Interfraternity Ball during fall houseparty was withdrawn at the last meeting of Interfraternity Council because of unfavorable opinion and the short time left for completing arrangements.

Plans for holding the Ball sometime in the spring between the two major functions of Junior Prom and Senior Ball are now under way. In commenting on stopping of action for having the dance in the fall, Francis L. Mathews '32, president of the council, said, "With opinion almost evenly divided, the tradition of having houseparty dances entirely within the houses is too great to overcome in the short time remaining for the completion of arrangements."

David F. Young '32 was appointed chairman of a committee to take charge of the program for the decoration of fraternity houses for Alumni Homecoming Day. John H. Stewart '32 and John W. Webb '32 are additional members of the committee which will make recommendations for enhancing the fraternity sections for the Pitt game.

JUNIOR WOMEN NOMINATE 4 CANDIDATES FOR TREASURER

Nominations for treasurer of the junior women to succeed Jean E. Gillespie, who failed to return to school this fall were made at a class meeting Tuesday night.

Nominees from whom a treasurer will be selected early next week include Irene M. Myers, Helen T. Pollock, H. Alda Reese, and Charlotte L. Summers.

VISIT HUSBANDRY PROJECTS

Cutting for Owl Tilt Not Subject to Fine

Students who are absent from classes in the periods before and after the Temple half-holiday will not be subject to $5 fine, according to College regulations.

Because of uncertainty among students concerning the rule, announcement was made from the Dean of Men's office that a fine is levied only for absences in the twenty-four-hour periods preceding and following Christmas and Easter vacations.

UNION TO ATTEMPT DANCE REGULATION

Group Will Request Reporting Of Dates by Fraternities 2 Weeks in Advance

In an attempt to overcome irregularity in scheduling fraternity dances, Student Union will pass a resolution last week requesting all fraternities to submit a written announcement of dances at least two weeks in advance. These notices are to be sent to the Student Union office in Old Main.

If it be found that a large number of functions are scheduled for a particular week-end, letters will be sent to the fraternities involved asking them to change the date if possible. Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock will send letters to the fraternities next week explaining the system and asking their co-operation.

Names Program Committees

A letter from Purple Quill, literary guild, asking the Union's sanction for establishing a student library in the second floor lounge of Old Main was discussed at the meeting. It was decided that the guild must receive permission from the College and must provide for care of the library.

Announcement of a program committee for the year was made by W. Jay Kennedy '32, president of Student Union. This committee will draft plans for the Union to follow in attempting to make Old Main the nucleus of student activities. It also will submit possible dates for open houses.

A resolution requesting that fraternities refrain from holding dances on the weekends of Dad's Day and Alumni Day was passed. Because of the time of year, it was decided that the resolution would not become effective until next year.

REGISTRAR ASKS FRESHMEN TO REPORT NEW ADDRESSES

All freshmen whose names were not published in the COLLEGIAN as pledging to fraternities and who have changed their addresses should notify the Registrar's office today, according to an announcement by Registrar William S. Hoffman.

Freshmen whose names were published, but who are not moving into fraternities, should also report, as well as any student who will live at an address different from the one which he gave at registration.

The Rev. Howard Thurman, student pastor of Spelman College, Atlanta, Ga., will speak at chapel exercises on Sunday morning, which will close the official program for the week-end.

The Penn State club of Philadelphia is arranging the entertainment for the smoker. In addition to an informal gathering, the Blue Bird of seventy-five pieces will offer a program of concert and College songs at the rally.

Begin Football History Against Temple in Philadelphia

MACALEER MAY REPLACE SNYDER AS QUARTERBACK

Crippled Lions Gain Traditional Spirit Shown at Previous Philadelphia Games

Departing from their home field to engage the first major opponent, Temple University, at the Owl stadium tomorrow afternoon, the Nittany Lions enticed last night for Philadelphia.

