

Sidelines

An outstanding upset in intercollegiate wrestling occurred Saturday when Navy defeated Lehigh University, Eastern Intercollegiate champions, by 23-to-13 at Annapolis, Md. Lehigh's captain, Pete Peck, champion welterweight and undefeated in a college bout, was thrown by Midshipman Gary Coleman with a cradle hold in 6 minutes, 45 seconds. The Lions will engage the Middies in a dual meet on March 5 at Annapolis.

Hollabaugh, who refereed the Navy-Lehigh wrestling match Saturday, is a former Penn State wrestler in the 175-pound division. In 1928, he remained undefeated in dual competition but was eliminated in the semi-finals of the Intercollegiate at Princeton after defeating Broadhead of the Tigers.

Army's boxers defeated Temple University by 5-to-3 at West Point, N. Y. Saturday. The Cadets will prove formidable opponents when the Lions meet them at West Point on February 27, having downed M. I. T. by 42-to-12 a week Saturday in their opening meet.

The University of West Virginia grapplers, who are scheduled to meet the Lions at Morgantown on February 12, won over Army on the mats at West Point, N. Y. Saturday by a score of 18-to-6, taking six out of the eight hours all of which were time advantages.

"Tim" Shevin, Dartmouth boxing coach, predicted an undefeated season and an intercollegiate championship for Penn State in a letter received by Coach Leo Houck last week. Shevin was enthusiastic in his praise for the Lion boxers and in his appreciation for the treatment accorded the Indians on their visit here a week Saturday when they lost 6-to-1.

Allie Morrison, freshman wrestling mentor, announced last week that Harold Rosenberg, varsity 135-pound grappler, will accompany him to his home in Illinois next summer to train for the United States Olympic team tryouts in July. Morrison, himself an Olympic champion in 1928, believes that the Nittany sophomore has an excellent chance to make the national team.

At least two intramural boxers who won championships last year will be unable to defend their titles in the meet next month. Johnny Napoleon, who has held down a post on the varsity, and Tom Slusser, 160-pounder, will be ineligible to compete in the annual intramural tournament.

FACE QUAKER FIVE AWAY TOMORROW

To Meet Syracuse Quintet Here Saturday Night—Hermann Shifts Nittany Lineup

By SIDNEY H. BENJAMIN '32

Mr. a little Red and a little Blue, add lots of Orange, str well, and you have this week's fate for Penn State's Lions of the basketball court.

Penn and Syracuse are undoubtedly two of the strongest opponents the courtmen will meet all season. It is not only because of this fact, though, that this week's games are important. Among other things, the Penn encounter is the first with the Quakers since 1930 and marks the Lions' initial road test of the year, while the tilt with Syracuse is the first of our triangular association games.

From the looks of things right now, Dutch Hermann will trot out a vastly altered lineup when the team takes the floor at Penn's Palestra tomorrow night. Although Walt Moser assures us his injured knee is coming along fine, what the doctor thinks is another question, and it is not probable Hermann will risk any aggravation of the speedy forward's injury by using him much tomorrow night. In fact, it is almost certain that Charlie Hammond, will pair up with Bob Davis at forward.

Conn To Start

The Lion cage coach has also signified his intention of starting Doc Conn at guard in place of Jack Meyers against the Red and Blue. Doc showed impressive form when he went into the Wayneburg game as a substitute for the McKeesport veteran.

Starting at center, forward, and guard, respectively, for their third consecutive game, Captain Freddy Brand, Bub Davis, and Ed McMinn will without doubt be the remaining three members of the varsity quintet tomorrow night. With Moser out of the game, the brunt of the offensive work will no doubt fall on Davis and Captain Brand, who was high scorer

Gridmen Will Meet Muhlenberg in 1933

Penn State's 1933 football team will meet Muhlenberg here October 14, according to an announcement to the Associated Press Saturday by Guernsey E. Afferbach, graduate manager of athletics at the Allentown institution.

This is the second game that has already been announced for the Lions' 1933 season. A dispatch from Penn late last fall revealed that the Lions will meet the Quakers on the gridiron in the fall of 1933.

against the Jackets. It is evident that Hermann will have to break up his sophomore five for road games, since McFarlane and Parks of last year's yeilding combination, together with Walus, reserve forward, will complete the traveling squad.

