Hamas Seeks Title Bout With Sharkey

A formal challenge to Jack Sharkey, of Boston, for the United States heavyweight title was made by Steve Hamas' manager, Charles Harvey, at New York city Sunday night in an open statement to the press.

Arrangements will probably be completed this week for a ten-round championship battle at Madison Square Garden next month. If Sharkey should refuse the match Hamas will claim the crown, Harvey said.

Because of Steve's second round knockout of Tommy Loughan, Philadelphia heavyweight, Friday night, Harvey said that he would not sign any other opponent for the former Penn State athlete until Sharkey had definitely acted on the challenge.

MENTOR DEVELOPS YEARLING PASSERS

Conover Predicts Another Week of Practice Will Determine '32 First String Courtmen

"It's still too early to select a first team," declared Coach Larry Conover Saturday as the freshmen basketball squad wound up its first week of practice as a definite unit. "However, the boys are beginning to shape up and another week's practice should bring out the best combination available."

Stoecker, former Reading high forward and Donovan, who captained the Emporium high school quintet last year, pair up at the forward posts on one of the best groups to work together during the past week. With George Cummings, former Cape May, N. J., center, at the tip-off post, and Fletcher, George School product, and Kilmoyer, one time Lebanon high guard, cavorting at the guard positions, this quintet has been showing its heels to the other combinations in drills: thus far

Bassett, New Haven, Conn. product, Blair, forward at Fairmont, W. Va., high school last year, and Keck, former Valley Forge military academy player, are other forward candidates who showed plenty of promise in the opening week practices. Davis, Susquehanna high center, Joe Thomas, another former George School guard, Rambo, guard at Norristown last year, and Kalb, Trenton high product, are others who looked good for first string posts.

RIFLE TEAMS WINS CONQUEST
The varsity rifle team defeated the Mill Hall civilian team Wednesday night in the Armory by a score of 1725-to-1636. Edgar F. Wolcott '32, captain of the team, was high scorer with 367 out of a possible 100 points.

greatest factor named was the unsympathetic attitude of the instructor, especially when he practically challenges his students to pass the course, or announces that it is his invariable practice to fail a certain percentage of the class.

Dishonesty Reasons Cited
Other influences leading to dishonesty, according to the Agriculture School committee, are crowded classrooms, unfair examinations, and an undue emphasis on ineffectual written examinations as a means of measurement.

An Education School committee headed by Dr. Bruce V. Moore, head of the department of education and psychology, suggested that the decision as to whether a proctor or honor system shall be used should be made jointly by faculty and students. This decision might be reached by an entire class in cooperation with the instructor.

That grades should be apportioned according to the normal curve of distribution with the average approaching the average scholarship throughout the College unless the group is small or a selected one was a suggestion made by the committee in the School of Education.

Harrisburg Paper Lauds Ball Group

"Hats Off to State" is the title of an editorial in Saturday's Harrisburg Telegraph praising the attitude of students in donating all profits from the Military Ball to the Student Loan Fund.

"Here is a lesson for other colleges in this emergency," says the article. "A study of conditions at State shows that many boys with fathers of very limited means must find ways of financing themselves or leave school. Doubtless the same condition prevails elsewhere."

"The spirit of self sacrifice is always admirable," writes the editor. "It is a mark of real manhood. It reflects a fine viewpoint and a broad background of character. Let those who have been condemning modern youth put State College's outstanding example of splendid young manhood into their pipes and smoke it."

LUCCOCK FORSEES NEW CIVILIZATION

Yale Homiletics Professor Speaks On "Human Engineering" at Chapel Services

"The task which confronts thinking people of today is not how to preserve our present civilization, but how to build a new one," Dr. Halford E. Luccock, professor of homiletics at Yale University, told the chapel audience in Schwab auditorium Sunday morning.

Graft, poverty, and corruption are all unavoidable parts of our present order of living which should not be saved, he declared. To build up a new civilization in which these things have no part, we must have a united patriotism as well as an inflexible trust in God, the speaker said.

Talking on "Human Engineering," Dr. Luccock declared, "We are in the midst of a badly diseased social order, an order which is failing to achieve its purpose. The type of mind that is supremely fitted to bring about the needed change in the world is one which is strongly realistic combined with an ability to foresee the future."

On social sciences are far behind our mechanical sciences, the speaker said. The chaotic condition of the world today is a challenge to us to lift the science of human welfare to the level the mechanical sciences now occupy, he said.

The complete schedule is as follows: February 7, Dickinson Seminary; February 13, Wyoming Seminary; February 20, National Farm School; February 27, Bucknell freshmen; March 5, Cook Academy; March 11, Carnegie Tech freshmen at Pittsburgh; March 12, University of Pittsburgh freshmen at Pittsburgh.

ARMY, TEMPLE NAMED GYM TEAM OPPONENTS

Lettermen Among 23 Candidates Seeking Positions On Squad

A schedule of two meets for the gymnasium team has been released. The first is with Army, February 27, at West Point, and the second with Temple here on March 12.

Since the gymnasts were officially recognized last year as a College sport team, they have participated in only one meet, when they overwhelmed Colgate last spring, 38-to-16.

Among the twenty-five candidates who have been working out at the Recreation hall since before Christmas, there are five men who earned letters in that sport last year. They are Captain Davidson, Forsyth, Hesch, Masten, and Phillips. In addition to many promising freshmen on the squad, Hake and Horstick are giving outstanding performances.

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!

She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, on the campus and off, who welcome the mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.