Coach Bob Higgins' gridgers, crippled in strength, but equipped with the same spirit that has characterized Penn State teams bound for the Quaker City in past years, left State College with the echoes of a rousing sendoff resounding in their ears.

Facing a team whose linemen average 190 pounds and whose backfield weighs only ten pounds lighter per man, the Lions will lack a decided advantage as far as weight is concerned when Coach Hemie Miller sends his charges against the Higgins-coached machine.

The Owls, fresh from their 19-to-7 victory at the expense of Albright last week, will be pitted to down the Blue and White in their first meeting on the gridiron tomorrow afternoon. Coach Miller has moulded together one of his strongest eleven since he took over the coaching reins for the Cherry and White.

A Battle of Fullbacks. Although the Lions are pitted against the Owls, Captain Judy Lashich will be waging a duel with Corny Bonebrake, Temple fullback, in an effort to bring victory to his team. The winner of this duel will be, according to Philadelphia scribes, responsible for swaying the tide of the battle.

Severely handicapped by injuries, the Lions will take the field as the underdog. The starting backfield combination has been one of the gravest problems that has confronted the Lion coaches during four days without any scrimmage sessions. Captain Lashich and Phil Moonves are the only sure starters. Fitch Spike Collins or Carl Wille will pair with Moonves at halfback, while Bill Macaleer will replace the injured Bob Snyder at quarterback.

Will Start 7 Veterans. At center Higgins intends to start Zawacki, who is to be flanked by guards, Tom Curry and Fred Kane.

TRIBUNAL WILL JUDGE VIOLATORS WEDNESDAY

Man Jury from 2 Upper Classes To Pass on Freshman Guilt

Student Tribunal will hold its first meeting on custom violations Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Room 405, Old Main, according to an announcement made by H. Aubrey Myers '32, head of Student Council, yesterday.

Violators of custom and tradition will receive cards, notifying them to appear before the judicial body. It is required that these cards be brought to the meeting.

Karl K. Rush '32, head of Tribunal, will receive complaints of custom violations this week, and will refer the cases to a three-man jury picked at random from members of the two upper classes.

COLLEGE CHAPEL SERVICES OMITTED FOR THIS SUNDAY

Since tomorrow has been selected as the annual football half-holiday, there will be no Sunday morning chapel service in Schwab auditorium.

Wray, Former Penn Coach, Sees Temple Game Toss-up

'Prefer Old Job of Moulding Football Teams To Newspaper Reporting,' Declares Sports Writer Here

Forecasting the Temple-Penn State game, the first meeting of the two institutions on the gridiron, as a toss-up, Lud Wray, former football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, gave his prediction for the clash as the "scouted" the Nittany Lions for the Philadelphia Record at their practice session on Wednesday afternoon.

"Newspaper reporting is fascinating, but I prefer football coaching," said the coach of last year's Penn eleven. "I have been at the game, the reporting one, for one month and an addition I have been trying to predict the winners of intercollegiate football games for the past two weeks.

"You fooled me when Coach Frank Wolf's Waynesburg eleven beat you 7-to-0 in your opening game," the former Penn mentor told the Lion coaches. "Ursinus was the other team of the twenty-six winners I selected which surprised me the same day as the Philadelphia institution downed Lehigh by a 12-to-7 count. In discussing the leading contenders for Eastern honors, Wray clasped the Cadets of West Point as the best eleven with Dartmouth as his second choice. In his mind the University of Pittsburgh has a better team than last year and should have an enviable record at the close of the season. He predicted Pitt to defeat West Virginia and Colgate to down Lafayette tomorrow.

"When talking to Nate Catmell, coach of four intercollegiate cross country championship teams in the last five years, Wray gained from the Lion harrier mentor the following statement: 'I believe that all track meets should be open to the public and should be free just as cross country meets are.'"

The former Penn coach revived memories of previous trips made by Penn State's grid teams to Philadelphia and agreed that a State team, regardless of their showing on the previous Saturday, was a mighty hard team to whip as soon as they stepped into the Quaker City for a contest with a formidable opponent.