Possibly the greatest achievement of the Quakers all season was their 22-to-18 victory over a hitherto unbeaten Army quintet Saturday night. Their record for the earlier games this season is not so impressive, with defeats by St. Joseph's, Syracuse, Dartmouth, Notre Dame, and Yale to offset victories over Franklin and Marshall, Dickinson, Navy, and the Cadets. The combination which clicked so effectively Saturday night will probably start against the Lions, with Kellet and Klemperer at forward, Ludwig at center, and Walters and Tanscer at guard.

Syracuse Impressive

Syracuse, who will meet State at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Recreation hall, has a much more impressive record than the Quakers. Before their one-point defeat by Cornell last week, the Orange had lost only two games all season. Their column of victories, however, includes decisions over such strong aggregations as Michigan, Pittsburgh, and Fordham.

Coach Lew Andreas is not expected to change the lineup which lost to the Cornell team for the game here. Slim Elliot and George Armstrong hold the starting assignments at forward, Whitey Book will jump center, and Ronnie Phillips and Elky Maister are the guards.

3 LION GRAPPLERS THROW OPPONENTS

Maize, Ellstrom, Lorenzo Gain Falls Over Maroon Foes In Meet Saturday

By R. D. HETZEL '32

Signs of real power marked the first appearance of the Lion wrestlers when they defeated a tired Chicago team with a score of 24-to-8 or 6 bouts to 2 Saturday night.

Captain Maize, Ellstrom, and Lorenzo registered falls against the Maroon. Too anxious to throw their opponents, Rosenberg, Turnbull, and Reybitz met unexpected opposition from a Chicago team that is stronger than last year.

Displaying a surer knowledge of holds and greater dexterity than the Maroon, the wrestlers in the weights up to the 175-pound class promise to be the dangerous section for coming opponents. Lorenzo looked the best of any man on the mats Saturday when he threw Bob Howard, 155-pounder, in 7 minutes, 30 seconds.

Ellstrom Gains Fall

Roy Maize started a crowd of 4,500 backers in appearing to slip into the disadvantage in the first fight of the meet, the 118-pound bout against Louis, powerful Chinese grappler. Maize's superior condition and speed finally brought a fall after 12 minutes, 26 seconds.

A brand of wrestling that everyone had thought to be beyond him was brought out by Bob Ellstrom, coming sophomore 126-pounder, when he threw Feldern in the quick time of 3 minutes, 31 seconds. Sherre, of the Maroon, gave Rosenberg a stiff battle for the 135-pound rights. The referee awarded Rosenberg the decision with a time advantage of 5 minutes, 22 seconds.

Turnbull, though definitely superior on the mats, showed a weak spot in his upright work against Bon Howard in the 145-pound class. Alex seemed carefree in his over-anxiety to throw Howard. He gained a referee's decision with a time advantage of 6 minutes, 15 seconds.

Reybitz, experienced veteran, found that Heide made tough handling in 165-pound division. With a good part of the bout spent bulling head to head, the referee awarded the decision to Ted with a time advantage of 4 minutes, 11 seconds.

Byers, Cole Lose

Making his varsity mat debut, Byers lost by a fall to Shapiro, Maroon 175-pounder, in 4 minutes, 2 seconds. Also inexperienced, yet displaying strength and staying power, Cole fell to the cautious, but superior ability of Captain Gabel who gained a referee's decision on a time advantage of 5 minutes, 40 seconds.

"I like your system here in every way and you've got a great bunch of aggressive wrestlers," Captain Gabel said after the bouts.

9 EX-CAPTAINS COMPETE FOR FRESHMAN QUINTET

Conover May Name Former Leaders In Starting Lineup Next Week

Captain Conover, still puzzling over the task of selecting the best combination from his freshman basketball squad, has no fewer than nine former high school captains as candidates for the team. The list of ex-leaders includes Donovan, Fischer, Green, Kalb, and Mikelsons, forwards, Cummings and Gilhard, centers, and Fletcher and Allen, guards.

Three of the former schoolboy captains may be in the starting lineup when the yearlings open their season next week. Mikelsons and Stocken are a step ahead of the other forward candidates, while Gilhard is the lead-

RIFLE TEAM OUTSCORED BY NAVY MARKSMEN 1362-1316

Penn State's varsity rifle team was defeated by the Naval Academy team in a shoulder-to-shoulder match by a score of 1362 to 1316, Saturday at Annapolis.

Midshipman Jack McDougall led the intercollegiate champions with a high score of 278 out of a possible 300. John B. Yerkes '33, scored 268 to place first on the Penn State team.

Other promising forwards include Green, Donovan and Kalb. Cummings and Hafet are pushing Gilhard for the top-off post while Petrucci, Rambo and Keck may supplant Fletcher or Kilmoyer at the defense positions.
