Faculty Will Consider Fund for Unemployed

Groups Hold Meetings Today, Tomorrow on $25,000 Drive

PRESIDENT SELECTS 28 AS RELIEF COMMITTEE

'All Contributions Voluntary,' Steidle Says—To Study Cases of Need

The faculties and staffs of the College will consider a plan by which members may contribute toward a centralized Penn State unemployment relief fund of $25,000 at meetings today and tomorrow.

President Ralph D. Hetzel suggested to a faculty committee of twenty-eight members, representing all the schools and other departments on the campus, that the group as a whole might wish to help out in the State-wide distress. Appointed by Dr. Hetzel, the committee elected Dean Edward Steidle, of the Mineral Industries School, chairman.

To Study Needs
The committee drew up a plan by which all subscriptions were to be voluntary, free from any obligation other than a desire to help the distressed. Dean Steidle said. A sum of $25,000 was suggested as an adequate College fund.

A group has been appointed from its members by the committee to study the needy cases and stricken regions throughout the State. They will recommend to the general committee in what places and in what ways the money would be used to prevent actual hunger and want. The committee recognizes that the scope of their work includes institutional, local, county, and State relief, the chairman said.

RUSSELL TALKS IN SUNDAY SERVICES

Dean at Duke University Discusses Applications of Golden Rule Before Chapel Audience

The Golden Rule is the only moral formula which is applicable to the inward ethical system required in the ethical confusion of today. Dr. Elbert Russell, Dean of the School of Religion at Duke University, told the chapel audience in Schwab auditorium Sunday morning.

"You can't practice the Golden Rule unless you can feel the humanness of human beings," Dr. Russell said. "We must become acquainted with our fellow men and consider their needs and desires. If it is hard for us to understand other people, it is hard for us to be honest with ourselves," he declared.

The speaker explained that to be honest to himself one must remember that everyone wants justice tempered with mercy when he himself is in the wrong. It is necessary that we interpret the principles of the Golden Rule into our everyday lives at all times, he said.

"To insure the observance of this great principle, we must have behind it a dynamic force and spiritual strength that will eliminate the selfish and the greedy, and that will help us walk in the light of love," Dr. Russell concluded.

The production unit is expected to arrive this morning and will begin preparations for taking the films immediately. Jack Eaton, production manager of the Sportlight, called Director Bezdek last week and final plans for taking the pictures were completed at that time.

The cameramen and sound electricians will probably remain here the rest of the week. It will be necessary to hold a number of rehearsals before the actual pictures are taken and outside pictures can not be filmed unless weather conditions are favorable, officials of the film company announced.

To Film Boxing, Wrestling
Moving pictures of boxing, wrestling, basketball and other indoor sports will be taken in Recreation hall. There is also a possibility that a number of outdoor sports will be filmed if the weather permits.

Director Bezdek will open the Sportlight with a short talk in which he will describe Penn State's athletic policy. He will then introduce Leo Houck, boxing coach, and Charlie Speidel, wrestling coach. These coaches will explain the various boxing and wrestling fundamentals.

Part of Regular Series
In addition, pictures will be taken of a class in athletics, and technique in basketball will be illustrated. Impromptu boxing bouts and wrestling matches will be staged for the benefit of the cameramen. The Sportlight officials were expected Saturday, but were detained in Mississippi where they were filming scenes of quail hunting.

The films will be released as a part of a regular Sportlight series and will be shown at motion picture theatres throughout the country. The School of Physical Education is sponsoring the pictures and is cooperating in presenting facilities for the filming of the picture. This will be the first time that a Grantland Rice Sportlight has been taken here.

Six students reporting losses at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity were questioned by borough and State Police from the Bellefonte post. Laundry cases mailed out of town have been searched, but none of the stolen property found.

Identification of the articles taken will be difficult, since only four of the students whose articles were stolen could remember the serial numbers.

Lions To Meet Harvard First Time Since Tie of 1921

PENN STATE WILL PLAY PITT THANKSGIVING DAY

Sewanee Eleven Scheduled as New Opponent for Tilt At Houseparty

The Lion football team in 1932 will meet eight opponents instead of nine as done this fall, four at home and four abroad, graduate manager of athletics Neil M. Fleming announced yesterday.

A Harvard eleven, which has not faced the Lions since 1921 when the memorable 21-to-21 tie was played at Cambridge, will be host to Penn State on October 15. The other new opponent will be the University of the South from Seawane, Tenn. The Southern will begin grid relations with the Lions on Pennsylvania Day, November 5.

Lions Schedule Temple
On Thanksgiving Day the Lions will journey to Pittsburgh to continue the annual Turkey Day series that was broken off this year when the Panthers traveled to State College for the Homecoming Day game. Instead of the usual warm-up game in September, the opening of the schedule will be delayed until October 1 when Lebanon Valley comes to State College to open the 1932 Lion football card.

The Temple game played this year on October 10 will be played until Saturday, November 12 and again at Owl Stadium is to be the scene of the contest. As the opponent for Alumni Homecoming on October 22, the Orange from Syracuse will be the attraction.

To Play Colgate
The other two games include a trip to Hamilton for the last of the three-year series with Colgate. This game will be played on the Saturday between the Homecoming Day and the Pennsylvania Day contest. Waynesburg, the first opponent on this season's football schedule, is listed for the second game next fall, October 8.

The failure to reschedule Dickinson, Lafayette, and West Virginia accounts for the place of Harvard and University of the South on the card for next fall as well as the eight-game schedule, which is a step along the line of athletic policy recently adopted by the College, Mr. Fleming said.
